UNWRITTEN LAW BARS 3D TERM, WILLKIE WARNS

American Way Is in Peril, He Says.

Wendell Willkie will reply to President Roosevelt's Madison Square Garden speech in a broadcast at 4:30 p. m. [Chicago time] today over WBBM. At 4:15 p. m. he will be heard over the same station in an interview with Writer Kathleen Norris. From 9:30 to 10 p. m., over WMAQ and the NBC-Red network he will answer questions asked by voters.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 28.—"You cannot be a Democrat, and vote for the third term candidate," Wendell Willkie told the nation tonight.

In one of the most powerful addresses on the subject of the third term that he has given during his campaign, the Republican nominee spoke in the Louisville armory after a day of campaigning in Illinois and Indiana, where his hopes of victory were buoyed by the size and enthusiasm of crowds that met his special train.

Willkie dealt with the third term question as part of the great unwritten common law of the nation. The New Deal, he said, has become the parasite and destroyer of the Democratic party of Jefferson, as the fungus destroys the oak.

Freedom vs. Enslavement.

"Compared to the principles at stake," he said, "I am unimportant, and Franklin Roosevelt is unimportant. Before the results of your decision are fully realized, he and I will be gone. Your decision on Nov. 5 will be irrevocable. It will determine whether our children and our children's children will enjoy the rights of free men, or suffer the indignities of enslavement to the all-powerful state."

Touching the Democratic southland nearer than any point since he spoke at Amarillo, Tex., Willkie reviewed the principles of the Democratic party and the antithird term tradition and said:

"The Democratic party, the real Democratic party, is thus faced this year with a dilemma. The registered Democrats must decide whether they are going to adhere to the principles of the Democratic party, or submit to the unprincipled rule of its New Deal kidnapers.

"Principles of Generations."

"The good principles and usage of generations of men," he said, "have made this the common law of the United States: That no man should be eligible for a third consecutive term as President.

"If you repeal that law," he continued, "there will never again be any limit upon continual self-appointment of Presidents to office, by any means. If this principle dies it will be dead forever."

He reviewed the New Deal's operation of the powers of the Presidency to reëlect Mr. Roosevelt, and said:

"To illustrate, you need only to recall that in the so-called Democratic convention of last summer, the name of Thomas Jefferson was booed. Senator Carter Glass and other statesmen of that party were howled down by the Voice from the Sewers, and other trusted leaders of that party were ungratefully cast aside."

Gets Big Reception.

Kentucky is considered strongly Democratic, but Willkie's reception in Louisville was nevertheless enthusiastic, with thousands lining the streets and cheering him, and with the armory filled to its capacity of 17,000.

Earlier, at Indianapolis, Ind., Willkie was accorded one of the greatest receptions of his campaign. He rode up Illinois street to find Monument circle, in the center of the city, a mass of cheering humanity. There were estimated to have been 75,000 persons packed in that area.

Willkie's day started at Bloomington, Ill., and included addresses at Champaign-Urbana and Danville. At Champaign he made a statement on his farm program.

Among visitors to the Willkie train during its swing thru Illinois were Ray Edmundson, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois and regional director for the C. I. O., and Walter James, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois union.

DEWEY ASSAILS U. S. DEFENSES AS OF 1898 VINTAGE

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Thomas E. Dewey.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 28.—More than 8,000 persons crowded into the State armory tonight to hear Thomas E. Dewey, militant prosecutor from New York City, lash the New Deal administration for blundering incompetency in building the defenses of the United States in time of crisis.

With the logical care of the legalmind, Dewey built his step-by-step case against President Roosevelt.

Neglect, in spite of warning from military experts; home political battles in place of sincere attention to the needs of armament—these, Dewey said, were paramount charges in his indictment of the "indispensable man."

Quotes High Army Officials.

The speaker used the statements of the army chief of staff in 1933, Gen. Douglas Charles McArthur; his successor, Gen. Malin Craig, and the secretary of war, Harry Woodring, to place President Roosevelt in the position of a man "who has failed our people in his highest duty—the defense of the United States of America."

At the rate the country's defenses have regressed under Roosevelt's neglect, they will be back to Spanish-American war days in four years more of the New Deal, Dewey predicted.

Dewey quoted records to show that in the face of continued urging and congressional authority and appropriation, President Roosevelt refused to increase the personnel or plane strength of the air force.

Then he read from the testimony of Col. James H. Burns, executive assistant to the secretary of war, to show that our "few airplanes and rifles are no good without gunpowder."

Powder Output Negligible.

Burns, on June 4, 1940, told all who would listen that "our capacity for the manufacture of gunpowder is just one-fortieth of what it was in the world war," said Dewey.

Speaking with the same sincerity that he used to convince a jury that New York racketeers should go to jail, Dewey carried his audience with him. They stood and cheered when he told them that in Wendell Willkie and Charles McNary the United States will find leadership "confident of the nation's destiny, striding bravely toward the future."

The audience laughed uproariously when Dewey said that "we have few airplanes, few modern rifles, and only enough tanks for one Presidential inspection." He reminded the audience, to their delight, that the President is planning an inspection of Rantoul field and that he "doubtless will be accompanied by those two intrepid birdmen, Kelly and Nash."

"The President doubtless will make a nonpolitical speech, flanked on each side by these two great New Deal pilots," said Dewey.

[A partial text of the Dewey address will be found on page 8.]

G. O. P. DEFENSE CHARGES FALSE, SAYS PRESIDENT

Upholds His Arming and Foreign Policy.

President Roosevelt will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system, both N. B. C. networks, and the Columbia system between 11 and 11:45 a. m. today in connection with the drawing of the first numbers in the selective service lottery.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

New York, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt tonight took the defensive in the second of his admitted political speeches of the 1940 Presidential campaign to uphold his rearmament program and foreign policy.

In a nation-wide radio broadcast he branded as false the Republican charges that the New Deal has hamstrung the national defense program and is playing blindman's buff in the field of international policy.

He assailed Republicans as pursuing the same policy of timidity, weakness, and shortsightedness which led to the downfall of France and almost to that of England, where he said it was discovered in the nick of time.

Speaks Before 20,000.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke before an audience of 20,000 Democrats in Madison Square Garden at the end of a busy day in which he brought his campaign for a third term to New York and New Jersey, which have the impressive total of 63 electoral votes.

The President came to the speaking platform on the arm of Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, his secretary and military aid. Behind him came James A. Farley, who as chairman of the Democratic national committee, directed two successful Roosevelt campaigns for the Presidency but boited the third term at the Chicago convention.

Beside Farley on the platform was his successor as party chairman, Edward Flynn, and near by was his successor as postmaster general, Frank Walker.

Makes Impromptu Talks.

In warming up for the night speech Mr. Roosevelt made eight impromptu talks during the day, which began at 9 a. m. with his arrival at Newark, N. J., in the territory dominated by Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, and the state's Democratic boss. Hague was the first man to shake the President's hand during the day.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke at a school in Jersey City, to workers at the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company at Kearney, N. J., at a ceremony turning the first shovel of earth for the Brooklyn-Manhattan tunnel, at the Roosevelt recreation park in lower Manhattan named for his mother, at dedication ceremonies in Hunter college, city operated school for women teachers; at the mouth of the 38th street tunnel, at Queens bridge housing project, and at Fordham university.

Machines Stage Ovation.

Hague and Tammany machine workers staged a tremendous ovation for the President's political tour. The peak was reached in the garment workers' section of the city on 7th avenue below 42d street.

Mr. Roosevelt digressed from his prepared text, at the start of his Madison Square Garden speech, to voice his regret that Italy and Greece had become involved in hostilities.

In one sentence the President struck at Wendell L. Willkie, his Republican opponent, but did not mention his name. He spoke against placing the conduct of the nation into "inexperienced hands in these perilous days."

The President charged that Republican leaders had tried to "sabotage" increased defense appropriations and block aid to Britain prior to the election campaign. In this campaign, he said, they have done a remarkable somersault, contending "the rearming of America is slow, that it is hamstrung and impeded, that it will never be able to meet threats from abroad."

Election Fraud Fighters Rally Today for War

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

"Stop Vote Thefts."

A militant group of volunteers who have this fighting motto will gather at 5:15 p. m. today in an auditorium at 441 North Michigan avenue for a preëlection day rally. Trained and prepared to go into precinct polling places in the city's worst wards next Tuesday, these citizens are ready for the firing line in the battle for an honest election.

Thousands of them will have watchers' and challengers' credentials on election day. They will enter the polling places at 5:30 o'clock that morning and remain until the last vote is counted and each candidate is credited with his rightful share. They will be there to see that the great American institution—the ballot box —is respected.

The vote fraud fighters have dedicated themselves to insuring the right of every citizen who casts a ballot to have his vote honestly counted. They are against trickery that invalidates votes.

Fetzer Will Preside.

Wade Fetzer Jr., chairman of the Business Men's 1940 Election committee, will preside at the rally this afternoon. Albert J. Meserow, chairman of the Joint Civic committee, will address the volunteers and explain the committee's sound motion picture, "The Fight for Honest Ballots." Afterward former Judge Edward B. Casey will speak.

There were two important developments yesterday in the campaign for honesty at the polls:

1. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki tried nine election officials, sentencing four to penitentiary and jail terms and indicating the others will face severe punishment.

2. Judge Casey, who is an officer of the Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance, announced that more than 30,000 aliens are on the revised polls lists as registered voters. These aliens are not entitled to vote. Judge Casey warned that his bureau has possession of a complete list of these names and that those who vote will be prosecuted.

Not Illegal to Register.

"It's not illegal to register—but it is illegal to vote," he said. "We're breaking down these lists by precincts and will challenge every alien who attempts to vote. Those who do vote will be prosecuted under both state and federal laws. Aliens might be deported for illegal voting."

Two year sentences were received by Edward Winters, 2815 Michigan avenue, and Morris Feinberg, 2804 Indiana avenue, Democratic judges in the 75th precinct, 8th ward. Judge Jarecki also sentenced John Caminati, 131 East 26th street, and James Knefeli, 217 East 26th street, to six months each for stealing Republican votes. Both men were clerks in the same polling place.

Five officials of the 7th precinct, 25th ward, three of them women, will appear before the Judge again today to explain why 100 ballots were marred in the 1939 mayoralty election.

STUDENTS PETITION ROOSEVELT TO FACE WILLKIE IN DEBATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Students of 30 American universities have addressed a petition to President Roosevelt, pleading with him to meet Wendell L. Willkie in a face to face debate and discuss the issues of the Presidential campaign.

The White House has thus far ignored the petition. The President has shied away from all opportunities to contend verbally with Willkie in person. Willkie has persistently sought such an encounter since his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., last August.

In a letter forwarding the petition to Mr. Roosevelt, Robert Buchanan of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., declared the petition was "a sincere attempt to arrange a test from which we and other voters will be able to judge the two chief candidates."

OSCAR DEMANDS A DRAFT SERIAL NUMBER, OR ELSE!

Oscar L. Scherr, of 6139 Ellis avenue, a chemist, telegraphed the draft board in Washington, D. C., last night, telling them to hold everything. He is registered with draft board 87, in the 5th ward, and hasn't been assigned a serial number. He fears that after the numbers are drawn in the lottery he may be given one and told: "You're in the army now."

Scherr tried last night to reach three federal judges and obtain an injunction to halt today's lottery. One judge said he had just had an operation and wasn't hearing cases, and the other two weren't home. Scherr then wired the draft board, as follows:

"My serial number has not been posted, due to inefficiency of local draft board. Insist national lottery be postponed until I receive my number. This is imperative if lottery is to be above reproach. Hundreds of men in this district are in the same predicament."

We Prefer the Hell of War to Shame—Turks

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 29, Tuesday (AP).—The Ankara government newspaper Ulus, commenting as Turkey kept close watch on the Italian invasion of Greece, today declared that "we prefer the hell of war to a dishonorable peace."

The editorial appeared as the Turkish republic celebrated its 17th birthday still undecided whether to join its ally, Britain, in aiding its neighbor and ally, Greece, to resist the Italians.

However, Turkey kept her vaunted "2,000,000 bayonets" poised as capital sources pointed to a recent government statement that Turkey would aid Greece in the event of an Italian attack—if Britain made good her promise to aid the Greeks.

Calls for Confidence.

"No one can assure the citizens until the storm of fire is over that our roofs will not catch after it," the newspaper Ulus said. "We are passing thru a test of fate which demands clean hearts, strong confidence and complete coöperation until death. We recognize no limit of sacrifice."

Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was understood to have reported on the Greek developments at a meeting of the Turkish inner cabinet.

President Gen. Ismet Inonu received the Greek ambassador yesterday and talked by telephone with Greece's premier, Gen. John Metaxas, it was reported.

Stand Depends on Russia.

However, there was no official indication that Turkey intended to go immediately to Greece's aid.

The Turkish attitude, foreign observers said, was believed to depend somewhat on Russia, which is known to have ambitions on the Dardanelles straits that control entry into the Black sea.

[In Budapest rumors were current that Russia is preparing to take over the Dardanelles "protectively." It was widely felt there that Russian reaction will depend on the extent to which Moscow believes its Black sea interests are menaced.]

Observers expressed doubt that Turkey could obtain Russian help if Turkey went to war.

Semiofficial Turkish quarters received news of Greece's resistance to the Italians with great admiration and sympathy.

Premier Refik Saydam in a broadcast said the nation is "stronger than ever" but made no mention of Italy's invasion of Greece.

DRAFT NUMBERS TO COME OUT OF FISH BOWL TODAY

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

Paul G. Armstrong.

The national draft lottery, which will establish the order in which men of draft age will be considered for military service, will begin at 11 a. m. today, Chicago time, in Washington, D. C.

After a brief address by President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson will draw the first number from among 8,500 in the glass goldfish bowl used in world war draft drawings. When it was discovered last night that the bowl would not hold all the opaque plastic capsules in which the numbers are hidden a high rim of transparent plastic was fitted around the receptacle.

After the first few numbers are drawn by officials three volunteer teams, working in relays, will complete the job in an estimated 12 hours.

Highest Number in U. S. Is 7,836.

The highest number of registrants, and consequently the highest serial number used in any local draft board area in the nation was 7,836, assigned in an area just outside Baltimore, Md.

Illinois' highest number, 4,664, came from the Alton city board. Among Chicago city boards, No. 3 [2d ward] reported the highest with 4,632. Cicero No. 3 in Cook county reported the highest suburban number—3,243.

Cook county board No. 4 was highest among Cook county township boards with 3,883.

The posted lists of registrants and serial numbers assigned them by their draft boards attracted crowds of men of draft age yesterday in Chicago and Cook county. Each wanted to ascertain his serial number before the lottery so he would know when his number is drawn today. Regulations required posting the lists at the various local board headquarters, altho in some cases another centrally located spot was chosen.

Violations Are Charged.

It was reported that as men clustered about the lists at some draft board headquarters they were subjected to political pep talks. Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service, when apprised of this report, asserted:

"It is a violation of selective service regulations for any one officially connected with the administration of this law to allow political activity of any nature whatsoever upon the premises of local boards, or other selective service headquarters."

The order in which the numbers will be drawn today determines the national master list which in turn is the basis on which each local board computes the order in which registrants in its area shall be sent the detailed draft questionnaires.

Here Is an Instance.

If No. 425, for instance, is the first taken from the bowl, each man with serial No. 425 is at the top of his board's order number list. The man with this number in each board will be the first called to active service, unless his local board has given him deferment because his civilian services are considered necessary, because he has dependents, or because he is unfit for service or is exempted by law [as a minister or official].

Suppose the second number is 3,500 and the third is 398. In a local board area of 3,600 registrants the man with serial number 3,500 would get order No. 2 and the man with serial number 398 would get order

Know Your Number for the Draft

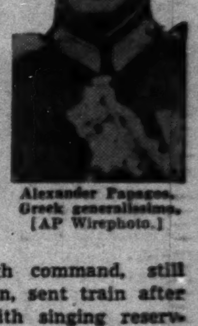
If you are affected by the draft, turn to page 18 for a complete, revised list of the Chicago draft boards, classified by wards, together with the address of the place where each board has posted the serial numbers of its registrants. It is important for each registrant to know his serial number, since the order in which these numbers are drawn in the national draft lottery today in Washington determines the order in which registrants will get their service classification.

In early editions tomorrow The Tribune will print the names of the first 12 men in each of the 180 Chicago and Cook county suburban draft board areas whose numbers are drawn in Washington. The names of the first 24 men in each draft board area will be printed in later editions.

FURIOUS BATTLE IN MOUNTAINS; 2 PORTS BOMBED

British Navy Rushes Aid to Athens.

(Maps on back page.)



Alexander Papagos, Greek generalissimo. [AP Wirephoto.]

ATHENS, Oct. 29, Tuesday (AP).—Greek mountaineer troops, outnumbered but craftily placed, reported early today they were clinging stubbornly to the Metaxas line, staving off the growing fury of Italian attacks on the newest war front.

As real war came to the long apprehensive Balkans, the Greeks took heart from British naval help on both sides of their peninsula.

The Greek high command, still mobilizing its men, sent train after train, jammed with singing reservists, toward the northwest frontier with Albania. Crowds cheered them at every station en route.

Athens Awaits Italian Planes.

Athens, as yet unbombed, coolly awaited the appearance of Italian warplanes.

[A British broadcast heard in New York last night quoted the British embassy in Cairo as saying Athens had been bombed. Reports reaching Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, from frontier points said that the Italians had been repulsed by the Greeks in all except one sector between the towns of Bobiho and Radoti. The same sources said the Italians had bombed Corinth. There were rumors in Belgrade that there was an Albanian revolt, but the reports could not be confirmed.]

Yesterday's bombing of the ports of Patras and Piraeus also included an attempt by the Fascist flyers to hit the vital Corinth canal, it was disclosed.

A Greek army communique last night said that Italian air raids on military objectives — Piraeus and Patras—did no damage, and that the Italian attacks on the craggy northwest border with Albania were resisted with such courage that the fighting was localized to the border line.

Resistance Astonishes Italians.

Meager reports from the frontier indicated that Greek resistance astonished the striking force of some 200,000 Italians [twice the number of the Greek defenders].

[A British report said that Greek troops, at one point, broke thru the Italian line and drove eight miles into Italian subjugated Albania. The Greek communique did not mention such an incident, however. Military analysts in other Balkan countries shook their heads and said the Greek mainland was in danger of being overrun within a week due to the vast inferiority of Greek aviation—125 planes against thousands possessed by her foes.]

Time after time, Italian airplanes flew over Athens yesterday and antiaircraft roared.

Docks Reported Bombed.

No bombs fell in Athens itself in the daylight hours, but a hangar was reported damaged at the airport, and docks and buildings were wrecked at Patras, with 50 civilians dead and more than 100 wounded.

The Greeks said they had shot down two Italian bombers at the front.

The British navy, hastening to make good on the British pledge to Greece and to protect its own valued stakes in the eastern Mediterranean, moved into Greek waters.

King Names Generalissimo.

Gen. Alexander Papagos, Greek chief of staff, was named by King George II. as generalissimo, while the monarch himself assumed supreme command of all armed forces.

Premier John Metaxas, the man who really rules Greece, addressed this message to the armed forces:

"The entire nation is thinking of you with affection and pride together with God's blessing. It fell to your lot to write your names on the golden rolls of Greek history beside those of the Marathon warriors and the heroes of the war for independence Go ahead, soldiers of Greece! Crush the enemy who has dared to attack our country's honor! Victory and glory are ours!"

Metaxas earlier had first torn up an Italian ultimatum demanding the use of unidentified strategic Greek bases and unmolested military passage to and from them.

Calls for Help.

Then, in audience and by telephone, he called up all the help he could, mobilized Greece's men and material and got on with the business of fighting.

King George VI. of Britain and his prime minister, Winston Churchill, assured Greece quickly and firmly that they would send all the help they could, and by early yesterday afternoon informed sources reported that the British Mediterranean fleet had done these things:

1. Occupied Crete, 150 mile long Greek island lying between Greece and Egypt and not far from the Italian fortified Dodecanese.

2. Fought a hot battle with Italian warships off Corfu, sizable Ionian island near the Greek-Albanian frontier.

3. Landed bluejackets on a small island with an airdrome near Corfu, which the Greeks themselves are defending.

Greece's own fleet was guarding the upper Aegean, massed, by prearrangement, off Salonika. It consists of a cruiser, 14 destroyers, 13 torpedo boats, six submarines and eight mine layers.

Turks Reported on Way.

Neutral sources relayed reports that Turkish troops actually were entering Thrace, the northeast part of Greece, on their way to help their ancient neighbor.

These reports were not confirmed, however, and Turkey—like Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria, the other neighbor states immediately affected by the invasion—was silent, officially.

Turkey is not obligated directly to go to the aid of Greece, but Britain is, and the Turks and the British are bound together by a defensive pact of mutual assistance. Britain's pledge to protect Greece against attack and her mutual treaty with Turkey, covering the eastern Mediterranean area, are all that is left of Neville Chamberlain's ill-fated chain of 1939 prewar promises to Germany's small neighbors.

No Aid from Neighbors.

Greece had little or no hope for help from Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria, both of them firmly under the axis thumb. She faced, in fact, the possibility of German attack thru Rumania and Bulgaria—for Rumania is crowded with German troops, and there were reports that German soldiers already were fighting with the Italians.

Metaxas, however, conferred at length with Jugo-Slavia officials.

Then he ordered general mobilization, swelling Greece's small army to some 600,000 regulars and reserves, and followed this up with a "political mobilization" of all business and industry.

Athens crowds sacked and destroyed Italian air line and steamship offices, ripped down Italian flags and surged thru the streets waving Greek, Turkish, and British flags.

Men between the ages of 20 and 43 got into uniform; older and younger men joined auxiliary services.

Both Italians and Germans over the country were rounded up and interned and Metaxas declared a national state of martial law.

ITALIAN ISLAND OFF TURK COAST RAIDED BY BRITISH

ROME, Oct. 28 (AP).—The Italian high command, in a communique devoted to air activity, reported today that British planes had "wildly" bombed Maltezzna, on the Italian island of Stampalia [a Dodecanese island off the Turkish coast], but failed to cause any damage.

It said the British killed five persons and wounded some in an air raid east of Bengasi, Libya.

Italian airmen shot down two British planes, and perhaps a third, it said, in a fight over Malta. Nine Italian pursuit planes engaged a similar number of British, the daily communique said. Other air raids in Egypt and Malta also were reported.

Raid Italian Air Bases.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 28 (AP).—British air attacks on the Italian bases at Bengasi and Derna, on the Libyan coast, and the port of Assab, in Eritrea, were reported today in an RAF communique.

FRANCE BANS 600 AUTHORS' WORKS IN NEW INDEX

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 28.—A new "index" of prohibited books has just appeared here under the title, "Works Withdrawn from Sale by Their Publishers or Forbidden by the German Authorities." The catalog lists 600 authors and 1,500 titles of books.

Among those who come under the ban is former French Premier Leon Blum. Four of his books, "Marriage," "Governmental Reform," "Souvenirs of the Dreyfus Affair," and "New Conversations of Goethe with Eckermann," are in the list. "History of England" and "Origins of the War of 1939," by André Maurois, also are prohibited.

Other prominent Frenchmen whose works are banned include Henri de Kerillis, Genevieve Tabouis, Roland Dorgeles, Edouard Daladier, Paul Reynaud, Leon Daudet, Jacques Bainville, Pierre Gaxotte, and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who is heading the "free French" forces in London.

EGYPT'S GREEKS BEGIN FORMING WAR BATTALIONS

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 28 (AP).—Greeks in Egypt, responding to their country's general mobilization call, today began organizing battalions here for war. Egypt has more than 100,000 Greeks. Some are members of families that have been here for 2,000 years, but they have retained their Greek nationality.

BRITAIN THROWS WAR RESOURCES BEHIND GREECE

'We Are with You in This Struggle,' King Says.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Swift and dramatic action here followed the announcement that Italy had invaded Greece today and that Greece had appealed to Britain to implement the guarantee given in April, 1939.

The British war cabinet met and at once sent instructions to the British minister to Athens to inform Greece's premier, John Metaxas, that Britain was extending to Greece all aid in her power. Two personal messages also promised aid and encouraged Greek resistance.

Prime Minister Churchill wired Metaxas expressing the admiration of the British people for the "way in which the Greek people under your trusted leadership have faced the dangers and provocations of recent months." He assured the Greek premier, "We will give you all help in our power. We are fighting a common foe and will share in a united victory. Your cause is our cause."

Details Already Worked Out.

King George VI. wired his cousin, the Greek king, George II., "We may hope, indeed, that we already are near the turn in the tide when the power of the aggressor will begin to ebb and our growing might prevail."

It is understood here that details of the help to be given Greece already were worked out between the two governments. Some sources said that warships and airplanes "already are on the way." Conversations between the staffs of the British and Greek governments have been continuous since Greek acceptance of the British guarantee, diplomatic writers disclosed.

Plans were said to have been worked out between the naval staffs which could be put into immediate operation. Greece needed coastal batteries of increased power and Britain already has done her utmost to supply them. British naval and air operations against Italy proper, are regarded as certain to be intensified.

Prospect of Naval Battle.

The Evening Standard's military correspondent declared, "Possession of the Greek islands will be an immediate objective." He wrote that if the Italian fleet appears in the Aegean sea, "the first great naval battle of the war may follow."

Insiders in Downing street and Whitehall declared that the Italian attack did not surprise the British government. The ground had been prepared too well, it was said, by the axis press campaign, atrocity stories, and alleged frontier incidents.

In the eastern Mediterranean the attitude of Turkey is closely studied as of vital importance. The Greco-Turkish pact reportedly contains a mutual assistance clause, one which would operate only if a Balkan power were the aggressor.

Escape Clause in Pact.

The Anglo-Turkish pact also contains an escape clause, providing that Turkey is not bound to implement the military agreement if, to do so might involve her in a war as the possible enemy of Russia.

Military experts, familiar with German strategy and tactics, picture the Italian invasion of Greece as part of a pincer movement against Egypt. One leading strategist said that even the German blitzkrieg strategy was based upon solid lessons of past military history. German writers, he said, have been attempting for years to point out that one vital mistake Napoleon made was his failure to capture Spain until too late.

He predicted that large scale operations even involving Portugal—thus isolating Britain from the continent altogether—might be expected at any time.

TELLS HOW SHE SAW MATE DIE AS LINER SANK

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Mrs. Monica Lanyi, 30 years old, daughter of Thomas Mann, exiled German author, related today how her husband, Jeno Lanyi, Hungarian art historian, drowned before her eyes when the British steamer City of Benares was torpedoed and sunk 700 miles out of Liverpool last month.

En route to her father in Princeton, N. J., Mrs. Lanyi was one of 717 passengers, 200 of them children, who arrived here today from Glasgow aboard the British liner Cameronia.

Mrs. Lanyi said she and her husband got into the same lifeboat but the boat was damaged in launching. Her husband was one of several spilled overboard. He shouted her name once, then disappeared.

NEUTRALITY ACT TO BE INVOKED IN GREEK CONFLICT

U. S. Ready to Freeze Credits if Necessary.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The United States government prepared tonight to invoke the neutrality act in the Greek-Italian conflict.

Envoy Diamantopoulos.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Secretary of State Cordell Hull kept in contact by telephone during the day with President Roosevelt, who was in New Jersey and New York.

The neutrality act requires a Presidential proclamation when a state of war is recognized. Hull indicated there is no urgency about this, but that it probably will be issued tomorrow after the President returns.

Executive orders then would extend the "cash and carry" provisions of the act to Greece as a belligerent and forbid American citizens to travel on Greek ships. The combat zone which American ships are forbidden to enter already covers the eastern Mediterranean.

Ready to Freeze Credits.

Officials were preparing to freeze Greek funds in the United States if they deemed that circumstances made it advisable. This has been done in the past in the case of invaded countries, to prevent their resources in the United States from falling into the hands of the conqueror.

Greece was estimated by the commerce department to have about $8,000,000 of investments in this country, plus an undetermined amount of bank deposits and other short term assets.

Hull was cautious in discussing the Balkan developments at his press conference. He said the government is observing the situation closely from the standpoint of any and every step that might be contemplated in connection with an extension of hostilities.

Ready for Anything.

Hull said the government is prepared to take any action that may be required or that should be taken in conformity with American policy when the facts are sufficiently conclusive.

Cimon Diamantopoulos, Greek minister, conferred with Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, and said afterward they had discussed developments in a general way.

Hull said there had been no answer as yet to President Roosevelt's communication last week to Marshal Petain, which was said to deal mainly with the question of French possessions in the western hemisphere.

FRENCH OUST JEWS IN STATE PAY IN SYRIA

BEIRUT, Syria, Oct. 27 [Delayed].—Altho Vichy's anti-Jewish laws were introduced here only last week, French authorities today had already dismissed more than 20 Jews who were employed in state posts. Most of those dismissed held appointments in the French high commissioner's office. It is expected that elimination of Jews employed in the "public information profession"—the press, radio, and films—will be undertaken within a few days.

MOSCOW SILENT AS IT FIXES EYES ON BALKAN WAR

Radio Informs Public of Attack on Greece.

MOSCOW, Oct. 28 (AP).—The soviet government watched closely the Italian attack on Greece today and the public heard all about it from the Moscow radio, but there was no indication of the Kremlin's reaction.

Without comment, the radio devoted virtually its entire program to the Balkan developments. These were based largely on American press accounts.

Foreign observers expressed the belief the Italian-Greek conflict would fail to alter immediately the Russian neutrality policy.

Jap Envoy Sees Kalinin.

Indications that this policy has been carried farther were seen today in an audience at which the new Japanese ambassador, Yoshitsugu Tatekawa, presented his credentials to President Michael Kalinin. Indications were lacking, however, of any immediate conclusion of a Japanese-soviet nonaggression pact as some diplomatic quarters had expected.

There was a noticeable turn for the better, meanwhile, in Moscow's relations with Turkey, which, with Greece, represents Britain's last remaining friends in southeastern Europe.

This improvement, diplomatic sources said, has been especially noted since the Turkish ambassador returned to Moscow recently and conferred with Premier-Foreign Commissar Molotov. Russia likewise has sent a new envoy to Ankara.

Jugo-Slavs Arm Border.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 28 (AP).—While Greece resisted Italy's invasion stubbornly tonight the Jugo-Slavs rushed their own defense preparations and diplomatic circles in the capital heard unconfirmed reports that Turkey has declared war on Italy.

Despite official denials, reports persisted here that the Turkish army has moved into eastern Greece.

[Latest Ankara advices, however, merely said the Turks had noted with great admiration and sympathy Greece's stand against the Italians.]

Invasion Feared.

Germans here said the Nazis would not take an active part in the Italian campaign. Jugo-Slavia, however, faced the possibility that Germany eventually might try to send troops thru this country to help her axis partner.

Jugo-Slav and German official sources both denied such permission had been requested.

The Belgrade government announced Jugo-Slavia was "neutral."

Premier Dragisha Tsetkovitch canceled an emergency meeting of the cabinet because the "situation has not reached the point where a cabinet decision is required."

Cabinet Leaders Meet.

The premier conferred with Vice Premier Vladimir Macek, War and Navy Minister General Milan Nedic, Foreign Minister Alksander Cincar-Markovic, Prince Paul, and the Turkish minister.

Jugo-Slavia's southern border, which drives a wedge between Albania and Greece, was the scene of heavy troop concentrations.

Defense measures also were taken on the northern frontier with Germany. However, it was said mobilization was not immediately in prospect.

Bulgaria Seeks Peace.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 28 (AP).—King Boris told his parliament today that Bulgaria "will continue by all means to preserve peace and defend her vital interests."

He did not mention invaded Greece by name, but apparently he included it in a reference to "countries with whom Bulgaria maintains relations in accordance with existing possibilities."

However, the king expressed Bulgaria's "gratitude to the great leaders of Germany and Italy" for making possible the cession to Bulgaria of south Dobruja by Rumania. He also said that Bulgaria's relations with soviet Russia "continue to develop happily."

PLEA FOR CAROL TAKEN TO MADRID FOREIGN OFFICE

Rumania's Minister Also Drops In.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 28.—The Rumanian minister to Spain and Ernest Urdareanu, are understood to have visited the foreign ministry today in connection with attempts being made to clear the way for former King Carol of Rumania and his friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu, to proceed to Portugal. Urdareanu, who was Carol's minister of the palace, is his personal emissary in Madrid. Whether he and the minister appeared together at the ministry was not officially disclosed.

Official discretion concerning the ex-king and Mme. Lupescu, who are prisoners in the Andalusia Palace hotel in Seville, is so great there has been no mention of them in the press for several days.

Government Hides Intention.

The government has given no indication as to what its final decision will be with regard to the royal party.

[Carol, Mme. Lupescu, and Urdareanu have been placed under a polite form of arrest while the Spanish government considers a Rumanian move to extradite them. Mme. Lupescu and Urdareanu, but not Carol, are reported to be in danger of being sent back to Rumania to face charges of crimes against the state made against them by Iron Guardists.]

Carol Shuns Trip to Granada.

Seville reports state Carol has been in frequent telephone communication with Madrid since the arrival of his emissary here. The former king continues to decline a request that he move to Granada, saying he wants to go immediately to Portugal.

Reports that relations between Carol and Mme. Lupescu have developed a marked coolness were denied by a source close to the couple.

Urdareanu apparently is not a prisoner in his hotel, the Palace, but he has avoided contacts. On the few occasions he has left the hotel he has been followed by a police car, apparently to protect him from any Iron Guard attack.

Police Censors Bar British Film, 'After Mein Kampf'

Lieut. Harry Costello of the police department's moving picture censor board announced yesterday that the moving picture, "After Mein Kampf," produced in England, has been banned here as "strong propaganda." Ira Latimer, executive secretary of the Chicago civil liberties committee, protested the ruling. Police Commissioner James P. Allman named Col. Phillip Crippen, police drill master, to review the film.

'AXIS IN ACCORD ON ALL PRESENT QUESTIONS,' DUCE

Makes Statement After Parley with Hitler.

(Maps on back page.)

ROME, Oct. 28 (AP).—Premier Mussolini hurled his Fascist forces against Greece today in a drive for air and naval bases from which to fight the British in the Mediterranean and then, after a long conference with Adolf Hitler at Florence, announced complete axis agreement "on all present questions."

An official announcement said the Italians took action against pro-British Greece after expiration of a three hour ultimatum, presented at 3 a. m., demanding permission to occupy strategic Greek territory for the duration of the war.

Officially, the principal reasons for the drive against Greece were given as Italy's desire to protect Greek neutrality against British plans to occupy Greece's Island of Crete, as well as the release of Albanians from reported Greek "oppressions."

Italians Accuse Greece.

The Italians accused the Greeks of violating their own neutrality on five points by:

1. Allowing the British fleet to use Greek ports.

2. Allowing the British air force to refuel at Greek bases.

3. Letting British spies operate from Greece.

4. Entering into a secret military agreement with the British.

5. "Provocative action" against Albanians on both sides of the border of Greece and Italian occupied Albania.

While planes cruised protectively in rainy skies overhead, Il Duce and Hitler talked for more than two hours.

Issue Brief Statement.

A communique issued after the meeting broke up said merely their conversations took place "in the spirit of the alliance between the two countries, developed as always in the cordial form and show a complete identity of views on all present questions."

Political circles close to the two leaders indicated a belief that the discussion included consideration of French Mediterranean collaboration in the Italian-Greek conflict and a possible plan to use the French fleet against the British.

Hitler and his staff, including Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, left for Germany at 6:20 p. m. aboard the Fuehrer's special train. Mussolini and his son-in-law foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, left aboard separate trains, Ciano for Rome and Il Duce for an unstated destination, believed to be the capital or Forli, his former home.

It was the second meeting within a month between the axis partners, who conferred at Brenner Pass on Oct. 4, and Hitler's second visit to Florence. It was there in May, 1938, that he sat down with Mussolini to solidify the axis.

In addition to the actual fact that the war had spread to the Balkans, observers here believed Hitler and Mussolini also canvassed possible consequences from Turkey and perhaps Soviet Russia.

Fascists sought to justify their charges of Greek connivance with Britain by asserting the Italian cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni, one of Italy's newest and fastest warships, was sunk last July by British warships hidden in Greek ports. They charged that information concerning the cruiser's movements was furnished by the Greeks.

BIG SKODA ARMS PLANT BOMBED BY BRITISH AIRMEN

Fly 750 Miles to Attack Czech Territory.

LONDON, Oct. 29, Tuesday (AP).—British bombers ranging farther from home than ever before in their systematic assault on Germany were reported last night to have bombed successfully and left in flames the huge Skoda armament works in what once was Czecho-Slovakia.

The air ministry reported a "strong force of royal air force bombers" attacked the works at Pilsen, Bohemia, Sunday night. The ministry's news service said the British bombers set the plant on fire after a 750 mile flight from the English coast thru dirty weather.

Never relaxing their attacks on the "invasion coast" opposite England, British bombers were reported to have hit a power station at the Nazi-held French naval base of Lorient.

The Querqueville airdrome near Cherbourg also was bombed.

Concentrate on Refineries.

The British concentrated on oil refineries in other night bombing forays. The air ministry said six were attacked; two at Hamburg and others at Hanover, Ostermoor, Gelsenkirchen, and Magdeburg.

Other targets reported raided were 14 German air bases and the rail and water hubs of Germany's communications system.

During the night British bombers attacked objectives in Germany and ports and airdromes in German occupied territory, the air ministry reported.

Germany's air raiders gave Britain a comparative breathing spell yesterday but the British learned officially that Nazi sea raiders had sunk another great ship of their merchant fleet, the 42,348 ton Empress of Britain, a $15,000,000 vessel.

Forty-five persons who were aboard are missing and 598 others already have been brought ashore by British warships, an admiralty war office communique said.

Largest Vessel Lost.

The Empress, flagship of Canada's merchant marine until she was impressed for war service as a transport, was the 10th largest passenger vessel afloat and the biggest merchantman lost in the war.

The British announcement merely listed the Empress of Britain as a victim of "enemy action" and said she foundered while in tow.

Survivors, however, described an air attack 150 miles west of Ireland last Saturday afternoon in which, they said, a Nazi plane raked her decks with machinegun fire.

German reports said the ship was left a battered hulk after an air attack and was sent under later with two finishing torpedoes from a submarine.

London had four brief daylight air raid alarms yesterday and, then almost as tho on a schedule, the sirens wailed a fifth alarm in the evening for the 52d consecutive night of raids. Attacks were directed mainly against the London area and the Midlands, the air ministry said, and some persons were killed.

Liverpool and northeast Scotland reported night attacks by Germans flying in relays.

JAPAN'S CABINET PONDERS STAND ON BALKAN WAR

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 29 Tuesday.—The cabinet council was called this morning to discuss invocation of the Rome-Berlin-Tokio treaty, and the attitude of the Japanese government toward the Italian-Greek hostilities.

Technically, it is believed that Japan cannot avoid becoming involved in the European conflict in view of the agreement to assist Germany and Italy in the event that either is attacked by a power not already in the war.

However, just what political, economic, and military assistance Japan can offer Italy in its war with Greece or whether Italy desires assistance are matters which cannot be answered yet.

In view of the important nature of the issue, particularly as it will establish precedent, the Japanese government is watching for further developments and is reported unlikely to decide on its attitude until receipt of a detailed official report.

FRENCH, NAZIS RESUME TALKS ON AXIS LINEUP

Seek to Iron Out Form of Collaboration.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Oct. 28.—After a breathing spell over the week-end, negotiations began again today between the French and Germans to work out the method of the new era of French collaboration with the axis.

Vichy officials denied London reports that any definitive peace terms or treaty exists. They said matters still are in a state of negotiation.

The fact that Vice Premier Pierre Laval, who took over the ministry of foreign affairs today, left for Paris again gave further proof that the bargaining stage still is in progress and nothing as yet has been put down in black and white.

Details Still Secret.

Laval took over the post from Paul Baudouin who remains in the cabinet as a minister without portfolio. As vice premier, Laval also controls the radio, press, and censorship of the unoccupied area of France.

There has been no inkling yet about details of the pending French and German agreement, but temperatures are high in view of broadcasts from England in the French language.

The French national radio today issued two moving appeals to all Frenchmen to back up Marshal Petain's policy of coöperation with the Germans. The press also has appealed for confidence in Petain.

It was announced after today's cabinet session that severe penalties will be taken against those who listen to these broadcasts in public places.

Roosevelt Sends Message.

President Roosevelt has sent a message to Marshal Petain, a foreign ministry spokesman said and in commenting on it declared France joined an "axis Monroe doctrine" for Europe and that no American interests were involved.

"There is no need for America to consider that France's new place in Europe is any menace to America or to the Caribbean colonies," he said.

The text of the message was not published, but in political circles it was said to have been disconcerting. The message was said to have been blunt—even blustering—and to have pointed to certain contingencies which the Vichy government would have to face.

MOSCOW CLAMPS CURB ON BUYING OF FOODSTUFFS

MOSCOW, Russia, Oct. 28 (AP).—Limitations on buying of bread, butter, meat, potatoes, and other foodstuffs went into force today in Moscow.

There were no ration cards and no formal announcement was made, but signs warned that anyone who tried to increase his purchases by going to the same store twice in one day would be subject to fines.

These were the maxima: Bread, two pounds; meat, one pound; butter, four ounces; milk, one liter [approximately one quart]; sugar, one pound; potatoes, four and a half pounds; eggs, five; pastries, four.

The restrictions were believed to indicate a move to store up reserves.

32 Churches in London Reported Ruined by Raids

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP).—Thirty-two London churches have been destroyed or made unusable by German air raids, the Rt. Rev. G. F. Fisher, bishop of London, said today at a diocesan conference. Including vicarages, halls, and schools, the bishop estimated that between 450 and 500 church buildings have been damaged or destroyed.

FORMER CLERK IN U. S. EMBASSY AT LONDON IS CONVICTED AS SPY

Tyler Kent.

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP).—Tyler Kent, 29 year old discharged clerk of the United States embassy in London, was convicted today at a secret trial on charges of having violated the official secrets act. Kent was arrested on June 1 with Anna Wolkoff, blonde dressmaker, daughter of a former Russian admiral, who will go to trial tomorrow. His sentence was postponed pending her trial.

TELL OF FINDING BOMB ON BOARD U. S. TRANSPORT

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 28 (AP).—Crew members of the United States troop transport Republic told a story tonight without official confirmation that an attempt had been made to blow up the ship with a "time bomb" just after sailing from San Francisco with 3,000 troops and passengers aboard.

They said H. F. Dodd, the ship's master of arms, discovered a smoking box lodged in the hold and ripped it apart. It contained "an excellent mechanical contraption," and, according to this story, enough nitro-glycerine to blow the ship "clear out of the water."

Most of those aboard were unaware of the incident as Dodd, "praying all the way," carried the box to deck and with another assisting him safely consigned it overboard.

JAPS ABANDON NANNING, VITAL CHINESE CENTER

Claim Further Occupation Is Meaningless.

BY S. S. GRAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Premier Konoe.

HONGKONG, Oct. 28.—The commander of the Japanese expeditionary forces in South China announced tonight that Japanese troops were abandoning Nanning, strategic communications center in Kwangsi province. The Japanese have occupied the city since Nov. 24, 1939.

Lieut. Gen. Atsushi Ushirogu, the commander, said the withdrawal was taken "on our own initiative" and that further occupation of the city was "meaningless following the Japanese entry into Indo-China."

Chinese spokesmen countered with the assertion that the Japanese were abandoning Nanning to avoid encirclement by Chinese forces, who have been pressing attacks on the city since Oct. 24. They said the Chinese would enter the city tomorrow.

Assert Japs to Quit Axis.

The Chinese admitted the city had lost its importance as a distribution point for Chinese war supplies but said that its reoccupation would represent a major military success.

The Japanese announcement came as reliable diplomatic sources in this British colony asserted that Japan soon will completely revise its policy in the far east and break away from the Rome-Berlin axis.

This decision, it was claimed, was reached following the recent "stronghand" policy by America and Britain toward the far east, which has badly frightened Japanese leaders.

It was expected Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe's cabinet will be forced to resign and will be supplanted by more liberal elements. These sources said that the premier's new peace moves toward China were a last desperate attempt to retain the reins of government in the face of rising public and political hostility.

Willing to End War.

Further evidence of the change in Japan's far eastern policy was provided today in the Japanese military's announcement that Japan is willing to terminate hostilities in China.

It is significant that America's application of economic embargoes against Japan and Britain's reopening of the Burma supply road to China were quickly followed by Japanese repudiation of Wang Ching-wei's puppet régime in Nanking and efforts to persuade Britain to act as mediator in peace negotiations with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the recall of former Premier General Nobuyuki Abe from Nanking.

BELIEVE DUCE SEEKS BALKAN SPOILS AS HIS REWARD IN WAR

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Diplomatic circles today regarded Italy's attack on Greece as indicating Premier Mussolini may be seeking his share of the spoils of the war in the Balkans, rather than in France. This unofficial view seemed to fit in with reports France has been told she will be permitted to retain some of the territory which generally had been regarded as lost if she falls in with the German program for continuing the war against England.

German officials said that in the absence of official Italian comment they could shed no light on what was happening in Greece, but they did give reports from countries outside the axis.

Greek sources here said they hoped to offer considerable resistance, but feared they could hold out no longer than two weeks if the Italians were assisted by the Germans. There was not much hope of material aid from the British. Some diplomatic quarters believed that if defeat were imminent, the Greek government would withdraw to Crete, which the British fleet should be able to defend against the Italian navy.

WILLKIE WIDENS GAIN IN INDIANA AND WISCONSIN

Polls Nearly 54 Per Cent of Straw Votes.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Wendell L. Willkie is up half a point in Indiana and up one-tenth of a point in Wisconsin in today's tabulation of the results in THE TRIBUNE five-state straw vote.

In Indiana, out of 16,417 ballots collected in 39 cities, Willkie now has 53.8 per cent and President Roosevelt has 46.2 per cent. In the election four years ago the President had 61 per cent of the votes cast in those cities.

In Wisconsin, Willkie has 53.2 per cent of 17,274 straws gathered in 30 cities and Roosevelt has 46.8 per cent. Roosevelt had 65 per cent of the vote in these cities in the 1936 election.

District Is Main Unit.

The congressional district is the great political unit in Indiana politics and the straw returns now have been sorted out by the districts. The table of returns naturally is askew because some cities where ballots may be collected quickly have a larger proportion in the straw tables than they have of the state's vote on election day. Willkie's lead is increased when the table is weighted and a projection is made on the basis of the last Presidential vote.

Of course, straw votes are far from infallible—altho THE TRIBUNE polls in past years have been marked by a high degree of accuracy—and the final few days of the campaign and additional straws may bring about some shiftings. When the percentages which Willkie and Roosevelt have received in the 39 cities are applied to the Roosevelt-Landon vote cast in the congressional districts, they give the following projection:

Dist.	1936 Rep.-Dem. Vote	Willkie % of Straws	Willkie Projected Vote	Roosevelt % of Straws	Roosevelt Projected Vote
1—	102,240	45.5	46,519	54.5	55,721
2—	141,827	70.5	99,988	29.5	41,839
3—	125,388	65.5	82,129	34.5	43,259
4—	129,770	56.5	73,320	43.5	56,450
5—	134,052	53.7	71,986	46.3	62,066
6—	149,388	57.3	85,599	42.7	63,789
7—	152,333	53.4	81,346	46.6	70,987
8—	142,971	42.1	60,191	57.9	82,780
9—	140,010	55.8	78,126	44.2	61,884
10—	141,679	52.7	74,665	47.3	67,014
11 & 12—	266,886	53.8	143,585	46.2	123,301
	1,626,544	53.8	897,454	46.2	729,090
			55.2%		44.8%

Such a projection by congressional districts would give a Willkie plurality of 168,364. When the total state 1936 vote is projected just on the total straw percentages in the table it gives Willkie a plurality of 123,618.

Leads in Five Indiana Cities.

In seven Hoosier cities given today Willkie leads in five, and Roosevelt in two. Four years ago Roosevelt carried six and Landon one of these towns. Elkhart gave Willkie 65.5 per cent of its straws. Four years ago it gave Roosevelt 54 per cent. In three polls in Fort Wayne Willkie got 62.2 per cent in the business section, 73.9 per cent among teachers attending a convention, and 52.5 per cent among wives of industrial workers and employés of the General Electric plant. A separate poll among farmers bringing their stock to the stockyards gave Willkie 61.3 per cent.

Anderson gave Roosevelt a lead with 55.4 per cent of its straws. In Jeffersonville, opposite Louisville, Ky., the President had 58.7 per cent of the straws. In 1936 he carried the city with 66 per cent.

In the Indiana state contests Raymond Willis, G. O. P. nominee for senator, has 55.3 per cent of the votes and Senator Sherman Minton, his Democratic opponent, has 44.7 per cent. Glen R. Hillis, Republican nominee for governor, has 54.8 per cent against the 45.2 per cent polled by Henry F. Schricker, his Democratic opponent.

Ahead in Six Wisconsin Cities.

Six Wisconsin cities, stretching from Beloit on the Illinois border northward to Lake Winnebago, are in today's new Wisconsin tables. In the six Willkie has 53.7 per cent of the straws.

In Janesville two separate polls went opposite ways. Willkie got 58 per cent in a downtown canvass in which housewives were well represented. Roosevelt had 64.6 per cent in a poll at the Parker pen plant. Neenah and Menasha, twin cities in the Fox river valley, a great paper mill valley, went in opposite directions. Menasha straws favored Roosevelt with 52.6 per cent. Neenah straws gave Willkie 54.1 per cent.

In the Wisconsin state contests Fred H. Clausen, G. O. P. candidate for senator, has 48 per cent of the straws; Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Progressive, has 33 per cent, and James E. Finnegan, Democrat, has 19 per cent. Gov. Julius P. Heil, Republican nominee for governor, has 53 per cent; Francis E. McGovern, Democrat, has 28 per cent, and Orland S. Loomis, Progressive, has 19 per cent.

More Returns in Straw Poll

Below are the 17th day's tabulations of the straw vote being taken by THE TRIBUNE in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin on the principal candidates in the election of Nov. 5. These returns are from Indiana and Wisconsin. The tabulation shows the number of straws cast for Willkie and for Roosevelt and the percentage for each. The table shows the percentages for the principal candidates in the elections of 1936 and 1938.

Total Republican and Democratic straws—17,274.

A total of 96,075 straw votes on the Presidential race has been cast thus far in Illinois. Of these, 47,122 were cast in Chicago, 6,567 in Cook county towns outside Chicago, and 42,386 in downstate cities. Willkie has polled 57.6 per cent of the straws downstate and 62.5 per cent in the Cook county towns, and Roosevelt has polled 57.1 per cent of the straws in Chicago. Willkie has 50.7 per cent of all straws.

In the state contests Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for senator, has polled 56 per cent of all straws and Senator James M. Slattery, Democrat, has polled 44 per cent. For governor, Dwight H. Green, Republican, has received 57.8 per cent of the straws as against 42.2 per cent for Harry B. Hershey, Democrat.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney has polled 53.7 per cent of the straws cast in Chicago in the race for prosecutor, and Judge Oscar F. Nelson, his G. O. P. opponent, has polled 46.3 per cent. Courtney has polled 39.2 per cent in the Cook county towns and Nelson has polled 60.8 per cent.

In Iowa 20,864 straws have given Willkie 54.5 per cent and Roosevelt 45.5 per cent. For governor, George A. Wilson, Republican, has 57.1 per cent of the straws and John K. Valentine, Democrat, has 42.9 per cent.

In Michigan 15,585 straws have given Willkie 51.4 per cent and Roosevelt 48.6 per cent. For governor, Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democrat, has 54.5 per cent and Gov. Luren D. Dickinson, Republican, has 45.5 per cent. For senator, Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, has 54.1 per cent and Frank FitzGerald, Democrat, has 45.9 per cent.

Results of 166,215 straw ballots have been tabulated and printed in 17 days of tables.

PHOTOGRAPH THE THIEVES!

The Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance plans to make a camera record of ballot thieves on Nov. 5. The alliance will use this record to help prosecute election law violators. Volunteer cameramen are needed for this extraordinary service. A job is waiting for every cameraman who can join in this fight to protect the ballots. Those willing to assist may enlist personally at Room 2500, 120 West Adams street, or telephone State 6376.

HUTCHINS LAUDS FILM EXPOSE OF BALLOT FRAUDS

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, asserted last evening that the Joint Civic committee has done invaluable work for honest elections in Chicago by producing the sound motion picture, "The Fight for Honest Ballots." Hutchins addressed 150 persons in Hull House where the film was shown publicly for the first time.

"I wouldn't be here if this were a meeting for Wendell Willkie," said Dr. Hutchins. "Nor would I be here if it were a meeting for Franklin Roosevelt. As an educator I would not have gone to a political meeting. But this is an educational meeting.

"The civic committee's film does a great job of informing the ignorant and the innocent who have, in the past, allowed their votes to be stolen. An election is a fundamental element of a democracy. An honest election can't alone assure good government but it assures that the essence of democracy shall be maintained.

"The essence of democracy is that the will of the people shall prevail. If an election is stolen the will of the people does not prevail and democracy fails by that margin."

NEW YORK POLL SHOWS WILLKIE TREND HOLDING

New York, Oct. 28 [Special].—Miss or Mrs. Average New York Woman plans to vote on election day like her father, husband, brother or sweetheart, and the men folk are split almost evenly on President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie, the New York News straw poll reveals.

The feminine citizenry in New York City leans a bit more to Roosevelt than the men while upstate the fair sex is stronger for Willkie. According to separate tallies in several areas canvassed in the poll, all areas lumped together revealed only 3/5 of 1 per cent differing between men and women with the feminine fraction going to Willkie.

Willkie gained slightly in the day-to-day cumulative totals. New returns boosted his straws to 19,165 and Roosevelt's to 19,101. Percentages were: Willkie, 50.1; Roosevelt, 49.9.

Meanwhile, the first complete figures from one borough indicated that Queens will go to Willkie. Roosevelt won the borough in 1936 with 66.2 per cent to the vote but his 1940 straw percentage was only 46.4 as the canvassers completed their quota.

Woman Jailed for Ballot Fraud Dies After Release

Miss Rose Madia, 35 years old, 244 West 31st street, released from county jail last month because of illness, died Sunday, it was learned yesterday. Miss Madia was sentenced to serve a year in jail by Judge Edmund K. Jarecki last November on vote fraud charges. She had been sought two years before she surrendered.

HOLT INSISTS U. S. IS COMMITTED TO SECRET WAR DEAL

Says Roosevelt's Actions Discredit His Denial.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Senator Rush Holt [D., W. Va.] charged in the senate today that President Roosevelt's past actions and utterances discredit his statement of last week that he has made no secret commitments to involve the United States in war.

Holt quoted Mr. Roosevelt's solemn assurance in his Philadelphia speech and then challenged it.

"I am willing to let the history of the country, when it is written, give the answer," the senator said. "We know there have been secret commitments."

One Man Wars.

Asserting that one man took Germany to war and one man took Italy to war, Holt asked whether one man should be permitted to take the United States to war.

"It is time for the American people to say 'no,'" he said.

Holt recalled Mr. Roosevelt's statement that those who accuse him of leading the country toward war are conducting a blitzkrieg of fear.

"I am one who has made that statement and I repeat it here—the policies of the administration are leading toward war," he said.

"Certainly the fear was originally started by the executive branch of the government, and has been carried on through the country, but the fear has reached such proportions that it is beyond what it was intended to be used for, namely, political purposes, keeping the question of indispensability to the front. The American people are afraid because the American people do not want war.

Actions Discredit Satements.

"Why has there been such fear in this country? I think the question can best be answered by the President's own statements compared with his actions."

Holt recalled that the American people were told nothing of the deal transferring 50 destroyers to Great Britain until it had been consummated, despite previous assurances by Mr. Roosevelt that, "your government has no information which it has any thought of withholding from you."

On Sept. 3, 1939, he recalled, Mr. Roosevelt said: "This nation will remain a neutral nation."

"He knows, the country knows, and the world knows, that the United States of America is not neutral," Holt said. "It is nonbelligerent. It is not in the war actively, so far as men are concerned, but the President has since shown that the United States is not neutral and that he does not desire that it should be neutral.

"I ask the question, 'have not the actions of the President, by executive decree, taken the United States away from the every thing he promised the American people—strict neutrality?

"There has been more secret diplomacy emanating from the White House in the last two months and even today than in the entire previous history of the United States—secret diplomacy for war, not peace."

New Deal Offers 1938-1939 Data to Answer Air Critics

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Smarting under Republican criticism of the airplane production program, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today cited some figures on 1938 and 1939 war and navy department plane programs as refuting charges that the air program has bogged down.

Morgenthau took exception to a statement issued last week by Harry F. Guggenheim, chairman of the aviation division of the Republican national committee and former member of the national advisory committee for aeronautics. He termed Guggenheim's statement "shameful" and "pretty wicked."

The treasury secretary, who has been designated by President Roosevelt to keep an eye on airplane production for the United States and Great Britain, produced statements from Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, new acting chief of the Air Corps, and Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics.

Ahead of Schedule, Claim.

According to Gen. Brett's statement, "the 25 combat groups scheduled in the 5,500 airplane program which was authorized by the congress early in 1939, and expected for completion by July 1, 1941, will be substantially organized and equipped by April 1, 1941, three months in advance of the original scheduled date."

"In response to your inquiry as to whether the navy 3,000 plane program will be completed on schedule, I can say definitely that it will be completed well ahead of schedule," Admiral Towers wrote Morgenthau.

"The 3,000 plane program was a part of the naval expansion act, approved May 17, 1938. It provided for the planes to be carried on the ships of the expanded navy and in addition certain seaplanes to be operated from shore bases to be constructed later. . . . Altho these ships and shore bases are being accelerated, there is no question but what the planes will be on hand well ahead of schedule."

Programs Considered Obsolete.

Asked for production figures on a more modern plane program, such as authorized during the last session of congress, Morgenthau replied that he was unable to provide anything more than the statements in hand. Most quarters considered the programs he cited as "antique."

Morgenthau quarreled with Guggenheim over the latter's interpretation of a statement made last week by Morgenthau at a press conference.

Guggenheim accused Morgenthau of making a "deliberately misleading" and "entirely false" statement in saying that production of warplanes was ahead of schedule. Guggenheim admitted a slight gain in production of Curtiss P-40 pursuit planes, saying they would run 200 this month instead of 130 as planned, adding "but it is all."

Robbers Tie Up Motorist; Lock Him in His Car Trunk

Two robbers last night kidnaped Edward R. Sojka, 918 West 32d place, as he was getting into his car at Eleanor and Loomis streets. They took $1.65 and his suit coat while driving him to 32d street and Wolcott avenue. There they tied him and deposited him in the car trunk. Finally the car stopped and about 10 minutes later Sojka heard an 8:30 factory whistle. By 9:30 he had untied the rope and kicked his way out of the trunk. He found himself at the rear of 2946 Haynes court.

HELD UP AT HOME GARAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Carlson and their son, Marshall, gave up $63 and a gold ring worth $100 last night when held up by two men as they left the garage behind their home at 4459 North Richmond street.

396 Absentee Votes Cast on First Day of Polling

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, said 396 voters cast absentee ballots yesterday at the election board offices in the city hall. It was the first day voters who expect to be out of town on Nov. 5 could cast their ballots. At the same time the board started mailing absentee ballots to voters now out of the county who will not be here election day.

Fitness

Living never was more a matter of survival of the fittest than it is today. Time was when a man who was strong had little need for mental power . . . but, as civilization advanced, physical superiority no longer served adequately. Logical, orderly reasoning and planning had joined the battle. These combined forces have continued supreme and today mental and physical co-ordination are absolutely necessary if your goal is to be reached and maintained. Has not the man who is at the top, the one most likely to stay there, an alert mind? Does he not realize and observe the fact that his mental labors are inestimably facilitated by a body as strong and healthy as is possible for him to attain? He is fit for all emergencies.

The YMCA is attuned to the need for fitness. Our broad program includes nearly every sport, and in addition includes forums, discussions and educational features which together promote the mental and physical strength so valuable to you in your individual pursuits and in your nation's prestige.

The YMCA will continue to promote a program designed to strengthen character, build friendships and encourage mental and physical fitness and in so doing make its contribution to the strength of our nation. Stop in today at the YMCA nearest you for full details of the Fall and Winter program.

American Bulbs, Better Than Imported!

Vaughan's

RAINBOW GARDEN OF TULIPS . . $2

30 GIANT FLOWERING BULBS Prepaid to 600 Miles

Thirty tall, giant late tulips, six each of five named varieties, separately bagged and labeled, embracing these colors:
RED, PINK, ORANGE, YELLOW, LAVENDER

With war shutting out bulbs from Holland, tulips are a rarity this fall. These bulbs were grown in our own fields in Oregon. In years of tests they have proved equal or superior to imported Dutch bulbs. With tulip bulbs so scarce, few gardens will enjoy their beauty next spring. Make yours one of these few!

15 Daffodils, prepaid, $1.00

Daffodils are the first major flowers to bloom in spring. They last for years and usually multiply. A purchase of bulbs should pay in bloom for a lifetime.

WORKERS CHARGE COERCION TO PACK LA GUARDIA RALLY

Members Tell Threats by Union Officers.

Charges were made by union members in the garment trades last night that under threat of grievance committee action they are being coerced into attending tonight's massmeeting at the Chicago Stadium, where Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York is to speak in behalf of a third term for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Methods used in an attempt to "pack" the meeting were told last night by two women, one a member of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the other of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a member of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. These unions have sufficient Chicago members to assure La Guardia a full house.

Brings In Pamphlets.

Mrs. Helen Stelter, 1728 North Springfield avenue, a member of the I. L. G. W., said that yesterday Tony Filando, a business agent of the union, came into William Lipson & Co., dress manufacturers at 320 West Jackson boulevard, where she is employed. He carried a pocketful of pamphlets, headed "La Guardia Speaks," and placed one before each of the 17 workers.

Mrs. Stelter swept her pamphlet from her work table to the floor.

"What's the matter?" demanded Filando.

"What's that?" asked Mrs. Stelter, indicating the pamphlet.

"That means you be there tomorrow night," Filando replied.

"I'm a member of the union and paid up in my dues," Mrs. Stelter answered, "but there's no union that can tell me what meetings I have to attend where politics is concerned."

"You'd better be there," Filando said. "There will be plenty of people on hand to check you in and see that you're there."

Reports Agent's Threat.

"You don't have to put anybody there," Mrs. Stelter said. "I'm not going."

"I'll take you to the grievance committee, then," Mrs. Stelter said Filando told her as he left.

She said that her husband lost his job after the Democrats took office in 1932, and she had to go out and get work to support her two daughters, who are in high school. Her husband has only recently gone back to work.

The member of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, which is headed by Sidney Hillman, defense commissioner of labor, said that Fiori Denovi, a union shop chairman at Alfred Decker and Cohn, 416 South Franklin street, where she is employed, distributed Roosevelt lapel badges and tickets to the meeting to union members.

She said that she accepted the tickets, but told Denovi she did not intend to go to the meeting, whereupon he replied, "You have to go, and you have to sign your name and time clock number on the back of the ticket."

Admits Party Is Hard Up.

"Are the Democrats so hard up they have to do this?" she asked.

Denovi answered, "Yes."

"The signed tickets would show who attends the meeting," the union member said. "I'm afraid they'll get my job if I don't go, but I'm not going. This isn't Russia."

Samuel Levin, international vice president of the union, denied that intimidation was being employed to force a big turnout for La Guardia. None of the officials of the I. L. G. W. could be reached, but it was recalled that during the 1936 campaign members were compelled to march in Roosevelt's Chicago parade on threat of being assessed a $10 fine if they were absent.

BALLET THEATER GROUP ARRIVES FOR OPERA DEBUT

Members of the Ballet theater, a troupe of dancers and choreographers, arrived from New York at the La Salle street station yesterday morning to begin rehearsals for the opening of the Chicago opera season on Saturday evening. The group will make its first appearance in the opening performance of Verdi's "Aida" and will dance in many other operas here during the season. Among the dancers who arrived yesterday were Nana Gollner, Katherine Sergava, Nina Stroganova, Anna Wiman, Betty Gilmore, and Iania Dokoudovska.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE
NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF THE TREASURER

October [redacted] 1940

[redacted]

To an almost unprecedented extent, the lives and destinies of our people are likely to be influenced by the outcome of this Presidential election and in order to carry our campaign to a successful conclusion in November, we must have funds now with which to meet necessary expenses.

We have recourse only to those in sympathy with the ideals and purposes of this administration, those who take pride in its record of accomplishment, and those willing to exert themselves to preserve the hard won gains of the last seven years.

Confident that you are in accord with Democratic objectives in this campaign and that your material support may be relied upon, the Democratic National Committee takes this occasion to solicit a contribution to the 1940 campaign fund. We are urgently in need of your contribution and hope you will give as liberally as circumstances permit.

A return envelope is enclosed for your convenience, also a blue card which, when filled out, will facilitate the keeping of our records and assure the prompt delivery of a receipt for your contribution. Make check or money order payable to Democratic National Committee.

Anticipating an early response and assuring you that your assistance at this time will be much appreciated, I am

Sincerely yours,

O. A. Q

Oliver A. Quayle, Jr.
Treasurer.

NOTE
The provisions of the Hatch Act make it unlawful to solicit or receive contributions from persons known to be receiving compensation from funds appropriated by Congress for WORK RELIEF OR RELIEF PURPOSES. All other employees of Government are permitted to make voluntary contributions to campaign committees.

G. O. P. IN BOSTON GUARDS AGAINST POLLING FRAUDS

Other Cities of State Cleanse Rolls.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 28 [Special].—The powerful machine headed by James M. Curley, which helped elect President Roosevelt in 1932, has disintegrated but the Republicans are taking no chances of any frauds at the polls this year.

The G. O. P. exercised close guard over the election lists and the registration signatures of voters qualifying for the election. This was instrumental in ruling off the ballot the slate headed by William H. McMasters, candidate for governor of the so-called Pension party.

Move to Strike Names.

Action to strike the names of hundreds of suspects from the lists in this city has already begun. The same minute scrutiny is being conducted in other cities in the state where there is any fear of ballot irregularities.

Curley, as mayor of Boston for many years, and as governor of Massachusetts from 1934 to 1936, headed one of the strongest political organizations in the country. He was the original Roosevelt shouter in Massachusetts in 1931, but cooled off when Roosevelt, after the election, wouldn't give Curley the ambassadorship to Rome.

The reputation of the Curley administration in 1936 was such that Roosevelt would not support Curley's candidacy for reëlection as governor thru fear of losing the state. As a result, Roosevelt carried Massachusetts by 174,000 four years ago while Curley was defeated by 136,000.

Governor Is Republican.

This year Wendell Willkie is given an even chance to defeat Roosevelt in Massachusetts, even tho Boston in the past has been 3 to 1 Democratic. Aiding the Republican cause are Gov. Leverett Saltonstall and a solid G. O. P. state legislature. Attorney General Paul A. Dever, sole Democrat among the chief state officers, heads what is left of the Democratic machine.

Senator David I. Walsh is seeking reëlection on the Democratic ticket and is opposed by Henry Parkman on the Republican slate. Maurice J. Tobin, mayor of Boston, is a Democrat, but has not openly indorsed Walsh and is known to be friendly toward Parkman.

Sticker Attached

In order to be in the good graces of his superiors after the election next Tuesday the federal job holder will have to have his blue card on file at the headquarters of the Democratic national committee in Washington. The card will prove that he contributed to the third term campaign fund and also just how heavily he donated.

The discovery of the adoption of the blue card system came about in Chicago yesterday when a Democrat now supporting Willkie displayed a letter he received from Oliver A. Quayle Jr., treasurer of the Democratic National committee. Attached to the lower left hand corner of the letter was a paster or sticker stating the contention of the Democratic management that the Hatch act does not prohibit a shakedown of employés unless they are paid out of relief funds or work relief funds.

Iowan to Vote for His 16th President; It Is Willkie

Bassett, Ia., Oct. 28 [Special].—Nelson I. Mead, 85 years old, owner of 120 acres of Chickasaw county land, has voted in 15 successive Presidential elections in the same precinct. He said today that he will cast his sixteenth Presidential ballot for Wendell Willkie.

HERSHEY RENEWS UTILITY CHARGES IN RADIO SPEECH

Candidates Address Rally of Pay Rollers.

Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, and Senator James M. Slattery, who is seeking reëlection, continued their campaigns on the radio last night and appeared with other Democratic candidates at a rally of north side party workers and pay rollers in the 202d Coast Artillery armory.

In his radio talk Hershey branded the opposition cry of "Stop the Kelly-Nash machine" as a political hoax which he said was "designed to erect a great bogeyman in Illinois to try and frighten the people." He said the Republicans are using methods of foreign dictators in the state campaign.

Utilities Backing Charged.

"By simply mouthing 'machine' and 'Kelly-Nash,' they hope to surrender Illinois to the utility corporations who are their real backers," he said. "No man will dictate to Harry Hershey as governor of Illinois."

"If you let the opposition insinuate themselves into your confidence you will have given a blank signed check on your welfare—such as no people dare give to any political group."

Senator Slattery said the one "practical question in the campaign is whether President Roosevelt or Wendell Willkie is the better equipped to keep wars away from the western hemisphere."

Party Workers at Rally.

Approximately 4,500 party workers and pay rollers attended the rally in the armory. In addition to Hershey and Slattery, other candidates and party leaders who spoke included Gov. John Stelle, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, candidate for Cook county prosecutor; Louie E. Lewis, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Mayor Kelly.

Gov. Stelle praised Hershey, his opponent in the primary, as "the one man for governor of Illinois." Stelle also spoke on the radio after the rally.

ENVOY KENNEDY SPEAKS TONIGHT ON RADIO HOOKUP

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, whose return from Great Britain aroused widespread speculation as to its purpose, announced today that he would speak to the nation in a broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting system at 8 o'clock Chicago time tomorrow night.

Kennedy, who conferred with President Roosevelt last night in Washington immediately after his return from London by Clipper plane and then declined to discuss the conference, said he would make no other statement today. Kennedy did not announce the subject of his address.

The radio chain did not know who would pay for the Kennedy time, nor would its officials say anything about the sponsorship. The time originally was reserved by the Democratic national committee, which gave up half an hour to Kennedy.

Gail Patrick and her husband, Robert H. Cobb.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28 (AP).—Movie Actress Gail Patrick announced thru her press agent today that she has separated from Robert H. Cobb, restaurateur, and would file suit for divorce.

"We were so long extremely happy that it is with the greatest regret that I am filing complaint for divorce," the announcement declared.

Cobb said:

"I shall always hold Gail in the highest esteem. There is little that I can say, except that I am exceedingly saddened that there appears to be no other solution for our difficulties."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

UNWRITTEN LAW BARS 3D TERM, WILLKIE WARNS

The American System Is in Peril, He Says.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 28 (AP).—Following are excerpts from Wendell Willkie's speech here tonight:

"The two-party system has been a great source of strength to us in America. Both parties have always believed in the same constitution. They have both believed in the same way of life—the American one. They have differed only in their ideas of the means, under that constitution, by which that life could be made ample and secure.

"In these days of turmoil, when democracy is under attack in all quarters of the world, every American must cherish every significant attribute of democracy. We must not become divided into many small and ineffective parties, each one at odds with all the others.

"Nor may we tolerate, as have many countries in Europe, a single party—a party of American dictatorship.

The Party in Power.

"For these reasons American citizens, whether Republicans or Democrats, have been distressed by the degenerative process in Washington, D. C., during the last seven and a half years. During those years the Democratic party has been in power nominally. But what has really been in power? Has it been the Democratic party?

"What has been the influence of men like John Garner of Texas, of men like Senator Tydings of Maryland, or Senator Byrd, or Senator Carter Glass? These men, staunch Democrats, and a host of their like, have had to fight against a new party, a rash and overbearing party—the party of the New Deal.

"This New Deal party consists of a candidate, and a little group of men in large part unknown to our people. The candidate is vested with the enormous powers of the Presidency. The little group of unbelieving and ambitious men are the beneficiaries of those powers. This party grew up in Washington out of the Democratic party, and, fungus-like, has suffocated it. It is unlike the Democratic party. Its principles are as hostile to those of the Democratic party, and they are as fatal to it, as the fungus is to the oak.

Grasping for Third Term.

"It is this New Deal party that now makes its ultimate grasp for power—the repeal of the rule against the third term—that its reign may continue in perpetuity.

"We are not governed by written laws alone. No men are. The greater part of our daily life is governed by our unwritten common law, developed from the usage and the custom of generations of men. It is that unwritten common law which gives effect to the promises of merchants and to the ties of family affection. It defines most of our rights.

"The men who founded this republic took a little part from the flowing stream of human rights and set that little down in words. That is our constitution. Those men knew the manner of birth of the common law that safeguards the rights of our daily life. They knew that a tradition, rooted in good principle and tested by the usage of generations, would become the common law. It would protect the rights of liberty, proclaimed in the constitution that they wrote.

"Thus good principle and usage tested by generations of men have made this the common law of the United States: That no man should be eligible for a third consecutive term as President.

History-Making Issue.

"Unquestionably, the people of this country may repeal that law. The election of the third term candidate would repeal it. For the first time in the history of the country, a political party has nominated a man for a third consecutive term. For the first time in our history, the American people will vote directly on this question.

"You must now determine whether that law is a good or bad one. You must determine whether it is a wise precaution of freedom to limit the time any man may hold power over you. Your decision upon that point will be irrevocable. If you repeal that law, there will never again be any limit upon continual self-appointment of Presidents to office, by any means. The question of free government involved is much more important than the personalities involved. If this principle dies, it will be dead forever.

The Case of Washington.

"When George Washington came to the end of his second term, Europe was convulsed by war. The most powerful nations, France and England, were at each others' throats. Spain, Austria, and many German and Italian states were ultimately embroiled. Efforts were being made by the several belligerents, and by factions in this country, to force abandonment of our neutrality and to get us into their wars.

"We were young and weak and not united. Belligerents were on our borders and were violating our rights on the high seas.

"Those times were as perilous as these. Washington, by the common consent of all his countrymen, was best qualified to see us thru by taking a third term. He was qualified not only because he had had experience as President, but because he had character. But that very character, that very quality of greatness which made a third term safe in his hands, impelled him to renounce it.

"He refused a third term in order deliberately to set an example of moderation and patriotism to his successors, and until now that example has been heeded.

Democratic Party's Stand.

"Since Washington's time, and until the appearance of the New Deal party, the Democratic party has been an active advocate of this rule. Its first President, Thomas Jefferson, crystallized the tradition to make it a settled rule of our law.

"Pressed by the legislatures of states to take a third term, he refused to disregard the sound precedent set by Washington.

"The great popular hero of that party, and of the country, Andrew Jackson, reinforced that rule by obedience to it. He earnestly urged a limit on the time that Presidents might serve, a limit shorter than eight years.

"At the hundredth anniversary of Washington's refusal of the third term, the Democratic party declared it to be 'the unwritten law of this republic, established by custom and usage, and sanctioned by the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office.

"This is the common law of the United States.

"The third term candidate has made the argument that we can protect ourselves against Presidential self-perpetuation in office by our votes at the end of the third term. Another argument is that a change of leadership at this time would be unwise. Finally, the third term supporters say that Mr. Roosevelt is the indispensable and sole man capable of taking us thru this period.

"In theory, the people can protect themselves at the polls, if their votes are free and are counted. But practically, it is extremely difficult.

"The powers of the office of President have always been great. And we know today that the powers of any President have been vastly increased since 1933.

Power of the Office.

"Under the New Deal its third term candidate has become, and now is, one of the most powerful rulers in the world. Never before has an American President had the opportunity of the third term candidate to influence the actions of the voters. His powers have been increased to the point where his control of the currency, of communications, of labor, and of agriculture rivals in many respectors those of European dictators.

"He has felt his power to be great enough to purge those members of congress in his own party who disagree with him, such as Senator Tydings of Maryland, Senator Smith of South Carolina, Senator Gillette of Iowa, and Senator George of Georgia.

"He has, thru 'must' legislation, decreed what laws the congress shall adopt, and has enforced his will thru control over public expenditures.

"After congress refused to permit him to pack the Supreme court, he achieved his end by appointing five men subservient to his will to be a majority of its judges.

Control Over Relief.

"He may grant or withhold his bounty to the fifteen million people who are dependent on federal relief.

"He controls the letting of hundreds of millions of dollars of contracts.

"He is at the head of a horde of more than one million federal employés on the governmental pay roll—almost double the number before he took office.

"He has under him hundreds of publicity agents, on the public pay roll, who may spend public funds to mislead the voters. He, and his associates in power, have an access to the ears and eyes of the people of this country such as no other person ever had.

"Bear those things in mind and you have some idea of the power of the New Deal.

"The American people today have their final opportunity to protect themselves against perpetuation in that powerful office.

"In his speech last week the third-term candidate took to himself, as an achievement, the fact that in August and September employment increased by 900,000 men.

"But the WPA rolls increased from the first part of July to the first part of October by more than 150,000 men. More than 150,000 men were added to WPA in the very period that the President boasted of as showing gains in employment.

"In other words, during this campaign, while the President says employment was increasing, the figures show the WPA rolls were increasing.

"Why do you suppose that happened? They did it to help perpetuate themselves.

"Boss-Ruled Machines."

"But to make sure that its purpose is achieved, the New Deal party has allied with itself boss-ruled machines of large cities. This alliance of the pose of purity with political immorality is shocking to any man of honor.

"It has not been denounced by any of its beneficiaries.

"To illustrate the operation of those powers of the President, you need only recall that in the so-called Democratic convention of last summer, the name of Thomas Jefferson was booed. Senator Carter Glass and other statesmen of that party were howled down by the Voice from the Sewers, and other trusted leaders of that party were ungratefully cast aside.

"Where now is the historic Democratic party?

Where Is Jefferson's Party?

"Where now is the party of Jefferson, or Jackson, or Cleveland, and of Woodrow Wilson? Why, Wendell Willkie is the only candidate fighting today for their principles.

"The American people are aware today. They know what it would mean to repeal the law against a third term.

"It means the destruction of our two party system. It means the complete mastery of us all by a single party, and that party under the orders of a single man.

"The Democratic party—the real Democratic party—is thus faced this year with a dilemma. The registered Democrats must decide whether they are going to adhere to the principles of the Democratic party, or submit to the unprincipled rule of its New Deal kidnapers.

"You cannot be a Democrat and vote for the third term candidate.

"Embryo Autocrats."

"The principles of Jefferson and Jackson cannot live under a government that seeks power, concentration of power, and the perpetuation of power. The principles of the Democratic party can be preserved only by repudiating the embryo autocrats who use its name as their mask.

"The unwritten law against a third term is a sacred compact of the living with our honored dead, and with our unborn children. It is your choice. It is for you to accept or reject forever that sacred compact. I know you will not fail."

RECORD CROWDS HEAR NOMINEES IN G. O. P. DRIVE

Democratic 29th Ward Has Big Turnout.

Republican state and county candidates started out the final week of the campaign last night before record breaking crowds at night meetings.

The most significance was attached to a 29th ward meeting in the Midwest Athletic clubhouse at Madison street and Hamlin avenue. The ward has been overwhelmingly Democratic in recent elections and for years was known as the Sweitzer-O'Brien-Horan stronghold. Therefore, the Republican candidates were startled to find an overflow crowd of 2,600 waiting to hear them.

1,300 Crowd into Hall.

Another unexpectedly large meeting developed at the Queen of Angels Guild hall at 4400 North Western avenue in the 47th ward. About 1,300 persons crowded in to hear the candidates take their turns. At the Belmont hotel in the 46th ward, at the Leyden Community High school in Franklin Park, and at the 19th Century Women's club in Oak Park the audiences also were much larger than had been expected.

The favorite topic among speakers who touched on the status of the campaign was the fact that President Roosevelt, who last July announced an attitude of aloofness, had taken the stump.

"When he saw that a poll of New York state taken by a newspaper that has always supported him showed Willkie winning he quit his so-called inspections and started making speeches that he couldn't deny were political," said Richard J. Lyons.

"I just now listened to him on the radio and he is clearly on the defensive," said Oscar F. Nelson, nominee for state's attorney.

Calls President Shocked.

"His recent awakening must have been a shock, indeed—when he saw his corrupt machines falling apart," said George F. Barrett, nominee for attorney general.

Similar shots were fired by Justus L. Johnson, nominee for secretary of state, and Hugh W. Cross, candidate for lieutenant governor.

In a radio speech earlier in the evening, Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, asserted that the Kelly-Nash machine has broken down and that straw votes taken by the machine's own pay rollers, like those taken by newspapers, forecast Republican victory.

GETS 60 DAYS IN STABBING.

Robert Kimberley, 29 years old, was sentenced yesterday to 60 days in the Bridewell after John Hughes of 6963 Anthony avenue told Judge Stephen Adamowski in Women's court that Kimberley had struck and stabbed him in front of Kimberley's residence at 1234 South Wabash avenue. Kimberley's wife was fined $1 for disorderly conduct.

NEW DEAL STILL BUYING VOTES, SAYS OREN ROOT

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Oren Root Jr., chairman of the Associated Willkie Clubs of America, charged tonight that the administration had "never hesitated to use the people's money in an effort to buy votes to keep itself in power" and would "not hesitate to do so next week."

Before departing to join the Willkie campaign train Root said in an address for delivery over the NBC Blue network that national polls indicated a close election. He urged Willkie clubs to redouble their efforts, and added:

"Do not underestimate the task that lies before us. We are up against a New Deal political machine more vast and more unscrupulous than anything which has ever existed before in history."

Root said the election would "probably be won or lost in the next seven days" and the side which converted the most of the now undecided voters would win.

REVIEW 732 PARK POLICE TODAY IN WINTER OUTFITS

The annual fall inspection of park police will be held this afternoon at the west side of Soldiers' field, Chief Roger F. Shanahan announced yesterday. The 732 policemen who will line up for the inspection in two groups—one at 2 p. m. and the other at 4:30 p. m.—will be wearing their fall uniforms, of 19 ounce dark blue whipcord with military collars. The summer uniforms, which will be put away until next year, are of 16 ounce whipcord, with open collars. Chief Shanahan also will inspect the white raincoats park police wear at night or in bad weather.

G. O. P. DEFENSE CHARGES FALSE, SAYS PRESIDENT

He Upholds His Rearming and Foreign Policy.

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Following is the text, in part, of President Roosevelt's address in Madison Square Garden here tonight.

"Tonight I take up again the public duty—the far from disagreeable duty—of answering major campaign falsifications with facts.

"Last week in Philadelphia I nailed the falsehood about some fanciful secret treaties, to dry on the barn door. I nailed that falsehood and other falsehoods the way, when I was a boy up in Dutchess county, we used to nail up the skins of foxes and weasels.

"Tonight I am going to nail up the falsifications that have to do with our relations with the rest of the world, and with the building up of our army, navy, and air defense. It is a very dangerous thing to distort facts about such things. If repeated over and over again it is also apt to create a sense of fear and doubt in the minds of some of the American people.

Denies Rearming Is Slow.

"I now brand as false the statement being made by Republican campaign orators, day after day and night after night, that the rearming of America was slow, that it is hamstrung and impeded, that it will never be able to meet threats from abroad. Those are the whisperings of appeasers.

"That particular misstatement was invented about the time of the Republican national convention. Before that the responsible Republican leaders had been singing an entirely different song. For almost seven years the Republican leaders in the congress kept on saying that I was placing too much emphasis on national defense.

"And now today these men of great vision have suddenly discovered that there is a war on in Europe and another one in Asia. And so, now, always with their eyes on the good old ballot box, they are charging that we have placed too little emphasis on national defense.

"But, unlike them, the printed pages of the Congressional Record cannot be changed or suppressed at election time. And based on that permanent record of their speeches and their votes I make this assertion—that if the Republican leaders had been in control of the congress of the United States during the last seven years the important measures for our defense would not now be law, and that the army and navy of the United States would still be in almost the same condition in which I found them in 1933.

Makes Charges Against Leaders.

"I make these charges against the responsible political leadership of the Republican party. There are millions of patriotic Republicans who have at all times been in sympathy with the efforts of this administration to arm itself adequately for defense.

"To Washington in the last few months have come, not two or three or a dozen, but several hundred of the best business executives in the United States—Republicans and Democrats alike. Not holding company lawyers or executives, but men experienced in actual production—production of all the types of machines and tools and steel that have made this nation the industrial leader of the world.

"I asked Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Stettinius and Mr. Harriman and Mr. Budd and the many others to serve because I believe they are certainly among the ablest men in the country in their own fields. I do not know their politics. I do not care about their politics. All I know is that they are coöperating 100 per cent with this administration in our efforts for national defense. And this government is coöperating with them—100 per cent.

Charges Nation Grew Weak.

"When the first world war broke out we were pretty weak, but by the end of it we were one of the strongest naval and military powers in the world. When this administration first came into office 15 years later we were one of the weakest.

"As early as 1933 the storm was gathering in Europe and in Asia. Year by year I reported the warnings of danger from our listening posts in foreign lands. But I was only called 'an alarmist' by the Republican leadership and by the great majority of the Republican papers.

"Year by year I asked for more and more defense appropriations. In addition, I allocated hundreds of millions of dollars for defense work from relief funds, from Civilian Conservation corps funds and from public works funds—as was understood by the congress when the funds were voted.

"Today our navy is at a peak of efficiency and fighting strength. Ship for ship, and man for man, it is as powerful and efficient as any that ever sailed the seas in the history of the world. Our army and our air forces are now at the highest level they have ever been in peace time. But in the light of existing dangers they are not great enough for the absolute safety of America.

Says Efforts Were Opposed.

"While this great, constructive work was going forward, the Republican leaders were trying to block our efforts toward national defense. They not only voted against these efforts; but they stated time and again thru the years that they were unnecessary and extravagant, that our armed strength was sufficient for any emergency.

"I propose now to indict these Republican leaders out of their own mouths—these leaders who now disparage our defenses—indict them with what they themselves said in the days before this election year, about how adequate our defenses already were.

"Listen to this statement for instance. I quote:

"'The facts are that we have the largest and the greatest air forces we ever had and a match for any nation.'

"Now who do you think made this statement in June, 1938? It was not I. It was not even a member of this administration. It was the ranking Republican member of the house committee on foreign affairs, Republican Leader Hamilton Fish.

Quotes Herbert Hoover.

"And now listen to ex-President Hoover speaking in that same year of 1938. I quote:

"'We shall be expending nine hundred million dollars more than any nation on earth,' he complained. 'We are leading in the arms race.'

"And now listen to Republican Leader Senator Vandenberg, also speaking in 1938. He said that our defense expenditures had already bought us [and I quote] 'An incomparably efficient navy'; and he said further 'I rise in opposition to this super-super navy bill. I do not believe it is justified by any conclusive demonstration of national necessity.'

"And now listen to Republican leader Senator Taft, the runner-up this year for the Republican Presidential nomination, speaking in February, 1940. I quote:

"'The increase of the army and navy over the tremendous appropriations of the current year seems to be unnecessary if we are concerned solely with defense.'

Calls It Somersault.

"There is the record: There is the permanent crystal clear record. Until the present political campaign opened, Republican leaders, in congress and out, shouted from the housetops that our defenses were fully adequate.

"Today they complain that this administration has starved our armed forces, that our navy is anemic, our army puny, our air forces piteously weak.

"This is a remarkable somersault.

"I wonder if the election could have something to do with it. If the Republican leaders were telling the truth in 1938, then, out of their own mouths, they stand convicted of inconsistency today. If they are not telling the truth today, then they stand convicted of inconsistency in 1938.

"The simple truth is that the Republican party played politics with defense in 1938 and 1939. They are playing politics with national security today.

Says Same Group Controls.

"The same group will still control their party policy in the congress. It is the congress which passes the laws of the United States. The record of these Republican leaders shows what a slim chance the cause of strong defense would have, if they were in control.

"Not only in their statements but in their votes is written their record of sabotage of this administration's continual efforts to increase our defenses to meet the dangers that loomed ever larger upon the horizon.

"For example, deeply concerned over what was happening in Europe, I asked the congress in January, 1938, for a naval expansion of 20 per cent—46 additional ships and 950 new planes.

"What did the Republican leaders do when they had this chance to increase our national defense almost three years ago? You would think from their present barrage of verbal pyrotechnics, that they rushed in to pass that bill, or that they even demanded a larger expansion of the navy.

Not in Campaign Then.

"But, ah! my friends, they were not in a national campaign for votes then.

"In those days, they were trying to build up a different kind of political fence.

"The plain fact is that when the naval expansion bill was submitted to the congress the Republican leaders jumped in to fight it.

"Who were they? There was the present Republican candidate for Vice President, Senator McNary. There were Senator Vandenberg and Senator Nye. There was the man who would be the chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, Congressman Fish.

"The first thing they did was to try to eliminate the battleships from the bill. The Republicans in the house voted 67 to 20 against building them; and in the senate the Republicans voted 7 to 4 against building them.

"The record is certainly clear that back in 1938 the Republican leaders were positive that we needed no more battleships. The naval expansion bill was passed, but it was passed by Democratic votes in the congress—in spite of Republican opposition.

"One more example:

"The Republican campaign orators and leaders are all now yelling 'Me, too' on help to Britain. But last fall they had their chance to vote to give aid to Britain and other democracies—and they turned it down.

Repeal of Embargo.

"This chance came when I recommended that the congress repeal the embargo on the shipment of armaments and munitions to nations at war, and permit such shipments on a 'cash-and-carry basis.' It is only because of the repeal of the embargo law that we have been able to sell planes and ships and guns and munitions to victims of aggression.

"How did the Republicans vote on the repeal of this embargo?

"In the senate the Republicans voted 14 to 6 against it. In the house the Republicans voted 140 to 19 against it.

"The act was passed by Democratic votes but it was over the opposition of the Republican leaders. And just to name a few, the following Republican leaders voted against the act—Senators McNary, Vandenberg, Nye, and Johnson; Congressmen Martin, Barton, and Fish.

"Great Britain would never have received an ounce of help from us—if the decision had been left to Martin, Barton, and Fish.

Says He Seeks Peace.

"For eight years our main concern has been to look for peace and the preservation of peace.

"I ask you to support a continuance of this type of affirmative, realistic fight for peace. The alternative is to risk the future of the country in the hands of those with this record of timidity, weakness and short sightedness or in the inexperienced hands of those who in these perilous days, are willing recklessly to imply that our boys are already on their way to the transports."

Outstanding Women Indorse Willkie for President

Five of ten outstanding women editors, writers, and artists who have given indorsements of candidacy of Wendell Willkie. CO-ORDINATING GROUP SURVEYS WORK FOR G. O. P.

20,000 Workers Placed in Eight Weeks.

The Illinois Republican Coördinating committee surveyed yesterday the work it has done for the cause of Wendell L. Willkie and an honest election on Nov. 5.

In less than eight weeks the committee has recruited more than 20,000 volunteer workers and has trained them for specialized duties to help the national, state and county Republican committees, ward organizations, ward committeemen, independent groups and Associated Willkie clubs.

Lists Work of Committee.

Perry John TenHoor, chairman of the committee, listed a few of its outstandin gaccomplishments:

Arranged lectures at which 400 speakers addressed 50,000 factory employés and 25,000 other persons at clubs and other meetings.

Distributed 1,500,000 Willkie and other Republican buttons, placards and pieces of literature.

Canvassed nearly 100 hotels and apartment buildings during the registration and induced approximately 10,000 persons who had not intended to vote, to register.

Obtained 1,200 signed promises from citizens to lend their automobiles or time on election day to assist citizens to vote.

Arranged for between 4,000 and 5,000 watchers to serve at the polls on election day.

Teacher Trains Speakers.

All the work has been voluntary, TenHoor said. Sam Bartlett, a voice and speech teacher from Hollywood, helped train many of the committee's 400 speakers. Nearly 2,100 stenographers and typists helped prepare literature, address envelopes, answer switchboards and do other clerical work. The committee was organized Aug. 15 under plans made by Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman from Illinois.

DEWEY ASSAILS U. S. DEFENSES AS OF 1898 VINTAGE

Army Less than One-fourth Ready, He Declares.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 28.—An old fashioned house cleaning in Washington, D. C., is assured with the inauguration of the next President of the United States—Wendell Willkie. This assurance was voiced here tonight by Thomas E. Dewey, New York prosecutor.

"There will be a heavy outward bound movement of incompetents, undesirables, communists, near communists, and crystal gazers," said Dewey. "We probably could balance the budget next year by charging a ten cent fee to watch the whole exodus.

"In this pleasanter picture of the days to come, we also can look forward with real pride to the election of the Republican officers you will place in Springfield and in Washington.

"In public life the only way we have to judge men is by what they have done and by what we know they will do. By that standard I know that you will this year place in the state house in Springfield and in the United States senate my good friends, Dwight Green and Wayland Brooks.

Have Kept Their Oaths.

"Here are two men who kept every oath of office they ever took—men who lived thru the troublous times of Al Capone, times which required courage and integrity, times when men of lesser stamina yielded, weakened, and slipped into oblivion. These men stood up and fought. They fought successfully for the people of Illinois. You know you can rely upon them to continue that fight when they become Gov. Green and Senator Brooks.

"I have said that in our system we can judge candidates for public office only by what they have done and by what we know they will do.

"We have now had eight years to study the value of the public pledges of the third term candidate for President. He says now that he will keep us out of war. He says now that he will give us an adequate national defense. In the light of his record of broken pledges, I ask you this question: Can we expect him to keep these latest pledges?

Looking for Illinois Plant.

"We can get our first inkling of what we may expect from his stories of armament plant inspections in politically doubtful states—those nonpolitical inspections. The newspapers report that the third term candidate is now looking for a plant to inspect in the state of Illinois. I wonder why that inspection has to be before Nov. 5.

"I hope at some time during that visit to your state, if he makes it, the third term candidate will take the opportunity to explain why it took him nearly eight years to develop any interest in plants and production in the United States.

"Most particularly, as he drives by Rantoul field on this so-called inspection, and finds the few and ageing airplanes that will be there, I hope he will explain why it took him eight years to develop any interest in the army air force.

"As we now know, our whole military equipment is largely 'on order.' What we have on hand is little more than an incomplete assortment of worn out samples. We all know that the responsibility for this condition rests squarely on the third term candidate who now frantically cries for speed.

His Last Emergency.

"Thru his budget bureau he has year after year denied army demands as the need grew greater and greater. Thru his sterile philosophy of defeatism Mr. Roosevelt has driven our industrial plant down and down. Thus he has created this—his worst and, I hope, his last emergency.

"Let me now discuss with you why we need a man who can see danger signals and will prepare our defenses in time and not on order.

"On Jan. 30, 1933, Adolf Hitler came to power in Germany. On March 4, 1933, Franlkin Roosevelt became President of the United States.

"Later in that very year the chief of staff of the United States army, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, stated in his annual report: 'In the obvious state of unrest now prevailing thruout the world, evidences of which are plainly visible even in our own country . . . the army strength in personnel and material and its readiness for employment are below the danger line. I consider it of the most urgent importance to the United States that this condtion be rectified without delay.'

Warning 7 Years Old.

"There, seven years ago, was the warning by the head of the army of the gathering dangers of a world menaced by war.

"Three years later the forces of violent aggression had turned to military conquest. We saw Germany reoccupy the Rhineland, Italy conquer Ethiopia, Spain burst into civil war and the announcement of the Rome-Berlin axis. What had been done here, to prepare the defenses of America?

"Gen. Malin Craig, who had succeeded Gen. MacArthur as chief of staff, tells us. In the annual report of the army for that year—1936—he said: 'We may describe' the armies of other countries 'as a finished machine, ready for instant use . . . In contrast, ours is an unfinished and unassembled machine. Some of its parts are not in existence, some exist as rough forgings, others in semi-finished form. Only a few are in a condition for immediate use.'

"There is the record, three years wasted—three years of warning ignored by the third term candidate who preferred to wage his private political wars at home. By 1936 the world had become an armed camp. And America was defenseless amidst the forces of aggression. Did Franklin Roosevelt take heed at last? Let us see what happened the next year.

"We know we have few airplanes, few modern rifles and only enough tanks for one Presidential inspection. But no matter how many tanks we may get, or rifles we make, they still are no good without gunpowder. How do we stand on that score, after months of war in Europe? Listen to the words of the executive assistant to the secretary of war, Col. James H. Burns. On June 4, 1940, he testified that our present capacity for the manufacture of smokeless powder is at most 'some 25 million pounds per year.' Whereas in the world war we reached the capacity of 'one billion pounds per year.'

97½ Per Cent Decline.

"In other words, the New Deal leaves us with our capacity for the manufacture of powder at just 1-40th—that is 2½ per cent of what it was in the world war. And that was before the Hercules powder plant blew up in Kenvil, N. J.

"Think where we would be if this third term effort should succeed.

"His secretary of war gives the answer. In 1937, Mr. Harry Woodring said in his annual report: 'The United States army is relatively weaker, compared with armies of other great countries, than it was a year ago.'

"There it is, on the record. We were making rapid progress backward, but even then Mr. Roosevelt did not, would not learn. The progress backward continued.

"Two years later, in September, 1939, the European war broke out in all its fury. At that time, Gen. George C. Marshall, then chief of staff, reported:

"'The army machine is probably less than 25 per cent ready for immediate action.'

"There, in brief summery is the disgraceful record of this administration. If this be the indispensable foresight of the indispensable man, then let us have just the common sense of a competent man.

"Now. Let's look at the air force of the army.

Twelve Die for Politics.

"When Franklin Roosevelt came to power he took over the most advanced country in the world in the field of aviation.

"The New Deal had not been in office 30 days before it started to meddle with the aviation industry. I need not retell the shocking story of the cancellation of air mail contracts—that cancellation without one scintilla of proof of fraud, for the sole purpose of trying to smear the previous administration.

"With careless abandon Mr. Roosevelt ordered the army to carry the air mail—a job for which it was neither trained nor equipped. And in that job 12 young officers in the United States army were killed. They were soldiers who died, not in battle for their country; they died under orders, carrying out one of the dirtier pieces of New Deal politics.

"That's the kind of thing we are fighting against in this campaign.

"Now, how about 1935? That was the year Adolf Hitler served notice on the world that Germany demanded her former colonies and Goering boasted of the menacing might of the Nazi air power.

"What did the third term candidate do then? Did he increase our army air corps? With 1,650 officers authorized and the money appropriated by congress, did Mr. Roosevelt ask for more? He didn't even have the 1,650. He actually cut the number from 1,307 to 1,226.

"How about 1936? The conquest of Ethiopia and the Spanish civil war saw command of the air assume major significance in modern warfare.

"What did the third term candidate do? He reduced the number of air corps officers again, and furthermore congress had granted him authority to call out 1,350 reserve pilots in the army, but he failed to use the authority.

"Well, was any of this indispensable vision displayed in 1937? In that year Adolf Hitler finally tore up the Versailles treaty, both partners of the axis demanded the return of the German colonies, and the Japanese-Chinese war came out into the open.

Busy Fighting Supreme Court.

"And where was the third term candidate then? He was busy fighting his private battle against the American system of government—against the Supreme Court of the United States. Meanwhile, the actual strength of the air corps officers was left at only 77 per cent of the authorized total.

"What about 1938? That was the year the Nazis took Austria and Czecho-Slovakia. Goering's airplanes were dominating Europe. That was the year of Munich. That was the year when the congress of the United States authorized an increase in the number of air corps officers from 1,650 to 2,092. And what did the third term candidate do? He left the officers of the air force at only 62 per cent of authorized strength.

"What happened in 1939? In a few short days, the Nazi air force blasted its way to the conquest of Poland—a nation of 30 million people. Soviet Russia increased its war budget 66 per cent over the preceding year. Japan adopted the largest budget in the nation's history—and 64 per cent of that budget was for war. And where was the third term candidate? He began the year by solemnly telling the congress that 'no responsible officer' would advocate developing our air forces to match those of 'certain other nations.' And he left the officers of the army air corps at only 74 per cent of authorized strength.

"This administration has failed our people in a time of crisis. It has failed in its highest duty—the defense of the United States of America.

'We must throw off the incompetence of the present administration. We must again have leadership confident of the nation's destiny."

Country Squire in the White House By John T. Flynn

VIII.—THE NEW DEAL—SECOND EDITION.

Before it is possible to understand what happened now, it is necessary to take note of two powerful influences in public thinking. One was quite new; the other, quite old.

The first was the movement for what was being called a planned society. It originated with men who were devoted either to the socialist theory of economic organization or were strongly influenced by it.

It was based upon the assumption that society had permitted itself to become the helpless and unresisting victim of economic forces and laws; that our country possessed unrivaled resources for supplying almost all our needs; that we had the technological skills, the raw materials and a people capable of using these to give abundance to all; that we did not have abundance because we did not sit down together and consider the means by which abundance might be produced.

Can't Compel Investment.

To this kind of reasoning there is, of course, no answer. It was simply a question of what kind of plan should be undertaken, who should do the planning and for what purpose.

Unfortunately many of those who played with this idea got the notion that planning in a capitalistic system could be achieved like planning in a collectivist system, where blueprints for industry in the future could be made and laws and regulations governing the behavior of individuals could be set up, with controls on prices, production, the organization of industry. What they overlooked was that the planning authority could not compel individuals to invest their money, could not enforce investment, which is the dynamic function in the capitalist system.

Into Washington on the wave of the crisis there swarmed a large group of earnest men, apostles of this school of the planned society.

The other movement was akin to this, yet wholly different. As the planning movement stemmed from the Left, this movement had its origin on the Right.

For many years businessmen were afflicted by what they called overproduction. In almost every industry, enterprisers were producing more goods than they could sell. This always has been true in our present economic system, but it became more serious as our resources increased and the physical machinery and financial credit for utilizing them were perfected.

As far back as 1870, in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, the producers found they could pump more oil than they could sell. This brought down prices. They therefore decided that the remedy was to produce less oil and keep prices up. It is entirely possible that this conviction has been the most potent single principle of action in American economic society during the last 70 years.

It is a very natural thing for a man in business to feel that he would be more prosperous if there were not so many in competition with him. It is easy to understand that the average manufacturer will think that he can get a better price, and hence make a larger profit, if he can introduce a little scarcity into his production.

The first means of attaining this objective was thru trade associations. They were organized to bring together producers in the same industry, to reduce production and to keep up prices and to make it more difficult for others to come into the industry and hence to compete with them. The idea spread to every trade—even to labor unions that sought to limit apprenticeships so as to check the flow of new recruits into their trades.

The next phase of this was thru industrial combinations and corporate monopolies. Always it was the effort of producers to control production, to limit it in order to keep up prices, to produce scarcity in the interest of higher prices and profits.

It is useless to quarrel with this. Apparently it is in the very order of human nature that men, moved by self-interest, will act this way. The antitrust laws were adopted to check this very thing.

"Self-Rule in Industry."

After the world war this movement, which up to then had been looked upon as lawless, began to put on the vestments of respectability under the name of "self-rule in industry." The objective was to weaken the enforcement of the antitrust laws, to change those laws, to modify them, to suspend them in order to enable business groups to get together, limit production and raise prices. But the agreements were also made to include such things as the enterpriser's right to produce and to price his goods as he saw fit; to include, indeed, a man's right to expand his business or go into a new business.

The central thesis of these men was that we produced too much and that this abundance ruined prices, and their central objective was to keep down production.

To a mind unaccustomed to thinking about these things, it was easy to confuse the objectives of the planners with the objectives of the self-rule-in-industry groups. And one of the most amazing spectacles in our history is the manner in which, in those first days of the New Deal, the apostles of planning for abundance and the protagonists of planning for scarcity united under Roosevelt to produce the NRA.

The NRA was called planning. The planners of all sorts hailed it—the chamber of commerce and the left wingers, the champions of abundance and the champions of scarcity.

It was possible only because Franklin D. Roosevelt himself had never thought about these things.

NRA and Corporative State.

It is impossible here to trace the history of the NRA. The strange feature about it is that while all the liberals were hailing it as a "revolution" it actually followed a plan which had been advocated for years by business men. A committee of 100 made up of big business men tried to get Hoover to adopt such a plan and Hoover had refused.

The plan pleased business because it gave them the right to make the laws, the rules, and regulations governing their various provinces of industry. It pleased labor because it was supposed to give them the right to collective bargaining.

Actually it was almost precisely the organization of society which the fascist states have set up under the name of the corporative state. That is a system in which the laws governing the economic society are made by corporatives, as they are called in Italy—trade associations, as we call them here. These associations decide on production, prices, terms of competition. Relations between labor and employers are governed by these corporatives, acting with labor unions.

Thus in the steel industry the right to make the laws governing steel was put in the hands of the American Iron and Steel institute. So it was thruout industry. The liberal groups would have torn a Republican administration to bits for attempting so grave a surrender of popular rights into the hands of business men.

Works Under Dictatorship.

Why, then, did business men fight it? They did not at first. They hailed it. But as time went on one serious fact emerged clearly. That this kind of a system, to succeed, calls for a ruthless enforcement effective in a democratic society. The chief weakness of the system is that it can be made to work only under a dictatorship. That is why it works in Italy and Germany but fell apart here because compliance was impossible.

The NRA was failing of itself when the Supreme court knocked it out. This decision was not a five-to-four one. It was unanimous—Brandeis, Stone, Cardozo concurring. The reason assigned is of tremendous importance—that this act was an abdication by congress of its function to make laws for the economic society—an abdication to the President and the code authorities.

The NRA, as a chapter in political government, becomes plain only when you understand the man who made it possible—President Roosevelt. The man who had denounced Hoover for regimentation, who attacked the Republicans for not enforcing the antitrust laws, who had proclaimed his devotion to freedom of enterprise and to the traditions, without making any explanation proceeded to suspend the antitrust laws and establish the most comprehensive system of regimentation ever devised.

While at the same time proclaiming his devotion to democracy, he adopted a plan borrowed from the corporative state of Italy and sold it to all the liberals as a great liberal revolutionary triumph.

Indeed it is very difficult to explain the strange complacence of the various liberal groups in the presence of the President's surrender to some of the worst elements in that so-called big business that they had so mercilessly attacked.

The President was incessantly busy conferring appointments, authority, honors on leading reactionary and conservative figures one week and then passing out appointments, orders, and indorsing measures for the Left Wingers the next week. If he approved an act to regulate the stock exchanges [the SEC] to please the liberal and progressive groups, he appointed a Wall street speculator, Joseph Kennedy, as the head of the commission and literally paralyzed its functions to please the conservative groups.

As it happened, the conservative groups were more sapient, more experienced apparently and more realistic than the liberal groups. They were quick to see that the President was kidding them a little. But whatever the liberals and conservatives thought about it, the final result was that the President literally got nothing important done.

HOODLUMS DAUB DEMOCRAT SIGNS ON PARKED CARS

A crew of six men armed with mucilage pots last night plastered Roosevelt-Hershey stickers on every parked car within several blocks of the 202d armory, 5917 Broadway, where a Democratic meeting was in progress. In some instances the unwanted Roosevelt stickers landed right next to Willkie ones. The neighborhood is largely Republican.

Four policemen from Summerdale station which is headed by Capt. Charles McGurn, were on duty outside the armory. They said they hadn't seen the vandals at work. Bystanders, however, within a few feet of the policemen, had.

2 HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHTERS IN RING FOR PROSECUTOR

Sketches of Courtney and Judge Nelson.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Thomas J. Courtney [top] and Judge Oscar F. Nelson.

Two experienced heavyweight battlers of the political arena will fight it out Nov. 5 for the title of state's attorney of Cook county and a salary of $15,000 a year for four years. In one corner, the titleholder for eight years, Thomas J. Courtney, Democrat, weight 200. In the other corner the challenger, Judge Oscar F. Nelson, Republican, weight 210.

State's Attorney Courtney became famed as the floor leader of the Democratic minority in the Illinois senate which upset plans of former Gov. Len Small. Nelson's aggressive personality flourished when he was city council floor leader for a former Republican mayor.

Courtney A Newsboy.

Tom Courtney, son of a Chicago policeman, sold papers to help fill the slender purse supporting the family. There were six sisters. Graduated in 1912—he was 16—from St. Rita's High school, he worked for more than a year at the stockyards and in a loop stationer's office.

From 1913 to 1927, with time out for navy duty, he was a civil service employé of the city, first as secretary to Police Captain Max Nootbaar, and later as principal clerk and sergeant at arms of the city council.

Courtney studied law at night during this time so that in 1927 he could become counsel for the committee on building and zoning, which yielded more valuable experience in public problems.

The same year, at the age of 31, he was elected to the state senate. He speedily forged to the front in the lawmaking body and when the sessions opened in 1930 was chosen floor leader of the Democrats.

Re-elected in 1936.

His second four year term as state senator was cut short when he was elected state's attorney in 1932 after a hot campaign with John A. Swanson. His reëlection was by an overwhelming majority in 1936.

Courtney, still called "senator" by some close friends, seldom goes into courtrooms, on the theory that "generals don't lead charges in modern warfare." His first big effort was to speed the trial of criminal cases.

He is proud of the fact that Chicago's automobile theft rate of 97 cars a day has been reduced to about eight a day, and that he induced insurance companies to cut the theft insurance rates by 64 per cent in Chicago.

Courtney also is proud of progress made against arson rings and labor racketeers. To the latter he has devoted his most prominent attention during the current campaign.

Courtney was married at the age of 23 to Miss Kathryn Foley. They have a daughter and live at 7958 Green street.

Nelson Born in 1884.

Oscar F. Nelson, who was born in Chicago in 1884, 12 years before Courtney, also got an uphill start in life. When he was 9 years old his father died, leaving him and his brother to support the family. He sold papers and left school at 13 to work for a loop department store.

Five years later, in 1902, he got a job as a postoffice clerk which started him on the road to labor leadership. In 1903 he helped to organize the Postal Clerks' union, immediately being elected president, a position he held until 1910. In that year he was boosted to the national presidency and was made legislative delegate.

In this capacity he represented his group in Washington, D. C., and aided in bringing about an eight hour day for postal clerks.

Known as Union Spokesman.

Becoming widely known as a spokesman of labor unions thru his appearances before congress, in 1913 he won the appointment of chief state factory inspector.

Like Courtney, Nelson studied law at nights. He was admitted to the bar in 1922, at the age of 38. The following year he began his long aldermanic career as a Democrat. Later he became a Republican, representing the 46th ward and a former G. O. P. mayor on the council floor.

He fought the 1925 traction ordinance, championed the legislation for straightening of the river, and sponsored many projects calculated to win support of the labor element.

Elected in Coalition.

In 1935 he was named as a coalition candidate for Superior court judge with the support of leaders of both parties and was elected for a term expiring next year.

Nelson was vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor for 25 years. This office and the fact that as an attorney he has been deep in the affairs of a number of unions have kept him in the front of union affairs most of the time.

For a while he was president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union. At another time he was indicted at Courtney's instigation for taking part in an alleged racket conspiracy; Nelson and 17 co-defendants were freed by the courts.

Named in Taylor Statement.

More recently he was named in the deathbed statement of Mathew Taylor as having had a hand in the transfer of the Elevator Operators' union to the Building Service Employës' International union headed by George Scalise.

Such charges Judge Nelson does not hesitate to lay to the spitework of political rivalry and opposition to the labor union movement.

Judge Nelson's home is at 3500 Lake Shore drive. Last spring he purchased an addition to his farm land in the Grays lake region. He has two married daughters and a son 20 years old.

[A sketch on candidates for United States senator will appear in an early issue.]

RECALLS UPSET OF GRANT'S DRIVE FOR THIRD TERM

An eyewitness account of the thrilling manner in which a third term movement 60 years ago was stopped summarily was told in a letter received yesterday by a Chicagoan from a man who sat in the press stand at the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1880.

It came from Col. Charles A. Reynolds, now a resident of Albuquerque, N. M. He is a veteran of the Spanish war, the Philippine insurrection, and the world war, and was governor of Albay province in the Philippines for several years. He is 84 years old, but his memory of the details of the squelching of the third term movement for President Grant is clear.

"The plan of the Grant supporters," he wrote, "was to have the unit rule adopted. They believed that would effect Grant's renomination. United States Senator Roscoe Conkling of New York led the fight for the Grant forces, opening the debate for adoption of the unit rule.

"Conkling was a brilliant statesman and resourceful politician. He made an exhaustive and powerful argument in support of the unit rule. It was estimated there were 10,000 onlookers in the galleries. Whenever Conkling, by name or otherwise, referred to Grant, there was much, sometimes prolonged, applause.

"Grant was still the idol of the people. Once Conkling referred to him, saying, 'If you ask whence comes my candidate, my sole reply shall be that he comes from Appomattox and the famous apple tree.' The galleries went wild."

Conkling Answered by Garfield.

Senator Conkling, chairman of the New York delegation, was replied to by Gen. James A. Garfield, chairman of the Ohio delegation, a United States representative, and United States senator-elect.

"Gen. Garfield arose in his place at the head of his delegation, but the galleries demanded he mount a chair that he might be better seen and heard," the letter continued. "He did so. I recall the opening sentence of his argument.

"It was: 'I fear the convention is about to commit a grave and serious blunder,' and he proceeded to show wherein the danger lay, quoting from Washington and Jefferson and others who divined in a third and further terms the creation of dictatorship, a menace to democracy.

Cheers Punctuate Warning.

"Gen. Garfield was often interrupted by salvos of cheers from the galleries. Plainly the galleries were on his side. When he finished and took his seat, the galleries prolongedly applauded and even shouted their approval of his sentiments.

"When the vote was taken the unit rule was defeated. The third term undertaking was as dead as a doornail. The galleries went almost mad with delight. The gavel had no effect on them. A typhoon of joy and rejoicing reigned and a recess had to be taken to restore order.

"Grant was defeated for nomination. Garfield, not a candidate, was chosen. His speech did it.

"The paramount issue in the present campaign is the third term. Otherwise there is no paramount issue. No other issue is big enough."

SUES FOR LIQUOR LICENSE TO TEST CITY SALES CURB

The question of constitutionality of the city ordinance which will prohibit the sale of packaged liquor by retailers whose principal business is derived from merchandise other than liquor was raised yesterday in a mandamus suit filed in Circuit court. The suit asks that the city be compelled to issue a liquor license to Nicholas Bode, who operates a store at 7024 Clark street. The ordinance, which becomes effective Friday, restricts the sale of liquor for home consumption to taverns, liquor stores, bowling alleys, restaurants, clubs, and hotels.

ADMITS SLAYING GASOLINE DEALER IN DEBT DISPUTE

Harold Rose.

Harold Rose, 25 years old, a parking lot employé, last night confessed to Capt. Herbert Burns of the Irving Park station that he killed Herman Klees, 66, of 3808 Olcott avenue, last Tuesday during a quarrel in the latter's gas station at 7951 Addison street. Rose, who lives at the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue, said he had gone to the station to discuss payment of money he owed Klees and that he struck the gasoline dealer with a pipe when Klees threatened him with a razor.

WEEK IN, WEEK OUT, each issue of LIFE wins a total audience of *more than 20,000,000 readers—a greater number of people than have voted for any but two of our 31 Presidents in 151 years of our history.

This is more people than ever before have read each issue of any magazine. And it is no flash-in-the-pan performance—no matter of chance.

For LIFE consistently offers what millions of Americans today have a positive, urgent hunger for—illuminating, understandable, helpful information about the breath-taking world in which they live.

This LIFE does with its unique picture-and-word editorial technique—reporting, interpreting, clarifying in a vigorous way that makes truth and reality fresh, easy to grasp, and fascinating.

That is why millions are eager to pay out more money for LIFE than is paid out for any other magazine. And it is why these millions like to pass LIFE on to millions more to see, read, and absorb.

It is the reason why LIFE has become so solidly established as a necessity of modern American living—and the most potent marketing force in America.

When we say "Yes"—it's Sold!

We're modern women—as modern as the cars we drive and depend on daily. And we have as decisive a say as our husbands in the selection of a new family car. We use it often and know what we want. The car we pick must suit our needs as well as our fancy.

We choose a newspaper in much the same way—to suit our needs as modern women, wives and mothers. We need a balanced newspaper. Even though some of us have jobs in business or the professions, our main jobs are our families and homes. Shopping, planning meals, entertaining—these are just a few of the duties that keep us busy. That's why we turn to a balanced newspaper like The New York Sun for helpful news and advertising.

The Sun keeps us informed of man's world as well as women's. And in these exciting times it's more important to us than ever because it makes the news make sense. The Sun's daily story of the world helps us talk intelligently about the war and taxes, U. S. strategy in the Pacific and the automotive industry's part in national defense. It's complete, accurate, helpful. It's balanced.

No wonder the Sun is in our homes each evening. It's not just our paper—it's our family paper. We depend upon it.

The Sun
NEW YORK
WESTERN OFFICE: 180 NORTH MICHIGAN AVE., CHICAGO

Out of every $1,000 spent for automobiles in New York City, $740 is spent by the top 25% of New York's families. The Sun's growing circulation is concentrated in this profit group. For the 6 months ended September 30, 1940, The Sun's report to the Audit Bureau of Circulations showed 312,112 average daily net paid circulation—a gain of 16,305 over the same period in 1939 and the greatest circulation for any corresponding period in The Sun's history!

THE CAMPAIGN Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

War Fear Uniting Nation Against Third Term.

(Provided by the National Committee of Democrats for Willkie.)

The fear that under Mr. Roosevelt we are drifting toward war and some form of dictatorship is uniting the American people in a common effort to protect themselves and their children against these evils.

The national unity for which Wendell Willkie is earnestly crusading becomes a more solid unity day by day—as the people realize the dangers to our nation in Mr. Roosevelt's grasp for continued power.

Joining together "for the common defense" are millions of Americans—Democrats and Republicans, citizens of various racial strains, labor and employers of labor, communicants of different faiths. As Americans who cherish democracy, who are determined that their sons shall not fight on foreign soil, they stand shoulder to shoulder against the so-called "indispensable man" in the White House.

They know that his impulsive nature is fraught with peril to us all in these hours of world crisis. They know he has failed to build up our defenses to the point of safety despite his eight years of unprecedented authority. And they know what power and still more power does to the mind of any man, no matter how plausible or well intentioned he may be.

NO THIRD TERM!
DEMOCRATS FOR WILLKIE

A Plea from Brooklyn.

One of the most convincing indictments of Mr. Roosevelt's third term grab was reprinted in this column recently—the statement of Father James M. Gillis, editor of The Catholic World.

Like hundreds of clergymen of every faith, Father Gillis knows the menace to religion and education in undemocratic forms of government.

Commenting on Father Gillis' eloquent plea to his fellow Americans to refuse Mr. Roosevelt a third term, The Brooklyn Tablet, Catholic weekly of the diocese of Brooklyn, said this on Sunday:

"Father Gillis was never one to pussyfoot. Few men hold the respect of Catholic and non-Catholics alike for culture, erudition, directness of speech, sincerity and for courage as does Father Gillis. His words must have a tremendous effect upon public opinion at this crucial time in our nation's history.

"Dictatorship is in the air. The whole nature of American democracy is opposed to any such ideas.

Principle of Diffused Power.

"Our nation is founded on the principle of diffusion of political power as against concentration of political power. A third term for any President tends to destroy the democratic ideal of diffusion of power and to build up the totalitarian ideal of concentration of power in the hands of one all-powerful man.

"The popular will to peace can best be maintained when power is diffused. It can be ruthlessly disregarded if the decision between war and peace is placed in the hands of any one man, especially when that man's will is unpredictable."

Every loyal, patriotic American—whatever his faith—can say 'Amen' to this.

ROOSEVELT [plus] THIRD TERM [equals] WAR.

DEMOCRATIC.

"Hate" Campaign Reveals Itself.

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

One of the unfortunate by-products of the Presidential race is the malicious and frenzied character of the hate Roosevelt campaign.

President Roosevelt.

Four years ago it was intense. This year it has burst out of the underground pipes and drains, which normally carry such pollution, into the open.

The Republicans in Pennsylvania plastered the state with billboards urging the public to "save the church—vote the straight Republican ticket."

Seven ministers of the gospel, some of them Republicans, immediately denounced this foul and sinister attempt to drag religion thru the back door into the mire of dirty politics.

A Noteworthy Service.

These clergymen performed a noteworthy public service. The Republicans made frantic efforts to hide their guilt but they could NOT dodge responsibility. The Republican national committee has encouraged and inflamed this sort of campaigning. From the beginning it has trundled out bales of literature charging the administration with harboring alien influences and seeking to destroy America.

One Republican document listed Earl Browder, top man of the communists, among those supporting President Roosevelt for reëlection. False, of course.

Browder was convicted and sentenced to jail by the federal government for falsifying his passport. He charged the Roosevelt administration was railroading him for political purposes. Wendell Willkie practically said the same thing.

How can Willkie's defense of Browder be reconciled with the literature put out by the Republican national committee?

Flynn Cites Record.

In a recent address Chairman Edward J. Flynn of the Democratic national committee summed up just a small part of the undercover campaign against the President. He said:

"A flood of scurrilous literature prepared by high-powered character assassins attacking President Roosevelt and his family is pouring over the nation on a scale unknown, perhaps, since Lincoln's time.

"The financial floodgates have been opened and the country is deluged with literally millions of copies of the most unfair, unscrupulous, and vicious pamphlets ever circulated in this 'hate Roosevelt' campaign.

"The President is openly called a 'dictator' and his administration is described as the 'fifth column.' In some of these screeds he is likened to Hitler, Stalin, and the most bloody tyrants of history."

There is no way to curb or halt this poisonous stream. Its purpose is to enflame the deepest emotions and passions.

This stuff is circulated against a President who ranks with Lincoln as one of the great humanitarians of modern times. This undercover campaign will defeat itself.

Sidelights

The 2% Club: A Simple Device

BY OBSERVER.

The two per cent club is a simple device which has raised political campaign fund shakedowns to a new height. It has been attacked in the press, in courts, and in legislatures, but it continues with its tenacious theme: "Two per cent of your pay, or else . . ."

Paul V. McNutt.

Paul V. McNutt, now social security administrator for the nation by appointment of President Roosevelt, originated the scheme when he became governor of Indiana in 1933. Since then the Indiana 2 per cent take has been $150,000 a year, according to Pleas Greenlee, who was patronage and 2 per cent secretary for McNutt.

McNutt defended the shakedown, declaring that it was fairer to state employés to collect two per cent a month than to crack down for lump sum contributions just before elections. Last April, after $1,400,000 had been collected, income tax agents served notice on Bowman Elder, treasurer of the club for five years, to prove that he does not owe $233,000 in income tax, interest, and penalties.

Legalized in Indiana.

The Indiana legislature legalized the plan in 1937 and changed its name to the Hoosier Democratic club. This removed the scheme from the scope of the corrupt practice act.

Illinois Democrats saw endless political revenue in the plan and adopted it. The Illinois Iroquois League, Inc., was created in 1936 with potential receipts estimated at $500,000 a year if the levy could be enforced upon all civil service state employés, as well as the more vulnerable noncivil service workers.

The two per cent club was reformed as the Illinoisans, not incorporated, to escape income tax laws. Under this name it still functions. The amount of collections can't be ascertained since no reports are made to the public, nor to the pay rollers who kick in.

Some Changes Forced.

Headquarters of the Illinoisans were established in the St. Nicholas hotel, Springfield. Collectors were sent out. Often they were regular state employés relieved of other duties to visit state institutions and take in the two per cent.

Publicity forced the two percenters to make a few changes. After the state's attorney of Will county questioned a collector who called at the state prison, the field men set up quarters in hotels near institutions and sent word to the pay rollers to visit there.

The Civil Service Protective association instituted a hearing before the state civil service commission. After that civil service employés had a respite from collections. Lieut. Gov. John Stelle promised an end to collections when he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. Now that he is governor the word is out that "loyalty" is demanded for security of position.

LYONS BLAMES TRACTION DELAY ON CITY MACHINE

Accuses Kelly and Nash of Passing Buck.

The Kelly-Nash machine, instead of obtaining the long promised modernization of transit lines for Chicago's car riders, has passed the buck to the federal government, Richard J. Lyons, former state representative, charged in a radio talk last night.

Lyons said Mayor Kelly delayed the purchase of a fleet of new street cars and buses for at least four years by throwing overboard Chicago's transit improvement plans as they were nearing completion in 1936.

Charging that the Kelly-Nash machine is more interested in playing politics than in helping car riders, Lyons quoted Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe as saying at a court hearing last month that "the city council is quite willing and content that this court shall run the street car systems in Chicago."

Suggests Government Take Over.

Lyons suggested that Mayor Kelly stop making a pretense of trying to help the car riders and simply let the federal government take over.

"The Public Works administration told Chicago how to build its subway and now has two federal experts in Chicago telling Kelly and his council how a new traction franchise should be written," he said.

"The federal loan agency is being asked by Mayor Kelly to lend 53 million dollars for transit improvements. As part of this loan federal officials have the right to name any and all conditions in Chicago's franchise.

"No wonder the car riders have been the goat—they have been tossed back and forth between the New Deal with its Ickes plan for Chicago's transportation and the Kelly-Nash machine, which has played politics with the car riders by preventing the spending of their cash for new cars, by spending huge sums of their money for a useless subway, and by making an 8 cent fare inevitable and then hushing it up from the public."

30 Million Fund Cited.

Lyons said the surface lines have 30 million dollars in cash that could be spent for streamlined street cars and buses, but Mayor Kelly and the city council won't let the lines spend the money until they get a unification franchise.

He said Mayor Kelly, after going along for two years with a plan to reorganize the street car lines so they could buy new equipment, suddenly tossed this plan overboard in 1936.

Lyons' talk was the sixth in a series of eight on "Politics Behind Chicago's Traction and Subway Muddle." The talks are broadcast Mondays and Fridays at 6:45 p. m.

BANKER'S SON, 11, CYCLES INTO PATH OF TRAIN; KILLED

David Schulze, 11 years old, was killed yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the path of a North Western train at the Graceland avenue crossing in Des Plaines. He was the son of Edwin H. Schulze of Hawthorne lane, Des Plaines, vice president of the First National bank in the suburb. Police said a watchman was on duty at the crossing. They reported, however, that the boy's view was obscured by an automobile which had stopped to wait for the train to pass. Police Chief E. H. Drexler ordered an investigation.

A CANDIDACY WITHOUT WINDOW DRESSING.

A year ago if the thousand best informed and most sagacious political observers in the country had been asked to name the Republican candidate of 1940 it is highly improbable that any of them would have suggested Wendell Willkie. He was known widely and respected as a lawyer, business man, and student of public affairs, but he was not regarded as "available." A man is deemed available when he thinks he has some kind of a chance to get the nomination. Mr. Willkie as recently as a year ago was not "available" in the political meaning of the word. Until a few weeks before the Philadelphia convention he did not regard himself as a candidate for the Presidency or any other office.

The significance of that fact ought not to be overlooked. Every Presidential year produces its dark horse candidates, but they are almost without exception men who for a long period of time have regarded themselves as "available." Over the years they have been looking ahead to the Presidency as a goal and their every act and every expression of opinion have been colored by their ambition.

They will have been careful, for example, to set themselves right with various racial and religious minorities. If eligible, they will have joined the American Legion and similar organizations. They will have made a record of friendliness to a maximum number of citizens and of opposition to a minimum number. They will have missed no opportunity to put themselves forward in as favorable a light as possible, against the day when the lightning might strike.

Mr. Willkie was not "available" and accordingly his conduct over the years was not guided by ulterior motives. He fought the Ku Klux Klan not because he hoped to get the support of Catholics, Jews, and Negroes in an election by doing so but because he hated intolerance. He joined the American Legion because he wanted to join and became commander of his post because his comrades thought he was the best man for the place. And so on.

For five months, now, Mr. Willkie has been in the limelight and for more than four months he has been the Republican candidate for the Presidency. The Democrats have had all these months to search his record for incidents or expressions which would evidence intolerance, cupidity, narrowness of outlook, meanness, or lack of candor, and they haven't found a thing. He was the head of a large business, but John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., has indorsed him as a "gallant American" and this indorsement has been echoed by Harold Straub, national director of the Utility Workers' Organizing committee.

Mr. Willkie has been no recluse. Thru the years he has been active professionally, in business, and in public affairs. He did not consciously try to build up a record as a tolerant, thoughtful, public-spirited man. The way he went was the way he wanted to go. He wasn't looking for political preferment, and he wasn't guiding his behavior accordingly. He was just being Wendell Willkie. If he didn't make mistakes it wasn't because political ambition made him cagey. It was because he is the broad-gauge, honest, straightforward kind of man the American people like.

SOLDIERS WITHOUT GUNS, SHIPS WITHOUT ARMOR.

Air corps recruits at Jefferson Barracks in St. Louis are drilling in civilian clothes, overalls, and various incongruous combinations of world war and 1940 uniforms. They live in tents, with winter near. Some of them lack bedding. They have no guns. A sergeant tried to get two pistols for instruction purposes in a company of 350 men, but they could not be had.

These men are not part of the 800,000 whom Mr. Roosevelt is drafting for purposes which he has failed to disclose to the nation. They are volunteers enrolled by the regular army in a relatively modest expansion of its strength. Even for this small number of men the army is unable to provide clothing, weapons or decent living quarters.

The situation of the navy is far worse than that of the army. Secretary Knox has confessed in a letter to Senator Byrd that the navy's armor plate plant at Charleston, W. Va., will not start turning out armor plate in sufficient tonnage to keep pace with the so-called two ocean navy shipbuilding program until March, 1942.

The New Deal did not have to build this Charleston plant. It was one of Mr. Roosevelt's earlier defense contributions, as assistant secretary of the navy, during the world war. Characteristically, it was not finished in time to make any armor for that war. Altho the present navy expansion program was started two years ago, no move was made to put the armor plate plant back in commission until last June. Now, Secretary Knox said, the construction of necessary additions will take another 18 months.

This unpreparedness is not primarily the fault of the uniformed leaders of the army and navy. So far as these officers were permitted to speak, they pointed out their deficiencies years ago. They got no audience, either from Mr. Roosevelt or his rubber stamp congresses. The comparatively modest sums they asked were refused, only to be multiplied ten times over and poured down such political ratholes as TVA, farm rescue schemes that left the farmers unrescued, and WPA vote buying. The army, in particular, went begging thru all the years in which Mr. Roosevelt was seeking to provoke foreign quarrels in every spot on the globe.

The army lacks uniforms, bedding, and arms, and the navy armor plate today because Mr. Roosevelt has not only been an incompetent administrator but has refused to tolerate competent men about him. Army procurement was until recently under the direction of Louis Johnson. As assistant secretary of war Mr. Johnson did an excellent job of placing himself in the public eye. It now develops that he was too busy making speeches to provide uniforms and blankets and pistols.

The navy department, during the greater part of Mr. Roosevelt's administration, has lacked a head. The amiable Secretary Swanson was in ill health when he took office and for a considerable period before his death last year was actually bedridden. This suited Mr. Roosevelt perfectly, since he was determined to be his own secretary of the navy. As a sailor of small boats and an ardent fisherman off cruisers, he fancies himself as the 20th century Capt. Mahan. He just didn't think about the armor plate when he started building the fleet.

DEMOCRATS ON THE THIRD TERM.

The third termers think the issue of continued tenure in the White House is hardly worth mentioning. Mr. Roosevelt is disinclined to say anything about it. The New Deal would have the unwritten law which has prevailed unbroken thruout the history of the republic regarded as a happenstance of no importance. It is supposed to be something which need not bother any one now because it never was of any consequence.

It is curious, then, that so many of the most illustrious men of the country from the beginning have devoted so much of their vigor in maintaining it and have so frequently warned against the ambitions of men who would seek to break it.

This was not a negligible tradition when Mr. Wilson was first elected. The Democratic party made a declaration then in favor of a constitutional limitation. The Democratic party when it nominated Bryan declared for limitation. From the time of Jefferson the Democratic party has been wasting its time on a triviality in the opinion of the third term New Dealers.

WHAT THE DRAFT IS FOR.

The news from France that the Vichy government under Petain and Laval had agreed to work with Germany and Italy to restore peace in Europe was followed immediately in Washington by a speech by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in which he said that the United States would not submit to changes by force in the existing political status of colonial possessions. That warning was not restricted to apply only to the French possessions in the western hemisphere, where American interest is paramount. It also applied to possessions in Africa and Asia.

No one who heard or read what Mr. Hull said could doubt that he was telling the Nazis, the Fascists, and the Japanese, and now the French as well, that the Roosevelt government would defend such possessions as the French in Africa and in China, the Dutch in the East Indies, the Belgian in Africa, and the British everywhere.

He told the Japanese to keep hands off in the jungles of Malaya, the Germans and the Italians to stay out of Dakar, and he drew all the disputed regions of the world into the zone of American military operations.

The war is spreading. Italy has attacked Greece with a force which the Greeks probably cannot resist very long, even with British aid. France, in putting itself in Hitler's hands, is seeking to salvage as much as possible from defeat and may consent to the use of its colonial possessions by the Nazi combination. At this time Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull definitely declare their commitment to the obstruction of any changes in the colonial world. Thus they make their military intentions plain. They hardly need say that they are preparing for expeditions to foreign battlefields.

Moreover, they could hardly be more explicit in disclosing what the draft means. The men drafted, as well as the men already in the services, would become the defenders of the old imperial colonial system as it existed before the outbreak of this war. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull pledge the strength of the United States in a struggle to defend that system. It must remain as it was, even if American conscripts must be sent into the sands and the jungles of Africa and Malaya to maintain it. Any one who reads anything else into Mr. Hull's speech is deceiving himself by misunderstanding the plainly declared Roosevelt policy.

If changes are to be prohibited in the colonial status the United States must provide the force. If Japan is to be stopped, it must be by American ships, American planes, and American troops. If Germany and Italy are to be stopped in Africa, an American expeditionary force must undertake it.

If the United States is to make good on Mr. Roosevelt's declarations as expressed by Mr. Hull, American conscripts must fight disease as well as an enemy in far-off lands. The ambitions of our present rulers indictate that, and if they are returned to power the men whose numbers are to be drawn today will execute their will. It will be impossible to stop Mr. Roosevelt after Nov. 5, if he wins on that day.

Editorial of the Day

SO WHAT?

[Milwaukee Journal.]

The President just can't debate but has to stick close, says his secretary, Stephen Early. He explains: "For example, Saturday while the President was at Hyde Park a neutral country was invaded, oil wells owned by Americans were bombed and 400 Americans were on the ground."

All of which wouldn't have happened if Mr. Roosevelt had been at his desk in Washington? Is that what Mr. Early means?

Why not put in a telephone and have the President in constant touch with Washington, since Mr. Early would have the country believe such humbug. That's the way things are done today by men who have pressing business in Washington and still feel the need of getting as far away as Chicago or even San Francisco. Or hasn't Mr. Early heard about telephones?

Besides, what could the President do about it? What could he have done about Germany's seizures in Rumania had he been in Washington instead of entertaining British and Luxembourg royalty at his beautiful Hudson estate?

THE CURRENT OBSESSION.

Only one more week to wait and argue.

Since straw ballots are in fashion, you might make note of the one conducted at the Press Veterans' dinner last Saturday night. Willkie won by a small margin.

* * *

A New Dealer has been braying at us ever since the Indispensable Man told the Democratic convention about his sleepless nights. He has a pool of money to bet on Roosevelt; he offers odds of 6 to 5, and he complains that he cannot find Republican takers. We shrug him off with an air of boredom. It would give him more pleasure to win our money than it would give us to win his.

* * *

Roosevelt's biography in "Who's Who in America" is 36 lines long; Willkie's is 17. These are statistics that mean nothing. There are unknown college professors in this book whose careers run to more lines of type than Roosevelt's.

Willkie has one honorary doctor's degree; Roosevelt has six. This comparison is also meaningless.

There have been three Presidential elections that failed to elect for lack of a majority. They were: Jefferson vs. Burr, 1801; John Quincy Adams vs. Andrew Jackson vs. William H. Crawford, 1824, and Hayes vs. Tilden, 1876.

MESSAGE TO THIRD TERMITES.

Inspect it now, this Liberty
That we so lightly take; do we Appreciate the hammer strokes
That beat it out? The mighty oaks
Of men who toiled and did their bit
To fashion and assemble it
All down the long conveyor-belt
Of Time? In taking have we felt
The pride they felt in fashioning
A beautiful, yet simple, thing?
Could we recapture once again
The eloquent, triumphant pain
That brought it forth and kept it bright,
We'd well protect its copyright.

Discovered: The Author of "Rejected."

The jingle called "Rejected," satirizing President Roosevelt's administrations [Oct. 24] was written by Samuel A. Harper, formerly of Chicago but now retired and living at Cocoa, Fla. I was privileged to be one of its first readers. He sent it to several magazines, but they thought it was too "hot."

Mr. Harper is the author of several books and contributes to many nature lore magazines. He is an authority on natural history. He is now engaged in writing a mammoth set of legal works that will require four years to complete.

Where Lincoln Met Ann Rutledge.

New Salem, Ill., a village that lived only 12 years, now reconstructed, is a monument to a man whose brief residence there has given it a place in the sun. All we have ever read about the man rises from our memories to cast a spell over the place. We feel the presence of a tall, gaunt man, describing the village and its people, their joys and sorrows, their simple tastes and pleasures, their loves and hates. With each step we know him better, this man who here studied his few poor books, told his homely anecdotes, and suffered failures which if minor were none the less tragic.

Not until his 50th year was past did he win his first real success. Tho his heart was often heavy there was no sniveling or seeking for escape. He took the good or the bad as life offered it and plodded on his way.

This village of New Salem should be a mecca for disheartened Americans, a tonic for those who think their lot a particularly hard one, and a reproach to those who ask only that life be made easy for them.

WHEN SUMMER DIES.

When Summer dies, and all the trees
Are vibrant with sad melodies,
When lovely gardens, lately gold,
Are lying prostrate in the mold,
There come, upon the swelling breeze,
From distant isles and sunny seas,
A host of fragrant memories,
And I am young—however old—
When Summer dies.

I wander widely as I please
And capture heavy argosies
Of youthful dreams; with spirit bold
I seek far lands—tho winds grow cold
And sunset brings uncertainties—
And Summer dies.

The Line's Candidate Is Worried.

Dear Mr. Linemaster: I have come to know, thru the exigencies of my campaign, that a man who runs for President should, in the start, provide himself with advisers. Right now, I need only one, but the question is which one; you or Emily Post?

By way of our local newspaper, I recently challenged a fellow member of the Ram's club to a series of debates on the political issues of the day. So far he has ignored the challenge. Now it seems that I made an embarrassing faux pas by not sending him an engraved invitation. Should I attempt to rectify the error by sending him one now, and would one be enough, or should I send him one for each debate of the series? If it is too late to send him the invitation, how would it do to send him a telegram or an invitation by radio? If I could get on a soap program it might come to his ears [the invitation, not the soap].

Being from a small town in Indiana where the dearth of royalty is handicapping, I did not realize that political etiquet was so inflexible. I must have confused it with established precedent.

LUNG INJURIES AND BOMB EXPLOSIONS.

WE ARE all disturbed by the daily grist of news dealing with air raids and numerous questions arise, such as: "How do high explosives affect the human body? How close may one be and yet escape damage from a heavy bomb?"

Naturally, the possibility of direct hits by fragments [the casing] or by dislodged masonry will decrease with distance. Even tho one is not struck there is some danger that he may be thrown violently against a hard object. Finally, there is the so-called "blast wave" which is extremely potent "close up," perhaps fatal, but relatively harmless 100 feet from its center.

Whenever a bomb is set off there is established a compression followed by a suction wave. For the first split second the force rises almost with the speed of lightning, only to be succeeded by a backlash, with the atmosphere rushing in to fill the vacuum thus created.

The area of the greatest agitation lies in the immediate vicinity of the explosion and falls off rapidly as the distance increases. For example, a 125 pound charge will develop 200 pounds per square inch five yards away; whereas at 50 feet the maximum will not be more than 25 pounds. Everything that is near by, therefore, will be exposed suddenly to a tremendous impact. Structures 100 feet beyond, however, may suffer but little, altho windows may be shattered. The pressure element is greater than the suction, for the latter can be no higher than 15 pounds to the square inch, which is that of ordinary air, in which we live comfortably.

But what happens to people? One of the most interesting studies has to do with the lungs. Experience has shown that at seven yards or more away no ill effects on small animals ensued. They craved food and there seemed to be no impairment of vital organs. But here two feet make a great difference. Those closer to the focus of the disturbance exhibited some bleeding within the lungs altho no external injuries were noted. Apparently the hemorrhages came from the bronchial tubes, the trachea and, in a few instances, the nose and mouth.

Evidently the tearing action comes so quickly that the lungs cannot guard against the high atmospheric tension. For this reason British physicians are advising individuals who have been in the vicinity of a sizable outburst, and who are otherwise unharmed, to remain in bed for several days thereafter.

In one case, a patient called for his clothes and got up on the fifth day. Previously he had shown some signs of lung difficulty, with irregular breathing and a blood stained sputum. He became markedly cyanotic [blue] when he attempted to walk but, upon sitting down, his skin recovered its normal color and he seemed to be quite all right. As a safety measure he was returned to bed but was allowed to make a second effort on the seventh day, whereupon no further symptoms were experienced.

In a series of 27 cases reported in the London Lancet all the victims had been close enough to be injured by bombs. Twenty-one were burned, five received fractures, and one exhibited several splinter wounds in the legs. Only seven suffered concussions [with temporary unconsciousness], altho all but two had felt the intensity of the detonation at close quarters.

Every one in this group complained of "blast bronchitis." Cough and expectoration appeared between the second and the fifth days, but there was not much evidence of blood flecked sputum. X-ray examinations showed dilated air sacs. In other words, the lesions within the chest, altho not causing labored breathing or interfering with efficiency, involved the air cells. The overstretching of the parts destroyed the normal, elastic character of the tissues.

LOW SUGAR.

T. A. N. writes: What is hypoglycemia? What causes it?

REPLY.

Too little sugar in the blood. The condition may be brought about by too much insulin, an inadequate diet, starvation, or overactivity.

MILK.

N. H. writes: Can anything be added to milk to make it less constipating?

REPLY.

Soft curd or peptonized milks are preferred.

A BIG HEART GROWS BIGGER.

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 25.—A strange thing has been going on all over our country the last few months, for no doubt Rockford is a sample of other communities receiving federal surplus supplies. I am a single person on relief, and for nearly three years the government has been furnishing food supplies averaging about $1 a week. Four months ago they increased it to $1.75, next month, $2.30, September, $3.20, and this month, October, to $3.80.

In September I received a shirt and overalls unsolicited. No doubt Father Franklin D. feels the grateful millions on relief will show their appreciation at the polls on Nov. 5. I have never sold my vote yet, and resent this attempt to buy it at government expense. Probably the tomatoes and eggs thrown at Willkie and his wife have come from federal warehouses. Think it over. J. R. C.

SCHUETZ AS A STOOGE.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—As a voter in the 7th congressional district, may I record my observations of our representative in congress, Leonard Schuetz? As my work requires considerable time in Washington I have made it my business to look into his record and I find:

Long service in congress enables a man to do more for his district. After 10 years Mr. Schuetz is on the one and only committee where he started—naval affairs. I can find no evidence of his participating in discussion of bills before his committee.

I have come to the conclusion that he is nothing but a figurehead, rubber-stamp, and stooge for the Kelly-Nash machine, upon which he is entirely dependent to keep him in office.

The district is entitled to better representation and I recommend they do not return Mr. Schuetz on Nov. 5. Lack of space forbids more detail. J. H. B.

ADVICE FROM AN OLD TIMER.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—I am a man of 73, happy and content, with ample security. This is because I was able to get a small wage job with Swift & Co., about 40 years ago. The contentment which is mine is being denied to all those who are now from 20 to 35 years old unless they can obtain employment and get a chance to make good. My advice to all those persons is simply this: Vote for Willkie, whose promises to make jobs are backed by experience and ability. Otherwise the reliefers and WPA workers of the present day face a desolation in old age which is heart breaking to contemplate. Tim.

ILLEGITIMACY.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Mayor Kelly said of the egg throwing: "This was done by an illegitimate child of Chicago."

I see O. O. McIntyre quoted as saying: "There are no illegitimate children, only illegitimate parents." A. B. C.

HARKS BACK TO PERICLES.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Wendell Willkie, former teacher of history, says, "There is no indispensable man."

I wonder if he ever heard of Pericles, the democrat, who ruled for 30 years? E. V.

WHEN "FUN" IS DANGEROUS.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—I write to urge some action to stop the children in our neighborhood doing some of the things they consider "fun" and causing damage and aggravation.

For months one of their "games" has been ringing the doorbells frequently during the day and often far into the night. Our mail has been tampered with—I have found letters lying opened on the stairs and in one instance a letter and envelope were half burned. Our mailmen have been most considerate and have done everything they can to stop this, and I have been informed that complaints were registered—but the trouble continues.

One evening last week a false fire alarm brought several fire engines to our corner—causing considerable consternation. Last evening another false alarm was sounded. My mother became frightened and tried to go outside. Because of being ill in bed all day she was quite weak, and as a result lost her balance and fell part way down the stairs. Fortunately, no bones were broken—but certainly the fall didn't improve her condition.

I realize that children must have their fun, but the fun in meddling with other persons' property and needlessly frightening persons, thereby causing accidents, escapes me completely.

Charlotte E. DeBriae.

INK IN POLLING BOOTHS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The state election laws provide that all election booths shall be equipped with pen and ink as well as pencil for ballot marking purposes.

If those voting a straight ticket will make a cross with pen and ink in the square at the top of the ticket on the ballot, then any crosses in pencil opposite the names of individual candidates on the opposing ticket or tickets will immediately raise the presumption that the ballot has been tampered with and can, in my judgment, be effectively challenged.

W. D. Blatner.

WHO IS PAYING FOR "PARADE"?

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Who is paying for an elaborate magazine called Parade, which I received today, containing many pictures of certain accomplishments with explanations by the Democratic organization? Is this paid for with taxpayers' money? If it is being sent to every citizen it is costing a considerable sum. The improvements shown are done with taxpayers' money and not with money of the so-called humanitarians, as they want us to believe. A. L. J.

THE ROOSEVELT PICTURES.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Here's a new one. A few days ago pictures of Roosevelt appeared in windows thruout our neighborhood. They were alike and their simultaneous appearance indicated that they had been delivered by certain people.

Our guess was that they were a part of the Kelly-Nash program. In our neighborhood are plenty of Kelly-Nash workers; also WPA workers and families on relief. A few days after the appearance of these Roosevelt pictures our daughter reported that she had noticed a man with a camera taking a picture of many houses in the neighborhood. Today my wife found another man apparently checking up; he was checking on the city workers—WPA and others—to see if the orders to display the Roosevelt pictures had been carried out.

"Put 'em up, or else," seems to have been the order, and no one's word is good. The pictures must tell the story. It's a nice, free country we've got isn't it? Justa Voter.

WHY BRING THAT UP?

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Perhaps I missed it, but I did not hear our President in his speech the other night tell us what General Vending corporation [Camco] securities sold for in 1929 and what they are worth today. Another Sucker.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

BUILDING EXITS.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—[Friend of the People.]—Some time ago I wrote to the fire commissioner and building commissioner calling their attention to the lack of proper exits in the building in which I live. Several inspectors have called since then and they agreed that this condition violated the ordinance of the city and should be corrected. Up to the present time no steps have been taken to make these changes and I am wondering if you can find the reason.

The building is in a trust handled by a bank. T. A.

The owner of the above mentioned premises has been notified to erect a stairway fire escape from third floor to grade, as required by the building provisions of the municipal code of Chicago.

If this work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law. RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 26.

1. The seven year itch is a common name for Athlete's Foot   Scabies   Eczema   Pediculosis.
2. Suet refers to a type of Bedroom Set   Coal Smoke   Carbon   Fat.
3. The total number of congressmen permitted in the United States house of representatives at the present election is 375   435   525   696.
4. The total number of senators in the United States senate is 66   84   96   108.
5. The number of votes in the electoral college equals the sum of the number of congressmen and senators in both houses of congress; so it is 459   501   531   792.
6. Here's another problem in the field of modern sports. How many persons constitute a team in each of the following types of sport? You deserve one point for each correct matching.

[a] A tennis doubles team	[v] 10 men
[b] A polo team	[w] 4 men
[c] A hockey team	[x] 8 men
[d] A varsity crew	[y] 2 men
[e] A softball team	[z] 6 men

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

BIG CREWS BUSY ON PRE-ELECTION HIGHWAY REPAIR

Pay Roll Boost Denied by State Officials.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—"The highways are dangerous these days," said the truck driver as his fuel tank was being filled at a gas station north of here this afternoon. "If you aren't careful, you're liable to run over a Democratic precinct captain. Crews of men are on the road everywhere, smoothing the earth shoulders or pouring tar in cracks."

The tax supported publicity bureau in the state house announced that this is just a seasonal rush of maintenance work, unrelated to the forthcoming election. The bureau mailed an article to newspapers that roads are being prepared for winter.

Payroll Figures Unavailable.

In the highway department it was said that figures are unavailable on the size of the payrolls today as compared with the same date a year ago. At the auditor's office, it was said that they won't have October payrolls figures until sometime in November.

"If there has been any swelling of the highway payrolls, I don't know anything about it," Gov. John Stelle replied to a reporter's question.

Pete Rossiter, the new administrative auditor, who has supplanted the tax supported Democratic patronage office in the St. Nicholas hotel here, had a more interesting denial of a Republican charge that the highway department payrolls are being loaded with campaign workers.

Spent Last Spring, Says Rossiter.

"The highway department," he said, "spent so much of its maintenance funds to defeat Stelle last spring that there isn't much left for the usual temporary jobs before the fall election. It's been a big disappointment to county committeemen who have been wanting to put men to work on the roads in the last few weeks."

Last spring, the state house machine with the coöperation of the Nash-Kelly organization defeated Stelle's candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination, naming instead the ticket headed by Harry B. Hershey for governor.

Notwithstanding Rossiter's complaint, the highway department, as well as other divisions of the state house machine, is functioning in an attempt to stem the Republican trend reported by straw polls. Ernst Lieberman, chief of the department, has been retained at least for the duration of the campaign altho a legislative committee last spring recommended criminal prosecution of corruption in the state's paving industry.

Employés Paying 2 Per Cent.

State employés are still paying 2 per cent of their pay checks to the Democratic campaign fund. They say it's on a voluntary basis, but employés are led to believe that a refusal to contribute would be interpreted as disloyalty to the party in power. The bosses have a record of each man's donations.

State employés are also required to report to their bosses their electioneering in their home precincts. Republicans charge that civil service employés have not been exempted from these campaign activities.

The Illinois society of engineers recently requested United States Attorney General Robert H. Jackson to prosecute for violations of the Hatch clean politics law in the highway department. Howard Doyle, United States district attorney here, said today that he had received no communication in this regard from Jackson. The federal grand jury is in session here.

Sues Druggan Again

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. TERRY DRUGGAN.

Terry Druggan, beer baron of the prohibition era, was sued for divorce for the second time yesterday by Mrs. Grace Stonesifer Druggan in a bill filed in Circuit court. The bill, drawn by Attorney Raymond Stern, charged cruelty. Mrs. Druggan brought a divorce action two years ago, but the couple was reconciled shortly afterward. Druggan is scheduled to go on trial Nov. 18 in federal court on a charge of conspiring to make false statements in an application for a permit for the Gambrinus brewery, 3040 Fillmore street.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS TEN DAY BRIDEWELL TERM

Junior Jackson, colored, 21 East 44th street, was sentenced yesterday to 10 days in the Bridewell by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court. He was convicted of driving while intoxicated. His driver's license was impounded for 60 days. W. H. Lane, 53 years old, 6433 North Talman avenue, was sentenced to four days in the county jail by Judge Harry H. Porter in Evanston Municipal court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Lane was arrested Thursday while driving in Ridge avenue, Evanston. He had been held since then, awaiting trial, when he was unable to provide $500 bond.

CYCLIST, 16, DIES AFTER BEING HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Albert Bednar, 16 years old, 11824 Wentworth avenue, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, from injuries received last Tuesday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile at 124th and Throop streets, Calumet Park. Anthony Martignette, 2235 West Vermont street, Blue Island, was the driver of the car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 721 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 526 were killed in Chicago, where 19,466 were injured in the same peribd.

Union League Club to Hear Bainbridge Colby Speech

EDWIN SHIELDS SUES FIRST WIFE OVER INSURANCE

Mrs. Louise Shields.

Edwin Shields, executive vice president of the Crackerjack company, began a legal fight yesterday to obtain disability payments on insurance policies of which his first wife, Mrs. Louise Shields, is the beneficiary. The hearing was before Judge Thomas E. Gill in the Lake County Circuit court at Waukegan.

The couple was divorced at Waukegan in 1924. Shortly afterward Shields married his second wife, Mildred Glaesser, an employé of the Crackerjack company. By the divorce settlement Shields agreed to pay his first wife $340 a month alimony and made her the beneficiary of a $22,500 policy. Later he made her beneficiary of another policy for $20,000, with her paying the premiums in both cases.

Shields, who is now ill, contends he is entitled to payments on one or the other of the policies. Mrs. Louise Shields asserts he has no such claim, having cut her alimony to $275 a month in 1933. After several hours' testimony, Judge Gill continued the case for three weeks.

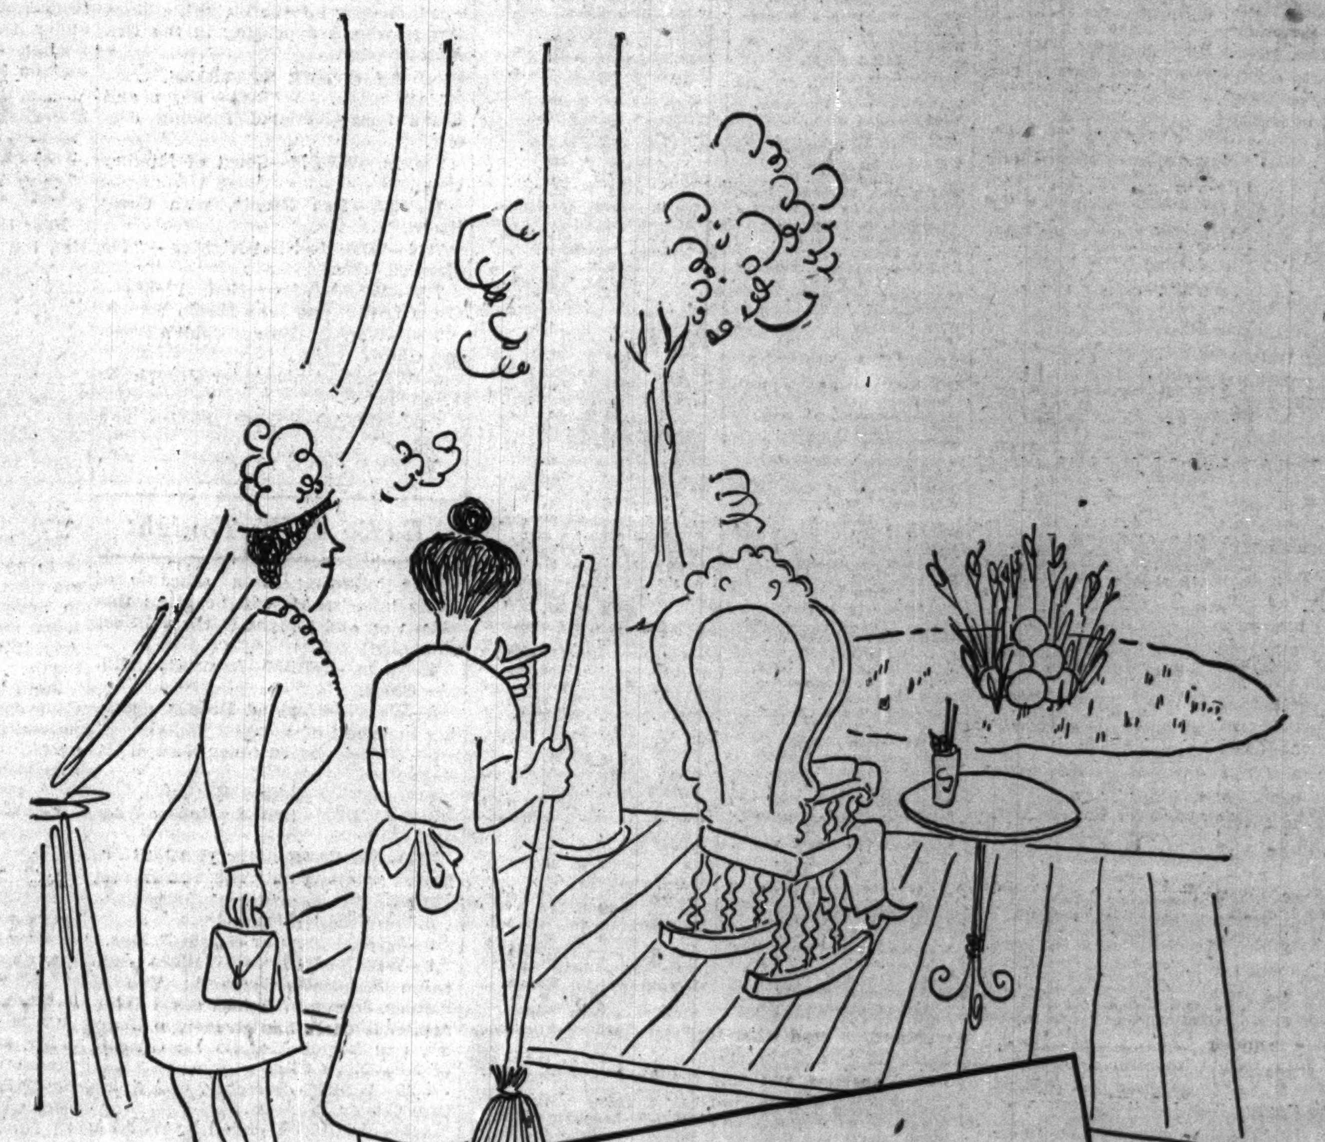
"Just think—another million votes would have put him in the White House!"



- A million votes have always counted for a lot in this country.
- If they had gone to Douglas, a man named Lincoln would never have been president.
- Bryan and free silver would have come in 1896.
- Cleveland and McKinley would have swelled the ranks of porch-sitters.
- And there, in fateful 1916, Woodrow Wilson would have joined them!
- The course of every presidential election except seven could have been changed. All with the weight of a million votes . . . fewer than the number cast by the EXTRA million families who are buying the Ladies' Home Journal today.
- That is the extra buying power now given Journal advertisers without the expenditure of an extra penny. Because in 6 years Journal circulation has increased from 2½ to 3½ million with no increase in advertising rates.
- In these 6 years, sales of the Journal at newsstands have increased 155%. The number of subscribers has gone up 32%. No wonder advertising revenue for the first 10 months of 1940 is up a half-million dollars over 1939.

BORRELLI TO TRY MILLIONTH CASE IN COURT TODAY

His 18 Years Is Longest Term on Municipal Bench.

Judge Francis Borrelli expects to pass the million mark in the number of cases he has heard during the 18 years he has been on the Municipal court bench.

The judge, who is running for reëlection on the Democratic ticket, has the longest record in point of continuous service of any judge now in the Municipal court. He was first elected in 1922, and reëlected in 1928 and 1934.

Judge Borrelli is now presiding over the License court, Room 1128, City hall. Most of his long career has been spent however, in courts dealing with crime, violence, and speeding. He estimated he has heard 900,000 separate cases in those courts, and another 100,000 in the civil branches. His average daily docket in courts other than civil totaled 225 a day, or 1,125 for a five day week—a total of 50,000 for a working year.

Keeps Round Figures.

"I have kept round figures thruout the years," said Judge Borrelli last night, "and estimate that I should pass the million mark during the next five or six cases."

Judge Borrelli was born in Chicago in 1880, and has practiced law here since 1904. He won national prominence in 1918 as an assistant United States attorney in charge of prosecuting wartime slackers and violators of the espionage statute.

Before that, and for a short period before his election to the bench in 1922, he had specialized as a defender in criminal cases. His friends said last night that he made an enviable record as a lawyer and pleader during his 15 years in that field.

His Record Is Cited.

According to the records, Judge Borrelli was the defense attorney in 75 trials involving charges ranging from larceny to murder. He won 55 acquittals and later won reversals in two of the other cases. Forty-seven of the 75 cases involved murder; 32 resulted in not guilty verdicts.

Judge Borrelli's judicial record is also high, his friends said. The records show that out of 44 appeals from his decisions taken to the Appellate court, 29 were affirmed, 6 were dismissed, and only 9 reversed. Three other appeals were taken to the Illinois Supreme court, and all affirmed for a perfect score.

During his occasional assignments to the Speeders' court, Judge Borrelli fought to reduce traffic hazards by sending flagrant violators to jail.

'OTHER WOMAN' ACCUSES WIFE IN LOVE SLAYING

Testimony that Mrs. Ann Sparrow had threatened to kill her husband, Edward, because she suspected he was in love with another woman was given yesterday at the inquest into Sparrow's death. He was shot and fatally wounded Sunday in his home at 2301 Monticello avenue as he and his wife struggled for a revolver.

The testimony was given by the "other woman," Mrs. Jeanette Gentner, 24 years old, wife of George Gentner, 2205 Kimball avenue. Sparrow, who was also 24, and Mrs. Gentner told her husband before the shooting that they were in love and Gentner had acquiesced to a divorce.

"The shooting wasn't an accident," Mrs. Gentner told Deputy Coroner Samuel Edelstein. "Ann had been threatening him. She once said she was going to pierce his brain with an ice pick."

The inquest was continued to Friday. Mrs. Sparrow, who is 26, was held by Shakespeare avenue police and will be arraigned today in Felony court on a charge of murder.

NAVY TO PROBE DEATH OF BOY AT TRAINING STATION

A naval inquiry was begun yesterday into the death of William Miller, 15 years old, a Waukegan Township High school sophomore living at 1420 Cornelia avenue, Waukegan. The boy died Sunday night in the hospital at the Great Lakes Naval Training station a few hours after he had fallen 22 feet in the station gymnasium while attending the Navy day open house. Naval authorities said he was trying to walk upon a huge pushball on the running track when he lost his balance and fell over the railing.

STATE CANCELS DAIRY'S HOSPITAL MILK CONTRACT

George Edward Day, state purchasing agent, yesterday canceled a contract with the Scholl Dairy company, 5604 Throop street, which has been supplying milk to the Manteno and Kankakee hospitals.

Day said the action was taken because the company had been shipping in milk from Indiana dairies not inspected by Illinois health authorities. He said the company had ignored warnings that this practice would not be permitted.

William Scholl, head of the company, said he had sublet the contract to other concerns and did not personally supervise milk shipments to the hospitals. Day said the contract for the remainder of the year will be given to the Momence Milk company of Momence, next highest bidder.

INJURED IN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT.

Robert Higby, 30 years old, 719 Pleasant avenue, Glen Ellyn, was painfully injured yesterday in front of 172 West Madison street when hit by a steel rim which flew from a passing truck.

Priest's Death in Fall Is Held to Be Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the inquest over the Rev. Thomas E. Cawley, 60 years old, a Catholic priest of Portland, Me., who fell to his death Saturday night from a fourth floor window of the Atlantic hotel, 316 South Clark street.

KILLED ON FIRST DAY AT JOB.

On his first day at work as an elevator operator in the Piccadilly hotel, 5107 Blackstone avenue, Henry Krolikowski, 20 years old, 8232 Mackinaw avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell into an elevator shaft at the second floor.

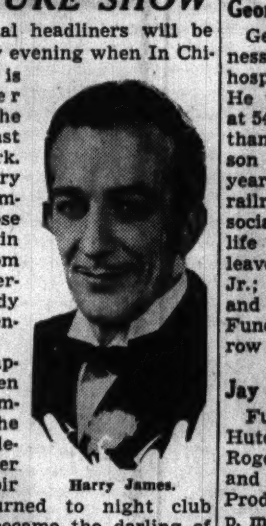
2 HEADLINERS ADDED TO W-G-N FEATURE SHOW

Two additional headliners will be heard Thursday evening when In Chicago Tonight is presented over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network. They are Harry James, the trumpet player whose band is now in the Panther room of the Hotel Sherman, and Buddy Clark, radio tenor.



Harry James.

They will appear with Ken Murray, the comedian with the cigar, and Hildegarde, former Milwaukee choir singer who turned to night club warbling and became the darling of England and the continent. Murray is appearing at the Chicago theater, while Hildegarde is singing at the Drake hotel.

Clark is soloist and master of ceremonies on Mutual's Show of the Week each Sunday from New York, and is soloist with the Wayne King Saturday evening network show from Chicago. In Chicago Tonight is heard from 7:30 to 8 p. m. each Thursday under the direction of William A. Bacher, chief of programs and production for W-G-N.

SEEKS TO CALM TEACHERS' FEARS OF SECURITY ACT

Fear that the social security extension bill proposed by Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.] will disrupt well organized municipal pension funds has spread thru the ranks of the school teachers, as well as other municipal employé groups.

In an effort to stop the feeling of alarm about the proposed legislation, Mrs. C. J. Trout, head of the teachers' pension fund board, sent messages to 16,000 retired teachers and teachers yesterday in which she said: "At present the bill seems to call for watchful waiting, not alarm."

Mrs. Trout said her message, which is to be delivered today to all teachers thru the school board offices, was in answer to hundreds of inquiries from teachers and pensioners. She said it was not inspired by city officials.

John T. Dempsey, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee, revealed yesterday that photographic copies of President Roosevelt's telegram assuring protection of private pension systems of municipal employés had been distributed to Chicago park district employés. A note from George T. Donoghue, park superintendent, accompanied them, Dempsey said.

FOSTER PARENTS WHO TIED CHILD, 7, TO BED, WIN STAY

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson, arrested after their 7 year old foster daughter was found lashed to her bed, were granted a continuance until Nov. 8 by Police Magistrate Edward Markham of Maywood yesterday. They are charged with neglecting and contributing to the dependency of a minor.

The magistrate raised their joint bond of $1,000 to $3,000, and they were placed in custody again until they could raise the new bond.

The Petersons, both 33 years old, live at 400 North 8th avenue, Maywood. The daughter, Virginia, was ill when she was found tied to the bed last Tuesday. Police say Mrs. Peterson told them she had whipped the child with a strap the night before for lying.

Byron K. Coghland, 59, Federal Engineer, Dies

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 28 [Special].—Byron K. Coghland, 59 years old, a federal engineer on the Chicago Outer drive bridge and the water purification project, died yesterday at his home here of coronary thrombosis. He held the rank of major in the world war, serving 22 months overseas, and formerly was an engineering instructor in the school of mines at Sacorro, N. M., and at Texas A. and M., Bryant, Tex.

OBITUARIES

George Kenneth Sage.

George Kenneth Sage, retired business man, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital after an illness of six months. He was 70 years old and had lived at 5450 Hyde Park boulevard for more than 35 years. He was the youngest son of William M. Sage, for many years an official of the Rock Island railroad, and was himself once associated with that road. He was a life member of the Traffic club. He leaves his widow, Mary; a son, George Jr.; a sister, Dr. Annie White Sage, and a brother, Donald, all of Chicago. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the home.

Jay Webster Hutchinson.

Funeral services for Jay Webster Hutchinson, vice president of the Rogers & Hall company for 30 years and vice president of the Printing Products company, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 2710 North Clark street. Burial will be at Racine, Wis., his birthplace. Mr. Hutchinson died Sunday in Grant hospital. He was 51 years old and lived at 2238 Lincoln Park West. Surviving are the widow, Lucille, two brothers, and a sister.

Miss Julia McGurn.

Funeral services for Miss Julia McGurn, 60 years old, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 5438 South Halsted street to St. Bernard's church, 66th street and Stewart avenue. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Miss McGurn, an industrial nurse with the Pullman company for 22 years prior to her retirement in 1937, died Sunday in her home at 515 West 66th place. She was born in Chicago. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Anna M. Wells.

Mrs. Susanne Taylor.

Burial services for Mrs. Susanne Taylor of Three Rivers, Mich., will be held this afternoon in Howelawn cemetery, Oak Park. Mrs. Taylor, daughter of James F. 'Time of Your Life' Wins All the Adjectives

"THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE."

Drama in three acts and five scenes by William Saroyan. Directed by Mr. Saroyan and Eddie Dowling. Settings by Watson Barratt. Dances by Gene Kelly. Incidental music by Reginald Beane. Production supervised by Teresa Helburn and Lawrence Langner. Presented by the Theater Guild, in association with Eddie Dowling, in the Erlanger theater, Monday evening, Oct. 28, 1940.

THE CAST.

Joe	Eddie Dowling
Tom	Edward Andrews
Kitty Duval	Julie Haydon
Nick	Leo Chalzel
Harry	Fred Kelly
Wesley	Reginald Beane
Kit Carson	Arthur Hunnicutt
Dudley	Henry Jones
Elsie	Marylin Monk

Also Blackie Shackner, John Farrell, Ross Bagdasarian, Nene Vibber, Grover Burgess, Houseley Stevens Sr., Hene Damur, William Bendix, Tom Tully, Ann Brody, Howard Barnhart, Evelyn Geller, Frances McHugh, Eva Leonard Boyne, Ainsworth Arnold, and Tony Albert.

BY CECIL SMITH.

There are some who assert that "The Time of Your Life" is not really a play, but merely a picturesque assortment of racy characters passing in and out of a San Francisco waterfront honkytonk.

These claims and charges, I submit, become pettifogging and inconsequential after an evening at the Erlanger theater. For even at the risk of decapitation at the hands of those constituents who will heartily disagree, I must stick my neck out: "The Time of Your Life," to me, is one of the freshest, most absorbing, warmest, kindest, most imaginative, and most real plays to come along in a decade.

If there is a genuinely original brain at work in the contemporary theater, Mr. Saroyan has it. "The Time of Your Life" is not like any play you ever saw before. It is, in effect, a day spent in a saloon, with Nick, the volatile Italian barkeeper who runs his joint to make people happy; with Joe, who has earned more than enough to live on at the expense of the poor people he now drinks to forget about; with Tom, the simple, loyal and dependent stooge of Joe; with Kitty, the prostitute whose sincere love for Tom provides her ultimate hope of regeneration; with Harry, the hoofer, and Wesley, the young Negro boogie-woogie player, and Dudley, who loves Elsie, and Elsie, who finally discovers that she loves Dudley; with Kit Carson, who spins long yarns and never utters a true word until just before the final curtain, and Willie, who spends three acts trying to beat the marble game, and a cryptic Arab, whose one comment on life is "No foundation, all the way down the line."

The activities and conversations of these diverse human beings never quite get arranged into a plot. This is as Mr. Saroyan intends, for real people are aloof individuals first, last and always, and presumably should not be required to serve the constructional aims of a dramatist if they are to remain completely themselves. In other words, Mr. Saroyan is not primarily a dramatist; he would rather leave his people alone, to behave as they naturally do, than to force them into the confinement of a structure that might satisfy experts in dramaturgy.

Those who look for symbolism in "The Time of Your Life" are merely silly. Mr. Saroyan has one naive thesis to prove, that people are good and lovable, amusing and absorbing, if you choose to find them so. There is only one bad character in the play, and, as is just, he is killed.

The performance, in nearly all regards, is brilliant. Mr. Dowling's quiet security in a rôle that is almost entirely sedentary gives the ballast that is required to keep the oddities of the other characters from pulling the performance off center. Arthur Hunnicutt is superbly humorous as the lanky, beer-gulping, braggart Kit Carson. Leo Chalzell's bartender is loud mouthed and endearing. Edward Andrews, with his arm in a sling after an injury in last Saturday night's performance in Pittsburgh, still lent credibility to the satellite part of Tom.

Fred Kelly, the younger brother of the more famous Gene, dances even better than his brother, and Reginald Beane provides a mean boogie-woogie. The beauteous blonde Julie Haydon, as the reconditioned streetwalker, may seem right to you, tho I found her a bit sententious and artificial.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

For that most romantic of fragrances, a sweet but not cloying moss rose, some new bath and beauty preparations are housed in beautiful Victorian containers. Cologne and after-bath balm are in twin tear drop bottles, cream rouge in a tiny white porcelain jar.

We had thought this was going to be a disappointing year for beautiful packages, but the day—or the year—has been saved. A whole lovely family of bath and beauty preparations in the sentimental but appropriately 1940ish fragrance of moss rose has been launched in the most charming containers we have seen in many years. Just wait until the Christmas shoppers see them!

The moss rose is a tiny, fragile flower that lent itself beautifully to the little paper frilled nosegays of the Victorian era. The rose strewn bottles and jars of the moss rose preparations take their style cue from that dear, dead day and they are beautiful enough to make you want them on sight.

The cologne and a delightful balm to be used as a friction lotion after the bath are in twin tear drop bottles of milky glass dotted with tiny roses, lovely to look at and even more exciting to have for your own. The bath oil, a few drops of which transform the bath water into a scented sea, is an octagonal bottle in deep green, with a lifelike moss rose stopper. There is soap in the same fragrance, oval, each cake wrapped in white lace paper, packaged in pink and white striped boxes with mossy green lining.

But what we like best in the rouge—moss rose pink, of course—in a plump little porcelain jar with deep tinted small roses rising from its sides and top. It's a dressing table treasure. There is also dusting powder, boxed in white moire paper, rose dotted and scrolled.

Every piece is lovely; the scent is sweet but not TOO simple, and the prices are amazingly low. Don't miss these.

The Housewife

If you are planning on draping a dressing table for your young daughter or for your own use you'll be interested in a nice variety of standing mirrors we saw recently. They are intended for dressing tables. One type has an old fashioned oval wood frame, gilded, and two little gold ball feet. Another is similar, but with a white finish. Still another is oval with a bow knot of ribbonlike pink metal at the top and streamers coming part way down the sides, while a modern mirror is rectangular and stunning, unframed. Each is reasonably priced.

Three Exhibits Hold Interest of Art Lovers

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Three contrasting exhibits are current in various galleries about town. Richard Aberle Florsheim has a dramatic group of paintings in tempera at the Quest galleries, 810 North Michigan avenue. The paintings follow the same line of thought as those Mr. Florsheim showed last season. They are impetuous, even violent, in design and consistently melodramatic in atmosphere. The painter tells us he paints as he feels, he does not even pin himself down by giving titles to his works—they spring from his emotional reaction to the times.

Tragedy and the hint of war are in most of them. The landscapes without figures are less tumultuous than those pictures in which figures play a major part. There is something of the Mexican school to be found in the figure paintings and over and under and thru every inch of every canvas goes a relentless undercurrent of rebellious despair. In one or two of the landscapes note the color; the artist gets a vibrancy of shade now and again that is very effective.

Art Center has most attractive new quarters at 820 North Michigan avenue and there one may find an interesting new exhibition of work by members. Commercial artists are represented as well as those whom we look upon more or less as "just painters." In the fine arts division several artists of distinguished reputation in Chicago contribute works of unusual merit. Frederic Mizen, head of the Mizen academy, who can always be trusted not to let us down, has some stunning work on display and other familiar names are Antimo Beneduce, Ethel Spears, Ruth Van Sickle Ford and Earl Gross.

At the Club Woman's bureau, Mandel Brothers, is a diversified showing of oils, water colors, and sculpture by members of the South Side Art association. Macena Barton has a most attractive still life "Blue Clock" on view, charming in color and early Victorian in atmosphere; Edith Jane Cassidy is showing her entrancing "December," a green cactus on a richly warm red window-bench looking out at a driving snow storm; Ethel Crouch Brown offers "Plants," a strong composition; Derk Smit a decorative "Peonies;" Tunis Ponsen the stunning "Shores of Gaspé;" Theodore Saunders the beautiful "Conscience Bay" and Nan Rice two good portraits.

"Mme. Butterfly"

A young soprano who looks the part will sing the title role in "Madame Butterfly" this season with the Chicago Opera company. She is Senorita Enya Gonzalez of the Philippine Islands.

Chicago Opera Boasts Ideal Mme. Butterfly

The Chicago Opera company has the "Madame Butterfly" of Puccini's dreams tucked up its star studded sleeve this season.

She is Enya Gonzalez, a diminutive, sparkling prima donna who made an unexpected and triumphant debut in the Cho Cho San rôle in New York shortly after her arrival two years ago from the Philippine Islands. On short notice she stepped into the part for the San Carlo Opera company. It was her first appearance in opera. She was the Butterfly true to the composer's imagination, the critics said—a flower robed, exquisitely small, and delicate figure in a Japanese garden.

Chicago opera goers will see and hear her for the first time Friday night, Nov. 8. James Melton will sing the tenor rôle of the light hearted navy officer who deserts his trusting sweetheart. The principals rehearsed here last week. Senorita Gonzalez is making a short concert tour this week in Canada.

A great favorite of Quezon, president of the Philippines, Senorita Gonzalez has made a point of singing for him by trans-Pacific radio on his birthday, as she did previously in person.

One of her most enthusiastic patrons here is Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, who was governor general of the Philippines when she made her concert debut in Manila.

Senorita Gonzalez is from Bulacan, the "province of the poets." Her father was Luis Gonzalez, a noted Spanish opera singer. Her mother was the daughter of a Philippine diplomat. She studied at the Conservatory of Manila. Besides singing, she plays the harp and piano.

Ballet Russe Charms Again as in Old Days

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Col. Wasily de Basil's ballet, which slyly and meaningfully calls itself the Original Ballet Russe, returned to Chicago yesterday after a period of nearly three years during which it denied itself to our sight. The audience which descended on the Auditorium last night for the first performance made the following discoveries:

The "baby ballerinas," all in their 20s now, are remarkably well preserved and show no signs of decay either in their persons or their art.

The men of the company have achieved a power and grace and versatility greater even than of yore.

Similarly, the work of the ballet as a whole has a sweep and precision more impressive even than in the classical 1933-'38 period.

"Aurora's Wedding" and "The Golden Cockerel" are every bit as bright in reality as they have seemed in memory.

The "baby ballerinas," whom ballet maniacs regard as more lovely than sunlight, and compositors and proofreaders as more terrible than death, are Tamara Toumanova, Tatiana Riabouchinska, and Irina Baronova. The first named, slender as a reed again, was welcomed noisily by her admirers as she came to the front of the stage in the first routine of "Aurora's Wedding."

The second, who can still turn on that lovely, haughty, pouty, spoiled child expression whenever she wants to, displayed all her old buoyancy and spirit in the "Bluebird" dance in "Aurora's Wedding" and in her enactment of the golden cockerel in the evening's second piece.

Baronova, looking as reginal as ever but more given to smiles than she was in her younger days, danced the Queen of Shemakhan. Her work retains that unearthly quality, as if she existed in a medium considerably lighter than air and was governed by a law less inexorable than that of gravity.

Of the men, Paul Petroff danced with that solidity of his which does not preclude the most amazing technical feats, and Roman Jasinsky brought his air of youthfulness and godlike cheerfulness to his performance of the "Bluebird" dance. Presumably David Lichine covered himself with glory in his own "Graduation Ball," which closed the performance, but it is not proper for morning paper reporters to witness spectacles that come so late at night.

"Aurora's Wedding" had a splendor which completely redeemed the essential silliness of the piece. The dancers worked with apparent abandon, yet achieved a remarkable exactness.

In "The Golden Cockerel," excellent routining was combined with many a highly personal and often humorous inflection to bring the ballet intoxicatingly to life.

By the way, Sono Osato — the troupe's Chicagoan—was much in evidence last night as one of the Ladies of Honor in "Aurora" and as a sort of Chief Vision in the second scene of "The Golden Cockerel." Her first big local part comes Wednesday afternoon in "Les Sylphides." The ballet stays until Saturday, skipping tonight because the Philadelphia orchestra has the Auditorium.

Elaborate Plans Being Made for Racquet Club's Dance

BY JUDITH CASS.

If some young man in social circles who is presumably happily married, is overheard saying to a young matron, also apparently happily wed, "We'll meet at the water tower," or "Let's make the Lincoln statue in Lincoln park our meeting place," it really isn't as alarming as it sounds. It isn't alarming at all, as a matter of fact, for those two Chicago landmarks are being sketched by Mrs. Lloyd A. Laflin preparatory to painting two huge screens to be used at the Program dance at the Racquet club on Nov. 8.

Since it is a program dance, the committee in charge felt that some places must be designated where gentlemen and their ladies may meet before each dance. Hence the 12½ foot screens that Mrs. Laflin is preparing. At last year's Program dance at the Arts club so many men were unaccustomed to the old-fashioned sort of dance that they neglected to find their partners and just danced with whomever was convenient.

Elaborate Decorations Are Planned for Dance.

There will be no cutting-in except after the first pause in each dance, and every fourth dance will be a waltz. This may sound as if the party were going to be a stiff, formal one, but the decorations preclude that possibility for Mrs. Philip Maher is planning to transform the club's beautiful lounge into a big red and white tent. Garlands of real red roses will be festooned to the sides from the center, where a large American eagle will dominate the scene. American and British flags will be used in the decorative scheme, too, for the proceeds of the ball—after expenses are paid—will be given to the British War Relief fund.

Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. are helping Mrs. Maher in planning the details of the party. Durand Smith, the prime mover in reviving the program dance that will start at 9:30 and end promptly at 1:30, is enjoying a vacation in Bermuda but will be back in time for the party. Michael Cudahy is taking reservations for tickets. Numerous dinner parties are being planned to precede the dance, the largest of which is one that the Paepckes will give at their home in Lake Shore drive. The John W. Roots also will give a dinner that night in their new apartment in Dearborn parkway, across the street from the Racquet club.

The Racquet club will have a costume ball in January, but the date is not set yet.

Heath Horton's Marriage Surprise to Her Friends.

The news that Miss Heath Horton was married on Oct. 25 to Arnold Gillatt of Dragoon, Ariz., will come as a complete surprise to her friends. Even her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Terry Horton of Woodlawn avenue, were surprised to hear of the marriage. Mr. Gillatt is a rancher and lives on the Triangle T ranch at Dragoon. Miss Horton has spent many summers on the H F Bar ranch in Wyoming, so life on a combination working and dude ranch will not be new to her and will suit her entirely, all her friends are certain.

The wedding took place in Lordsburg, N. M. The bride is a graduate of the Faulkner school and of Sarah Lawrence college, where she was graduated in 1937. Her engagement to Charles Cyrus Bunker Jr. of Chicago was announced last May. It was broken by mutual consent later, altho no formal announcement of the break was made.

Alfred N. Sommer of Wellington avenue announces the engagement of his daughter, Edith Rose, to Roger Charles Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boetius Henry Sullivan, also of Wellington avenue. Miss Sommer attended the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Chicago and Barat college in Lake Forest. Mr. Sullivan is a graduate of Andover and of Yale university.

Patricia Steever Odell's Engagement Is Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Odell of the Jack Rabbit ranch in Dayton, Wyo., formerly of Highland Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Steever, to Charles Frederick Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Mason of Detroit, Mich. Miss Odell is a graduate of Carleton college and did graduate work at Northwestern university. Mr. Mason was graduated from the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thomasson III. of 15 East Division street, are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a girl, at the Passavant hospital yesterday morning. The young lady has been named Indie Sue for her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr., and for her mother, the former Betty Sue Cantrelle, daughter of Mrs. Walter Achilles Cantrelle of Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., who has been confined to St. Luke's hospital since June, is convalescing at her

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

RELEASED.

Lord Romrytch tapped his teeth with a ridgy nail. "Your idea, Miss Wilds, is that what's in that brief case may furnish us with a new motive for murder—provided, of course, it's still there. It may do nothing of the kind."

"O, I know," he forestalled Rowan. "You'll say, why, if that's so, was an attempt made to get possession of it? How did the typing sound?" asked Lord Romrytch shrewdly.

"Experienced. It tripped along. And it looked absolutely neat, every word properly spelled."

Lord Romrytch seemed on pins and needles. "Quite," he snapped, "but you're taking it for granted the murderer and the typist are one and the same person. Does that have to be so?"

"If not, then we have two potential murderers in our midst. The person outside my door would have killed me like a shot the very instant I'd seen who he was. Nothing can shake me on that point."

He thrust out his underlip, pinched it with tolerant scorn.

"Bosh! Still, maybe he would. We can't do more than theorize till we know to a T what's in that sealed packet."

"What was in it, you mean. Don't you think it's gone up in smoke?"

"If it has," he said slowly, "then it'll certainly be wiser for you to go on holding your tongue. Supposing only the packet was removed, the other articles left behind? That'll land you in rather worse than a mess. And Smedley. The pair of you together."

She spread her hands. "O, what's the use? I might have known even you couldn't see a way out. I'll have to talk, won't I? If Egbert Yallilee is committed for trial. No matter what it does to me or to Stephen. I've warned him. He's begging me to wait."

"Smedley's said that, has he?" Lord Romrytch leant closer. "And what's he doing now—having another try in your absence?"

She denied this, too vehemently, perhaps; but trying to soften her words hadn't quite the desired effect.

"I mean, he wouldn't be such a fool as to risk anything right under the sergeant's eye."

From the inquisitorial stare she was terrified lest the next question be how well did she know Smedley. Instead, Lord Romrytch jumped up, took a quick turn to the balustrade, and rounding on her whispered in rapid, practical tones.

"We'll have by hook or crook to make sure what's there and what isn't. Now, step on it. Exactly where did you stow these things?"

"Right over my middle window," she told him. "High up under the thatch. We could get at them easily if——"

Her sentence dried up. Two figures had stepped impetuously on to the tiled floor of the sun parlor and, breathing stertorously, were eying first Lord Romrytch, then herself. The vicar's dark skin was oily with sweat. In the hush a little ping sounded as Mr. Forbes' pince-nez tinkled to the floor.

"Yallilee's got off," grated Cyprian Bogge harshly. "His innocence has been proved."

"O," gasped Rowan, "thank God!"

She bit her tongue; but her explosion passed unnoticed. Lord Romrytch was stroking his chin, looking from one to the other of the two oddly-perturbed faces.

"Humph! Produced an alibi, I take it. Satisfactory?"

"It's been accepted," said the vicar disagreeably. "The testimony was volunteered by three separate witnesses. Two persons saw him asleep in a field only a short disance out of Lydport. At a quarter to seven a 'bus conductor noticed him trundling his bicycle back into the town. He's confessed to hiding the body and later depositing it in the well, his motive being obvious. He'll receive a mild sentence for that act."

Rowan thought, "I needn't have told." She was not sorry, only slightly nervous over the possibility—it seemed more than that—of the vicar and Forbes having heard. Altho they had erupted with every appearance of precipitance the thick carpet inside had silenced their approach. She knew they had caught the tag end of her disclosure.

"Out of it, then," rapped Lord Romrytch, all business. "Good! Now what?" He let the tail of his eye drift toward his secretary, who avoided the glance.

"I understand," said the vicar laboriously, "that they are now calling in Scotland Yard. We shall have an inspector down here almost at once."

In the ensuing silence some one from below shouted "Oy!" It was Lady Romrytch, in singlet and shorts, beckoning with a tennis racket. Without turning Lord Romrytch gave Rowan a curt gesture of dismissal.

"Watch her practice," he ordered, still surveying the two men. "I'll be seeing you before you go."

Rowan obeyed. As she crossed the threshold she heard Lord Romrytch saying briskly, "Now give me the details."

Lady Romrytch greeted her information with a wide stare.

"You don't say! Well, maybe Henry can relax."

Rowan wished that she could. Egbert's safety spelled some person's ruin. Which person's? Not the murderer's, if her surmise was right and the typer of messages had got what he wanted. Lord Romrytch's suggestion that he might have taken only what incriminated himself and left the remainder for the police sounded altogether too reasonable. Her peril and Stephen's now darkened the whole sky.

She could not admire the superlative sports' house in front of which on a red tennis court Lady Romrytch bobbed about returning—or not returning—balls served her by an immaculate young pro. The hour under a roofed shelter with cushions at her back and iced drinks within reach dragged mercilessly, nor could she take delight in the blue tinted swimming pool where, in a bathing dress of the newest insufficiency, she presently disported herself. Events were moving too fast. Fast! They were boiling up like a sealed kettle, due any moment to explode.

She heard the irritable plop-plop of a motorcycle, saw the vicar's iron-clad shoulders charging homeward thru the park. So that one was gone. Did Lady Romrytch always take so long under the shower? The problem of how to shake free of her and see Lord Romrytch alone began to assume grave proportions.

"Drinks!" sighed Dahlia, throwing on a gay, printed wrap. "Isn't your tongue hanging out? Come along."

Back to the house, upstairs, across the cool dusk of a stripped pine room. Voices assailing them from the sun parlor—or rather one voice, strident, furiously pitched. Lord Romrytch's? A note Rowan had not heard.

Lady Romrytch knit her brows. Progress stayed, she poised, listening. Suddenly deserting her guest she darted thru the open window and indignantly intervened.

"Henry Bickers, are you crazy? You can't sack him. Why, you poor nut, Ed Forbes is the best secretary you ever had! Forbes! Here, be yourself!"

"Shut up," snarled her husband. "I have sacked him—and I know damned well what I'm doing. You keep out of this, d'you hear?"

Hose Makers Produce Best Neutral Tints

BY REA SEEGER.

One time when strict neutrality can be observed by both sides, right and left, is now! The hosiery experts went into a huddle and the best neutral tints ever unpacked are now ready for the subtle accent duty on the ankle lines.

There is nothing drab or dispirited about any of the new shades. They come in two and three thread chiffons, lend enchantment to the most ordinary or simple footgear and perform smoothly for day or evening wear.

Peter Pan, a long remembered flattery shade comes under this classification for silky smooth neutrality, and there is even a more subtle tint called Diana that also blends with everything—silk, wool and all colors of fabrics. Both Peter Pan and Diana are obtainable with soot black heels and the slender line of the back seam is also black.

New this season is a brownish neutral called clipper tan, exciting because of the darker shades of the toe and heel section. Even the slender back seam is sewed with the dark tone thread that matches the heel and toe sections.

In still another collection is another stand-by neutral, called spider possibly because it looks as fragile and is the same smoky gray color of a spider web. This tint goes with anything you own. It's just about the most subtle flatterer yet to seek the public welcome.

'Wyoming' Is Just Another Wild Western

"WYOMING."

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Richard Thorpe.
Presented at the Roosevelt.

THE CAST.

"Reb" Harkness	Wallace Beery
Pete Marillo	Leo Carrillo
Lucy Kincaid	Ann Rutherford
Sergt. Connelly	Lee Bowman
Gen. Custer	Paul Kelly
John Buckley	Joseph Calleia
Mehitabel	Marjorie Main
Jimmy Kincaid	Bobs Watson

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Well—I'd better tell you before you tell me. When I wrote the "Kit Carson" review I said that Paul Kelly as Gen. Custer was just a lot of false hair. I still say it but Custer wasn't in "Carson" he was in "Wyoming." I saw the two pictures close together and the old brain played me a trick. Excuse, pliss.

"Wyoming" is along in the same class with "Kit Carson." It's a "B" film, that will probably be greeted enthusiastically only by those who like Wallace Beery in anything.

It picks "Reb" up, shortly after the civil war as he and a pal [Leo Carrillo] engage in the business of holding up trains. . . . The law nips their heels and "Reb" skedaddles west, meeting up with a confederate soldier returning from the war to his cattle ranch and his motherless children Lucy and Jimmy.

The Grim Reaper mows Kincaid down as how the picture shall show you, and "Reb" becomes protector extraordinary to the orphaned kids, besides getting in a lot of work, clean and dirty, on the side.

Me—I did NOT care for the movie. You—mebbe will.

See you soon.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It would be possible these days to prepare a fairly elaborate banquet composed entirely of canned, packaged and prepared or semiprepared foods, and it could be a very enjoyable meal. One could start out, say, with chilled wild blueberry juice accompanied by tiny spiced crackers.

The dinner course could consist of canned pheasant in aspic, or smoked turkey ready cooked in sherry, and canned rice, sweet or white potatoes to accompany the fowl. Cranberry sauce might come out of a can, too, and we might add several kinds of frozen vegetables.

For the salad course we could use canned artichoke hearts, or salad fruits, and a prepared dressing. For dessert, how about crêpes suzette, out of a jar? There are even concentrated coffees for the demitasse.

Needless to say, one would prepare such a meal only for the novelty of it. Most prepared or semiprepared foods aren't luxury items, but dishes which the ordinary housewife can use to simplify her meal-getting and add variety to her menus. The list could be used to fill every available space in a dinner menu. It would be an almost endless task to try to itemize all such products, but a partial list might give a good many housewives an idea or two.

EXAMPLES OF SEMIPREPARED OR PREPARED FOODS.

APPETIZERS, MENU ACCESSORIES: All kinds of cocktail crackers and canape bases, cheese spreads, anchovy and sardine spreads, meat pastes, antipasto [combination of Italian appetizers], plain and fancy relishes, olives, pickles, jams, preserves, fresh and canned vegetable and fruit juices, clam juice, canned soups, bouillons, consommes, bouillon cubes and meat concentrates for broths, dairy prepared cottage cheese.

MEATS, FISH, POULTRY: Canned items, many of them with sauces, frozen steaks, chops, fish and fowl, completely ready to cook, minute and chip steaks, commercially prepared to cook in almost no time. Canned stews and chowders, ready cooked hams, prepared meat loaves and sausages.

POTATOES, OTHER VEGETABLES: Potato balls, potato salad, shoestring potatoes, potato chips, creamed potatoes, sweet potatoes packed both dry and in sirup are available. The list of frozen and canned vegetables is almost endless.

BREADS: One may buy packaged mixes for biscuits, gingerbread, several kinds of muffins, waffles and pancakes, packaged, ready to bake biscuits, canned date nut bread and, of course, bakeries provide limitless variety.

SALAD DRESSINGS: These include mayonnaise, boiled dressings, in-between types, dozens of variations of French dressing, thousand island and fruit salad dressings.

DESSERTS: Packaged pudding mixes, canned steamed puddings with or without accompanying sauces, cake mixes, pie mixes, ice cream mixes, commercial ice creams, bakery made cakes, pies and doughnuts, ready-to bake cookie doughs, and canned fruit are just a few possibilities.

BEVERAGES: There are cocoa mixes, powdered and liquid coffees for instant use, bottled drinks of many kinds, buttermilk from the dairy, to name only a few.

Some of these items save a cook's reputation in a crisis if they have found their way to her emergency shelf.

Oct. 29, 1940.

Universal day—Collect debts and repay them. Seek favors from those in authority.

November—For those in an eight year, November is an important month in which to get off by yourself and check your goal. You were probably too emotional in October, but try to free yourself now and stand on your own judgment. Take your own advice, be independent and willing to stand alone. You may experience some changes in yourself and your environment during November. It is the beginning of a general shift for you so these changes will not be permanent ones.

Year ahead—If you are celebrating today, you want to keep in mind that you are going to do more spending than earning in the coming year, so hoard a little.

Would you like to know what kind of a year 1941 will be for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Smart Three-Piece Costume

2612

MISS' THREE-PIECE COSTUME.

The threesome presented in the pattern today is what every young woman wants for her daytime hours, be she a business girl, a co-ed, or a high school student. The outfit consists of a blouse and a skirt AND a jerkin to match or contrast. It's a comfortable, practical, and pretty ensemble, in either woolen or crêpe.

Style No. 2612 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires ¾ yard of 54 inch material for jerkin; 1⅞ yards for skirt; and 2 yards of 39 inch material for long sleeved blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 24: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠K 10 8 5 3 ♥6 2 ♦A 10 4 ♣Q 4 2
What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. This, of course, is a "penalty pass." Since your partner has the strength for even a delayed takeout double, you should be able to punish the one no trump contract severely. You have a fair five card suit to open, a sure entry in diamonds, with possibly another trick in the diamond 10, and the club queen to help stop that suit. You have a far better chance to set the opponents than to bid and make game yourself. [20 points demerit for two spades, 35 points demerit for three spades or any other bid.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 30: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠A 10 8 5 2 ♥Q 4 ♦Q 9 7 5 3 ♣Q

Question 31: North-South vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

1 club	1 no trump	Pass	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	Pass	2 spades
Pass	?

You are South, and hold:

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 hearts	Pass	Pass
Pass

West opened the ten of spades, dummy's ace was played and declarer dropped the queen on the trick. Then, seeing that three diamonds and a spade apparently had to be lost, declarer attempted a hoax play—he immediately led the deuce of spades from dummy. East went into a huddle at this point. He didn't know whether declarer or West had the all-important nine spot. He finally "guessed" that declarer was hoping he would go up with the king; that the declarer was now void and would ruff, establishing the jack for a discard. So East ducked and South's nine won. After dummy was reentered and the trump finesse was successfully taken, declarer graciously conceded three diamond tricks to the discomfited defenders.

Elementary reasoning would have solved East's "problem." His partner had led the ten of spades originally. He could not have had four spades, because with four, the lowest is the conventional lead. Therefore, South was marked with at least two spades; since he dropped the queen on his own ace, he must have left the equally good nine spot. And anyway, East should have reasoned, if declarer didn't have one spade and three diamond losers, it would be impossible to defeat the contract, since the bidding had marked South with the club ace and the missing heart honors. All East had to do was put up his spade king and lead three rounds of diamonds to save a vulnerable game.

home, 1430 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Sullivan is receiving callers from a hospital bed which has been installed in the Sullivan's living room which overlooks the lake.

American Opera Society Holding Open Meeting.

The American Opera society will hold its first open meeting of the season this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Racquet club. Miss Edna Kellogg will give an operalogue on "The King's Henchman," by Deems Taylor and Edna St. Vincent Millay. Philip Jorgensen will be at the piano.

Mrs. Helen Rend Clarke, new president of the society, will preside at the meeting. Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Ralph Otis, Mrs. Archibald Freer, Mrs. John Halsey Blair, Mrs. Albert Wegener, and Miss Emily Larned will assist at the tea table after the program.

The board of the Peacock Camp for Crippled Children at Lake Villa will hold its annual meeting this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Casino. Mrs. William Miller of Lake Forest is the president. The building committee will make a report. The property on which it is hoped to erect a new building has been given by Mrs. William D. Haerther, Mrs. Maurice Reynolds, and Mrs. G. W. Reynolds, all née Peacock.

Mrs. Gordon Hoover of Evanston is giving a book shower this afternoon for Miss Elizabeth Buchen, who will become Mrs. Albert F. Winston on Saturday, Nov. 9. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. John Clifford is to be hostess at a kitchen shower at the home of her parents, the Rawleigh Warners, in Winnetka. Tomorrow night Miss Josephine Zeiss will give a dinner for the bridal party at the Dearborn parkway home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Zeiss.

Hayride Is Planned for Thursday Night.

The Butz brothers, Herbert and Bill, and Bill Croxton have planned a hayride in the country west of Winnetka for Thursday night. Miss Margaret Bell will entertain at dinner and dancing at the Indian Hill club on Friday. Next Monday Miss Patricia Kelly will give a dinner and theater party. On Thursday, Nov. 7, Miss Frances Price will be a dinner hostess at home in Winnetka and the next night Mr. and Mrs. Walther Buchen will give the bridal dinner for their daughter at the Indian Hill.

Mrs. Warren Shoemaker and her daughter, Miss Helen, will entertain the large bridal party at luncheon on the day of the wedding. There are to be 26 attendants at the ceremony, which will be performed by the Rev. Ashley Gerhard at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ church, Winnetka. The wedding reception will be given at the Buchen home in the same north shore village.

Another early November bride who is in the midst of prenuptial parties is Miss Priscilla Hawley, whose marriage to Whitman Ridgway is taking place on the 6th.

At a meeting of the opera box committee yesterday at the home of the president of the Chicago Opera company, Walter R. Kirk, and Mrs. Kirk, it was announced that election returns would be given at the performance on Tuesday night, Nov. 5. The opera that night will be "La Traviata," with an all-American cast including Helen Jepson, James Melton, and John Charles Thomas.

There will be one more meeting of the committee, which is headed by Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, and Mrs. Jacob Baur. Mrs. Fenton will be hostess that day, but the exact day has not been decided upon.

Mrs. James G. McMillan, president of the Illinois Opera guild, announced that 22 boxes for Friday night and $15,000 worth of tickets for that night have been sold. Friday night performances are in the board of education series.

WEDDING

BY NANCY CABOT.

Patches of prints and plaids from the scrap bag may be utilized in many ways. Prim maids in calico may parade across kitchen towels, on aprons, curtains, or hot pads. The hot iron transfer pattern contains complete instructions and color guide.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the calico girls, No. 714, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Oct. 28.—It is just about set for Paramount to borrow Clark Gable from Metro for the lead in Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bells Toll." Gary Cooper had been thought to have the inside track on this one. . . . Hollywood's professional screen writers are handing Hemingway the palm for the niftiest business deal in a long time. . . . Andy Devine says he got into the movies because of his size. He was big enough, before the days of sound booms, to conceal a microphone behind his back. . . . There's an apartment house near Grauman's Egyptian theater containing a small apartment which is never vacant for long. The landlady says "This is Myrna Loy's," and some young movie hopeful takes it on the spot. Myrna had it when she danced in prologs for Grauman.

Local headline: "World in Flames; Dorsey at Paramount." Well, he's hot, but not that hot. . . . Hey, Paul Muni! Edward G. Robinson is going to raise a beard for "The Sea Wolf." . . . Add actors' sidelines: William Haade, ex-New York steelworker, is president of the Labrador Mink Protective association, owns a valley mink farm which has already turned out a coat for his wife. Dick Lane, who plays a sailor in "Three Gobs and a Girl," an aviator in "I Wanted Wings" and who is a member of the Al Pearce radio gang, has been part owner of a Venetian blind factory, a fighter [Gentleman Danny McShane], a tire retreading firm and set up a New York dentist in practice.

What happens when you stir up a snake den or poke your grandfather's crutch into a hornets' nest is nothing compared to what happened here when the papers carried that excerpt from Robert Montgomery's speech before the Herald Tribune forum in New York.

The excerpt was a good gag line about any similarity between creative art and the motion picture industry being coincidental. It stung Hollywood to a bleating fury; Hollywood and some of its spokesmen and a spokeswoman charged Montgomery with gnawing the hand that feeds him clear to the elbow. It was almost as popular a topic of conversation as the colony's newest dirty scandal; almost, but not quite. The movies haven't had a dirty scandal for several years, and the new one is being enjoyed thoroly.

Unfortunate part of the affaire Montgomery is that his newsworthy gag line was separated from its context and from the inflection of the speaker's voice. The point the star was making—an excellent point, and one to infuriate a few high-placed people here and in New York—was not what the screamers and bleaters thought it was. Not in defense, but as explanation, Montgomery has bought space in both of today's trade journals to print the full text of his forum talk. I read the speech yesterday and talked with him about it; the speech is sound thinking and the speaker is sincere and has an adult brain.

Montgomery wasn't decrying the movies as art. His emphasis was upon the word "industry." The point he made was that the films as an industry—like automobiles or steel—lacked the best industrial leadership. And I think he's right. The front office men, whose salaries swell the production overhead, are often less than artistic gents to whom a thing of beauty is a winning race horse.

Fine and beautiful things come out of the films—an "Informer" or "Long Voyage Home" or the one Montgomery mentioned in his talk, "Good-by, Mr. Chips."

"But they are occasional," says he. "The industrial leadership of the movies is responsible for the comparatively poor quality of the average picture."

A Composer Talks.

Composer Roy Harris and his concert pianist wife, Johanna Harris, arrived in town yesterday to be here during rehearsals and for the world première Thursday evening of his new symphony, American Creed, which is dedicated to Dr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. They are staying with the Harrington Shortalls. Harris and his host were fellow students in Paris in 1926-'30 with famous teacher, Nadia Boulanger.

* * *

The new Harris symphony, which has two movements called Free to Dream and Free to Build, was written, the composer said yesterday, in his New York apartment that overlooks the Hudson, near the George Washington bridge. The view of the mighty river, one of the arteries of America, and of the 15 or 20 transAtlantic ships of many nations he sees lying idle at dock; his frequent motor trips up the Hudson and thru the Mohawk valley; the view of the barges that go up the river empty and come back laden; the park beneath his apartment windows, with its wonderfully planned gardens, where he goes for walks—these all are in his new symphony, according to Mr. Harris.

"Here is America," he added, referring to the above mentioned phenomena. "The idle ships of many lands that have lost their freedom are a reminder that we may not always have the America we know today unless we have pretty solid convictions and the morale to do something about those convictions. That is what my new piece is about," he concluded.

* * *

The slim, wiry, sandy-haired composer, who is a native of Oklahoma, is 42 and looks younger. A secondary enthusiasm is baseball. He used to play for the University of California and also played on a Sunday team on which a lot of big leaguers played who were living in California. The man who probably is America's most famous composer has a "baseball finger"—a broken knuckle on the fourth finger of his right hand.

"Probably the best thing that ever happened to me," he said. "Steered me away from playing the piano to composing."

Opening Night Wire.

From a father, who is convalescing in Passavant hospital after an operation, to a daughter who is appearing with the Guild Theater in Evanston in The Petrified Forest:

"Dear Daughter: May your opening be as successful as mine."

Nonsense Story.

Larry Adler tells the story of the burglar who was trying to force his way into a second story window. He had difficulty in getting in and, seeing a baby in its crib inside the window, said, in tones as gentle and endearing as he could make them: "Good 'ittle baby help nice burglar get in." Whereupon the baby answered, "Listen, you big bum, I can't even walk yet."

Illinois Symphony Orchestra Greeted by Large Audience

The Illinois Symphony orchestra gave its first concert of the season last night before a large audience in the Studebaker theater. Ralph Rose, who has led the ensemble in several summer concerts, conducted, and Lee Pattison, the American pianist, made his first appearance here in six years as soloist in Beethoven's Fourth concerto.

Mr. Pattison played with great fluency, agreeable accentuation, the proper dynamics and no distortion of the phrases; but his tone was superficial, there was no sweep to any of the grander passages and none of the emphases or deliberations which give Beethoven's developing phrases their profound meaning.

In the Handel-Harty "Water Music," which began the program, and the accompaniment to the concerto Mr. Rose conducted unostentatiously and with good tempi. He found his most congenial material, however, in the other number on the program, Vaughan Williams' "Job, a Masque for Dancing." This unusually beautiful score, composed for a ballet after William Blake's drawings, he presented with fine authority and feeling for the long, pastoral sequences and slow dance rhythms. The orchestra responded with an excellent performance of a work new to it.

Over in Kimball hall Anne McIsaac, a young mezzo-soprano who will make her debut with the Chicago Opera company as Rosette in "Manon" on Nov. 9, gave a song recital. She has a rich, sensuous voice, as yet covered too much in production. She sang a group of French songs with considerable intelligence, and when she learns to control the coloristic devices she uses, should be an artist worth hearing.

TWO FURNITURE SHOWS ATTRACT 2,000 ATTENDANCE

About 2,000 buyers and merchandise managers attended the opening day of the midseason home furnishings market yesterday at the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart. A new first day attendance record was set at the Merchandise Mart, with about 500 registering on the furniture floors.

It was reported that prices in the furniture lines are up 5 to 10 per cent. At the Merchandise Mart, upholstered goods were reported to be selling better than "case" furniture, such as dining room and bedroom sets, while the American Furniture Mart said that dealers were looking first at the "case" furniture.

Ecus Vaughn and his wife after he won cornhusking championship of Illinois near Aledo yesterday.

Aledo, Ill., Oct. 28 (AP). — Ecus Vaughn, youthful Piatt county farm hand, set a new state record today when he picked 45.436 bushels of corn in 80 minutes to win the Illinois husking championship for the second consecutive year.

Vaughn, who first won the crown in Danville last year, was closely pressed by Irving Bauman of Woodford county, twice state and once national champion, who husked 45.23 bushels. Both men will represent the state at the national contest near Davenport, Ia., on Oct. 30.

The previous state record of 41.175 bushels established by Adam Baczynski of La Salle county at De Kalb in 1936 took a sound drubbing today.

Vaughn's load was 3,200 pounds, compared with 3,240 for Bauman, but the winner's gleanings were only 19.5 pounds with no deductions. Bauman had gleanings of 18.5 pounds and total deductions of 73.64 pounds. Vaughn's load of corn was the last to go across the scales when the contest ended.

TRIBUNE BUREAU ANSWERS FLOOD OF DRAFT CALLS

Thousands of telephone calls for draft board information were received by THE TRIBUNE's public service department in coöperation with the Tribune Tower switchboard system yesterday.

Calls began to pour in before 8 a. m. and continued to increase until by 1 p. m. more than 2,500 had been answered. "What draft board should I go to for information about my serial number?" was the question asked most often. This necessitated finding the precinct and ward of each inquirer. Yet an average of 500 calls an hour was serviced by 20 TRIBUNE employés on 20 telephones. Five operators were added to the main switchboard staff to aid in handling the rush.

James Gillespie, head of the public service department, said the rush was reminiscent of the day when America entered the world war.

JURY SELECTED FOR WAUKEGAN ASSAULT TRIAL

A jury was selected yesterday before Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Circuit court at Waukegan to try Wallace L. Clark, 39 years old, a real estate dealer at 30 North Michigan avenue, on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon. Clark was arrested in his home on Aug. 11 on the complaint of his wife, Mary Louise, that he had fired three shots at their residence, 276 Cedar avenue, Highland Park. He overpowered and disarmed the first two policemen to answer Mrs. Clark's call and fired at another policeman who came to the aid of the other two, it is charged.

DRAFT NUMBERS TO COME OUT OF FISH BOWL TODAY

National Lottery Starts at 11 A. M. in Capital.

No. 3. In a board with only 2,000 registrants, however, there would be no serial number 3,500, so the man with serial number 398 would get order No. 2.

After each board has established its order number list, it will begin sending out eight page questionnaires at the rate of 50 per cent per day and continue until one-half of its registrants have received them. Then, under present instructions received by Illinois draft officials, the mailing will be halted for a time.

5 Days Given to Answer Query.

Registrants must fill out and return the questionnaires to their respective draft boards within five days.

The boards classify their registrants on a basis of the information received in this questionnaire, placing each man in one of four classes:

Class 1—Available for service. [It is men in this class only who will be called for a year's training. It is only these men, furthermore, who get physical examinations].

Class 2—Deferred because civilian activity is considered necessary.

Class 3—Deferred because of dependents.

Class 4—Defered by law [including officials and aliens who have not declared intention of becoming citizens] or deferred for physical, mental or moral unfitness.

Expect Two-Thirds to be Deferred.

Altho the number who will be deferred cannot be known, officials estimate two-thirds will receive deferments for various reasons, including dependents, occupational status, and physical disability. This proportion is practically borne out by figures from the world war. Of 10,679,814 registrants from June 5, 1917, to Sept. 11, 1918, 36.55 per cent were deferred for dependency, 4.13 per cent because of their occupations, and 24.61 per cent for other reasons—a total of 65.29 per cent. This meant that about 34.71 per cent were taken into service.

Some officials believe the rates of deferment will be higher now as a result of a more lenient policy of giving registrants the benefit of doubt, and that the percentage of men inducted into the army would be lower than during the world war.

Other Factors Considered.

Other factors also will enter into any computation of the percentage of those who would be called, or would be in class 1, and hence eligible for call. In a local board area in an industrial district, for instance, it is possible that the deferments might be higher than in other areas because of what is classed as necessary civilian activity.

Then the quotas for the state, computed and announced in Washington, determine when and how many registrants will be called. The present national quota, set at 800,000 by next June 1, is broken down into seven subquotas, the first on Nov. 18. Illinois' quota up to June 1 is 62,223, and about half of this, or 31,111, will come from Cook county.

Early Quotas Estimated.

On the basis of the announced national quotas for various dates of call, each of the 180 draft boards in Cook county would be required to furnish seven men on Nov. 18, 13 on Dec. 2, 13 on Jan. 3, 20 on Jan. 15, 34 on Feb. 10, 43 on March 5, and 43 on June 1. The total would be 173.

Figuring that about two-thirds of all registrants will be deferred, the average board will go thru 21 order numbers to get its first 7 men on Nov. 18, and will go thru the next 39 numbers to get the 13 men required on Dec. 2, and so on.

The first two quotas, it was explained, may be filled largely with volunteers, who automatically go to the heads of their respective board lists. This, of course, would delay still further reaching the order numbers of most boards.

SEIZED IN FIGHT DEATH.

Police charged Frank Green Jr., 3335 Union avenue, with manslaughter yesterday as the result of the death Saturday of August Virbalis, 3336 Lowe avenue. Virbalis was found dead of a skull fracture in the alley behind his home after an argument with Green. Green said that Virbalis fell while chasing him. Virbalis was 51 years old. Green is 36.

TRIAL DATE SET FOR NITTI AND 6 IN UNION GRAB

Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, Murray Humphreys, members of the old Capone gang, and five associates were ordered yesterday by Judge John Bolton in Criminal court to stand trial Nov. 18 on charges of conspiracy to seize control of the bartenders' union and its lucrative treasury.

Co-defendants with Nitti and Humphreys are Louis Romano, president of the union and alleged front for the Nitti gang; Frederick Evans, accused of being the financial brains for the gang; Tom Panton, ousted business agent for the union, and two fugitives, Paul Ricca and Louis "Little New York" Campagna.

Nitti made a brief appearance in court yesterday and vanished after Chief Justice James F. Fardy had assigned the case to Judge Bolton. Nitti's attorney, Edward S. King, said Nitti was suffering from ulcers.

In Circuit court Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the union, filed a report of his management before Judge Robert J. Dunne. He asked the court to approve his action in dropping Harold Levy from the payroll as union attorney at $400 a month and in stopping the $300 monthly payment to the local joint executive board, thru which 15 unions are managed.

Keehn also asked Judge Dunne to amend the union's by-laws to require election of officers by a majority of votes instead of by a plurality. Union officials were given ten days to answer the report.

DRAFT REGISTRANTS GET NUMBERS WITH JIMMY AND PLIERS

Locked doors at 9th draft board headquarters, 1233 East 55th street, and 38th board headquarters, 3726 Roosevelt road, meant practically nothing last night. Men anxious to learn their registration numbers crawled thru the transom on 55th street, and jimmied the door on Roosevelt road.

In both headquarters the lights were turned off. Candles and flashlights made their appearance, and men read their own numbers or listened as volunteers went down the list. At the south side office an electrician in the crowd found the meter, made a few expert adjustments with pliers, and the lights came on.

Police were called at both places but did nothing, since the crowd seemed merely friendly. John A. Leeth, 6220 Ingleside avenue, chairman of the 9th board, and George J. Goodman, 3545 Douglas boulevard, 38th board secretary, were summoned. Goodman strung lights from next door and kept the office open to midnight. Leeth told the crowd the lists weren't complete and that, besides, their numbers would be mailed. Neither asked [1] who turned on the meter, or, [2] who jimmied the door.

INJURIES CRIPPLE PACKERS FOR BEARS' GAME

HARRIS LEADS CANDIDATES FOR INDIANS' MANAGERSHIP

VITT FIRED AS AFTERMATH OF PLAYER REVOLT

Sewell and Cochrane Mentioned for Job.

Oscar Vitt.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians closed one of the most bizarre chapters in baseball history today by firing Oscar Vitt, the manager whose ouster 12 players demanded in an unprecedented rebellion last June

Even Vitt was not surprised.

Alva Bradley, club president, read Vitt's requiem with the terse announcement:

"We have decided not to renew Oscar Vitt's contract."

Vitt Not Surprised.

At his Oakland, Cal., home, Vitt said:

"I can't exactly say that I am surprised. At no time were next year's plans discussed with me and I knew long before the close of the season that unless drastic changes were made it would be impossible for me to work under the present circumstances.

"It doesn't look as tho these changes are being made so I am just as well satisfied.

"I made plenty of money for the Indians in the last three years, and I have no regrets. Unless I get a job that will pay me well I presume Old Os will just retire.

Offers His Sympathy.

"Whoever gets the job has my best wishes—also my sympathy."

The club's decision opened wide the field of speculation over a 1941 pilot.

"I am not certain now when or how a new manager will be selected," Bradley said after a directors' meeting. "Perhaps the directors will study the applicants and leave the formal naming to me."

Bradley said he had a long list of applicants, but it was generally believed Bucky Harris, Washington pilot, was being given first consideration. Luke Sewell, Cleveland coach; Roger Peckinpaugh, former Indians' manager, and Mickey Cochrane, former Detroit boss, also have been mentioned frequently for the rôle of manager No. 15 in the Cleveland dynasty. Bradley confirmed last week that he had conferred with Harris and Sewell.

Goes to Cleveland in 1938.

Vitt, who came here in 1938 after piloting Newark to the International league title, brought the Indians home second this year, one game off the pace of the champion Detroit Tigers. The club finished third in his first two seasons.

Vitt was the fifth manager here since Tris Speaker won the city's only pennant with the 1920 team. Jack McAllister, Peckinpaugh, Walter Johnson, and Steve O'Neill were fired ahead of him.

Pitcher Bob Feller, one of the protesting players in the June rebellion, commented at his home in Van Meter, Ia.:

"I hope that everything will be for the best."

JOE LOUIS WILL BACK WILLKIE IN SEVEN SPEECHES

New York, Oct. 28 [Special].—The hard hitting support of Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion boxer, will be made available to Wendell L. Willkie for President in seven speeches in the east and west this week, Francis E. Rivers, director of the colored division of the Republican national committee, announced today.

Louis, who announced in Detroit Saturday that he was "in Willkie's corner," will have the following speaking schedule: Detroit, tomorrow; St. Louis, Wednesday; New York, Thursday, speaking the same night in Newark; Cleveland, Friday; Chicago, Sunday, and Baltimore, Monday.

Coach and Brightest Pupil

Amundsen's Goblins Winging Way Toward Sectional Title

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Halloween has come all too soon for the members of seven football teams in the north division of the Public School league. Goblins, wearing the uniforms of Amundsen High, have been winging their way toward the sectional title, sending such perennial favorites as Lane Tech and Senn to hunt more peaceful scenes, far away from the series which will involve the four best elevens in the city on Nov. 16.

There were no frightened teams in the section at the start of the season. Amundsen, which opened its doors only seven years ago, was defeated by New Trier and Thornton in practice games. But suddenly, things began to happen. The Vikings now rule the section with five consecutive victories, the last victim being Taft, 19 to 7. Amundsen, however, still has two games to play before qualifying for the playoffs, opposing Sullivan Saturday afternoon and Roosevelt on Nov. 9.

Brilliant Passing Attack.

If the Roosevelt and Sullivan players do not spend restful evenings it's probably because of Amundsen's brilliant passing combination of Left Half Back William [Red] Johnson and Right End Art Stevens, which has clicked for at least one touchdown in every league contest. Johnson and Stevens are two of the biggest players on the squad, the former being 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighing 165 pounds. Stevens weighs 175 pounds and is 6 feet, 3 inches tall.

Amundsen also boasts it has one of the best kickers in the league in Ralph Norman, 160 pound right half back. The other members of the regular squad include Curt Mellin and Jim Phillips, tackles; Al Glassen and Roy Hawkinson, guards; Wallie Hirsch, center; Bernie McPhail, left end; Howie Kirchwehrn, quarter back, and Gene Granberg, full back. The line averages 175 pounds, with Hirsch the heaviest at 190.

Coaches Never Played.

Amundsen's coach, Louis C. Jorndt, like Austin's Bill Heiland, never played collegiate football. Jorndt was a member of Lindblom's eleven in 1925 and 1926. Later he enrolled at Northwestern, but did not play for the Wildcats. If Amundsen disposes of Sullivan and Roosevelt, the Vikings' opponent in the semi-final round will be Lindblom, which already has qualified as the central division's representative.

"The boys have given a swell account of themselves in every league game so far," says Jorndt. "We have had no serious injuries and we hope our good fortune continues. We have watched all previous All-City games between the champions of the Catholic and Public school leagues, and our objective now is to become the Public league's representative in Soldiers' field on Nov. 30."

Piepul May Miss Army Game

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 28 [Special].—Notre Dame's captain, Milt Piepul, may miss Saturday's Army game in New York, the contest for which he has pointed his entire football career, it was disclosed today.

Piepul, who hails from Thompsonville, Conn., came out of the 26 to 0 victory over Illinois Saturday with a bruised hip and some torn muscles in his side. Trainer Eugene Young took the immediate precaution of freezing the injured area and instructing Piepul to keep walking. The 208 pound full back was given special attention today when Coach Elmer Layden dismissed the squad from practice.

"Army seems to be down a little this year and maybe Milt won't be needed," Layden said today. "But I know what the Army game meant to us in 1924, and what it always has meant to the boys, particularly to those from the east. If we can possibly have Milt ready, he will play. His folks will be at the game, along with a lot of friends from New England."

Layden warned the squad against a let-down. "We'll be the favorites," he said, "and we might get a little smug. That's when injuries and upsets occur—and the Army game has never been a tea party."

Bernie Crimmins, Louisville junior, who has scored five touchdowns in 15 trips with the ball, as Piepul's understudy, will move up to the first team. Crimmins failed to score as a sophomore at right half, but has taken to his new post in good style, even tho injuries prevented him from scrimmage before the opening game.

CORNELL TAKES LEAD IN EAST AS TWO RIVALS FALL

It's a Great Team Despite Ohio's Charges.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Cornell-Ohio State game Saturday proved that the Big Red quite likely is the best football team in the east and should retain its Ivy league championship. Cornell's victory over the Buckeyes coincided with Fordham's defeat by St. Mary's, and Columbia's 3 to 0 licking by Syracuse.

For Ohio State's hapless Buckeyes, their thoro whipping was something of a climax to a campaign in which their victory over Purdue was gained on a field goal by a player who should have been ineligible due to previous illegal substitution. After that a victory over Minnesota may have been denied because a pass from center hit the leg of a Buckeye guard. And, now, Ohio State officials have charged that Coach Carl Snavely of Cornell was guilty Saturday of directing his team from the side line.

Snavely already has entered denial and it probably is incredible he would add falsehood to chicanery since his players also must know the truth. In this case, at least, honesty should be the better policy.

Buckeyes Poor Interpreters.

Snavely also might have said in rebuttal that, if signals were given and if they were so readily understood by the Buckeye bench, some one should have explained the system to the Ohio State players. After the first period the Buckeyes certainly didn't know when Cornell would pass, run, or plunge. Indeed, Ohio State's complete collapse—one first down was made by rushing in 47 minutes—must have been bitterly humiliating.

No one yet has come forward with an explanation for the uncanny skill of Cornell's backs and center in knowing where and when Don Scott of Ohio State would pass. Five of Scott's passes were intercepted, one setting up a Cornell touchdown.

Nine Plays; Three Touchdowns.

Cornell's tight secondary defense, in which Center Frank Finneran scintillated, was only one reason for success. The speed with which Cornell struck was astonishing. The Redmen used only nine plays to score their three touchdowns, and these nine plays gained a total of 123 yards.

Ohio State defended with a seven man line and diamond secondary defense in the first half. Scott backed up the line. But this defense yielded four completions in seven Cornell passes in the second period. One of these scored, to match the Buckeyes' earlier march. More important, when Cornell reverses cleared the end of the Ohio State line, the defending half back almost always was faced by two blockers.

KAPLAN WINNER OVER MILT ARON IN TEN ROUNDS

WILDCATS HOPE TO GET WILDER FOR MINNESOTA

Indiana Game Shocks Players, Coaches.

Northwestern's Wildcats began preparations yesterday for Saturday's homecoming encounter with unbeaten Minnesota, fully aware that their four game winning streak will be seriously jeopardized by the Gophers. The Gophers also boast four victories.

Nor were the Wildcats able to obtain much satisfaction from their victory over Indiana. Players and coaches alike were ready to admit they were fortunate to triumph over the Hoosiers, who outplayed them during 50 minutes of the game.

Coach Lynn Waldorf pointed out yesterday that Northwestern's offense against Indiana was the poorest in the last five years. The Wildcats gained only 115 yards in running plays and crossed the 50 yard line only twice. They ran only 38 plays, after having averaged 60 in other games this season.

Gophers Can Pass.

Coach Litz Rusness, who has scouted the Gophers in their four games this season, did not lessen the Wildcats' uneasiness. In addition to their traditional power attack, Rusness reported the Gophers also possess a dangerous passing game this year.

Neither Northwestern nor Minnesota has used the forward pass extensively, yet both have set up scoring opportunities thru the air. The Gophers completed two of eight passes against Iowa and both went for touchdowns. Northwestern completed two out of three against Indiana. Both placed the ball inside the 10 yard line and touchdowns resulted.

Two Backs Return.

The Wildcats expect to be strengthened this week by the return of Bill DeCorrevont and Ike Kepford, half backs, who have been out with injuries. Kepford, who was the starting right half back in early games, sustained a shoulder injury against Ohio State and has not played since. DeCorrevont sprained an ankle in the Wisconsin game and was unable to play against Indiana.

Jim Smith, regular left end, suffered a sprained ankle against Indiana and it will not be determined for several days whether he will be able to play this Saturday. Smith's injury was the only casualty Saturday.

Five thousand tickets still are available for the game.

BIERMAN CANCELS LEAVE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 28 [Special].—Today was to be a day of rest in the Minnesota football camp. But Coach Bernie Bierman recalled that "reward for a victory over Iowa" and ordered the Gophers to prepare for the Northwestern game.

What concerned Bierman most was the psychological effect of the Indiana game. He was told the Wildcats were mightily displeased with their work against Indiana and were pledged to rebound—against Minnesota. He realizes that Minnesota is one team Northwestern always is up for, and the Gophers haven't beaten Northwestern in Evanston since 1929.

The Gophers emerged from Saturday's rout of Iowa without major casualties. The team will leave at noon Friday for Milwaukee. They will leave Milwaukee at 10:20 o'clock Saturday for Evanston.

Jack Walker Knocks Out Trammell in 5th Round

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 28 (AP).—Jack Walker, 186, Columbus, O., knocked out Jack Trammell, 192½, Negro of Youngstown, O., in the fifth round of a scheduled 10 round fight tonight. Eddie Finnazzi, 149, Baltimore, scored a technical knockout in the fifth round over Tony Reno, 152, New York, in the semi-final.

LOSE SVENDSEN, JANKOWSKI AND PERHAPS HINKLE

Isbell's Return a Cheering Note.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

One week from today it may be possible to devote this space to the naming of the western division champion of the National Football league. The mighty Bears play the Green Bay Packers in Wrigley field Sunday. Victory virtually will assure the Bears of a place in the league playoff game against the eastern champions on Dec. 8.

Bear stock soared yesterday with the announcement by Coach Curley Lambeau that new injuries had befallen his Packers. Center George Svendsen and Full Back Eddie Jankowski were in the hospital last night with wrenched knees, suffered in the Pittsburgh game in Milwaukee Sunday. Full Back Clark Hinkle is under a physician's care.

Hinkle's Back Injured.

Hinkle's back was hurt in the fourth quarter when he was tackled far out of bounds by a Steeler and thrown against the fence that surrounds the gridiron at State Fair grounds. At the time of the accident Hinkle minimized the extent of his injury. By the time the team returned to Green Bay, however, he was in bad shape and yesterday physicians could give Lambeau no asurance that the veteran full back would be able to face the Bears.

Jankowski and Svendsen definitely are lost and will see the game from the stand with Joe Laws, the Packers' spark plug, who went out several weeks ago with a damaged knee. The only encouraging word physicians brought Lambeau was a promise they would have Cecil Isbell ready by Sunday. Isbell has been ill. He is underweight and was withheld from the Pittsburgh game, but Lambeau hopes to have him built up sufficiently for a 60 minute performance by the week-end.

It's a Crucial Battle.

Sunday's game looms as the key to the western division title. The Bears, thru their performance in New York, indicated they might actually be as good as every one thought they would be. If they continue to roll over the Packers, whom they maltreated, 41 to 10, earlier in the season, the Chicagoans will need only two victories in their four remaining games to tie, provided Green Bay wins its final four games.

After Green Bay, the Bears meet Detroit, Washington, Cleveland, and the Cardinals. A super team—that is what they are calling the Bears in New York—should be able to take two out of this alignment.

Redskins Win the Hard Way.

While the Bears were squaring several old counts with the Giants Sunday, Washington managed to surprise Detroit and the rest of the league by winning a football game without several touchdown passes by Sammy Baugh. Baugh was in the game, but the Lions' defense apparently was so busy stopping him it forgot to watch Jimmy Johnston and Dick Todd, two backs who can go the distance against any team if given a running start.

Washington tackles Pitsburgh this week and Detroit is paired with Cleveland. Detroit needs victory in this game and all others on its schedule if it is to figure in the title picture. Washington also cannot afford to lose Sunday, despite its two game lead and six consecutive triumphs, for it has Brooklyn, the Bears and the Giants coming up yet.

Tinsley Quits Cardinals.

New York, which might not have been surprised at defeat in the Bear game, but was stunned by the ease and completeness of the whipping its Giants took, will cross the river Sunday to tackle a little more even competition in the form of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Gaynell Tinsley, Cardinal end, turned in his uniform yesterday when an examination revealed he had suffered torn ligaments in his left knee in Sunday's victory over Cleveland. Tinsley suffered the injury in the second quarter when he tackled Parker Hall, Cleveland's star runner and passer. The Cardinals do not play this week.

Griffith to Tell Shrine "Inside Story of Big 9½"

Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western conference, will discuss football before the members of the Shrine Lunch club meeting in the College Inn of the Sherman hotel today. Griffith has chosen for his subject "Football—The Inside Story of the Big Nine and One-Half."

KEIPER BOOTS HOME 3 WINNERS AT SPORTSMAN'S

Increases Lead in Jockey Race; Lo Turco Set Down.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Paul Keiper, who seems determined that no one is going to catch him in the struggle for Sportsman's Park jockey honors, rode three more winners yesterday, bringing in Prahs in the first race, Grimaldi in the sixth, and Arabic in the eighth to run his total for the meeting to 26. This performance, which followed up his three successful efforts of Saturday, kept him far ahead of his leading rivals, Leon Haskell and Steve Brooks.

Haskell and Brooks each brought in one yesterday. Haskell scored with Eternal Wave in the third to run his total to 17 and Brooks scored with Fair Haste in the fifth to make it 16 for him. Meanwhile, Andy LoTurco, whose total remained at 16 when he went thru the afternoon without a winner, was eliminated from the contest when he incurred a suspension for the remainder of the meeting for grabbing Fair Haste's saddle cloth in the fifth race. His case was referred to the Illinois Racing commission for further action.

They Play the Jockeys.

The Sportsman's Park fans are particularly fond of playing jockeys because riding skill counts for so much on the precarious turns of this half mile oval. The owners, too, are particularly alert about engaging a good jockey when they feel that their horses have reached winning form. Thus the jockeys get the best horses here more frequently than on other tracks.

Keiper had no trouble at all bringing in Prahs at odds of a little better than 6 to 1, but he had to hustle to win with Grimaldi at a little more than 7 to 1. He sent Prahs into a long lead on the first turn of a five furlong dash and kept him up there all the way to score by four lengths over Pin Ears, which was ridden by Haskell. Lydia K. was third. Prahs returned his backers $14.80, $6.60, and $4.20 across the board.

Keiper had to use his best judgment to get Grimaldi home on top in the six and a half furlong sixth race. He kept him fairly close to the leaders in the earlier stages and got him up in the last 50 yards after a hard drive to win by half a length. Savitar was second and Dusky Prince third.

Keiper's victory on Arabic was by four lengths. He brought Arabic up approaching the last turn of the mile and an eighth race and won by four lengths. Perplex was second and Mighty Proud third. The winner paid $9.20, $4.80, and $3.80.

LoTurco Is Set Down.

The incident which led to LoTurco's suspension occurred in a hard stretch drive in the mile and seventy yard fifth race. LoTurco, aboard Knee Deep, was driving his mount along head and head with Fair Haste, which was ridden by Brooks. In the course of the duel, LoTurco, according to the stewards, impeded Fair Haste by grabbing the saddle cloth. The suspension is to begin today without the customary day of grace, which is generally allowed.

Jockey Nick Jemas was shaken up when his mount, Orita, fell in crowded quarters immediately after finishing third to Jules Lazard in the seventh race.

OLD FRIENDS STIR UP FEUD IN 1940 6 DAY BICYCLING

Six-day bicycle fans will welcome two old favorites back to the Chicago Stadium when the 1940 race gets under way Nov. 10. But they won't see these riders paired as a team. The cyclists are Alfred Letourner of France and Gerard Debaets of Belgium. Letourner and Debaets competed for many years as a team in the New York six-day race in Madison Square Garden as well as in Chicago, but their long time friendship was broken up at the Nutley, N. J., outdoor saucer last summer.

Letourner defeated Debaets in a motor paced bicycle race on the outdoor track. When the contest was over, Debaets rushed into Letourner's dressing room and accused him of unfair tactics in the race. The argument waxed red hot and Letourner clouted Debaets over the head with a wrench. Debaets needed hospital treatment. When he was released, the Belgian went to police headquarters and had Letourner arrested for assault. Letourner was bound over to a grand jury and is now out on $5,000 bail.

Letourner and Debaets have been competitive rivals twice since then, in six-day races in Washington, D. C., and Montreal. Letourner finished ahead of Debaets in both races.

TWO SUSPENDED AT LAUREL AFTER SALIVA TESTS

Laurel, Md., Oct. 28 (AP).—Laurel race track stewards suspended Trainer G. L. Hamilton today for the remainder of the meeting after saliva tests on the horse Crius, winner of the seventh race here Oct. 24.

Suspended with Hamilton were all horses owned by W. J. Susini of Laurel, and a stable groom, John Welsh.

The ruling gave first money in the Oct. 24 race to H. G. Bedwell's Ace Call, place money to Pollenator and show to Dulie.

THE ICE IS OUT AGAIN; HAWKS GO UNEXPERTED

But St. Paul Rink Should Jell by Today, Fans.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 28.—Readers of the sports pages of THE TRIBUNE last week saw our promises to expert the Blackhawks on skates. That is, the Blackhawks, not your annotator, were to be on skates.

The reason skates were presented in these experting promises as a sort of Blackhawk novelty, was because the Hawks, in the first 10 days of their training camp in Hibbing, Minn., were sans ice, on account of a busted valve in the rink. We were glad we did not go to the iceless Hibbing, and planned our inspection for St. Paul's handsome rink.

We got here yesterday, ahead of the Hawks, and just to make sure, inquired at the St. Paul rink if there would be ice. The man seemed a little huffy when he said there would be ice by dawn today.

Meets Manager Thompson.

Well, the Hawks got to St. Paul before midnight last night and we, on the qui vive, even more than usual, met Manager Paul Thompson in front of the hotel and asked him when we were to have the privilege of seeing the new edition of Hawks on skates.

"At 8 o'clock tomorrow morning," shouted Paul, and there was a note of triumph and accomplishment in his voice.

So we got up at 7 o'clock this morning, which is an unheard of hour for a morning paper journalist to be about, unless he stays up till that time playing poker. Hastily draping our figure and dashing a modicum of talcum on our unshaven phiz, we dashed to the lobby. The first gents we met were Manager Thompson and Press Agent Joe Farrell, both pacing the floor.

Mr. Farrell Just Mutters.

"Be sure to tell the Chicago Stadium that we'll be wanting ice for our season opener against the New York Americans on Nov. 7," Paul was screaming at Joe. As for Joe, he was just muttering.

"What's happened?" inquired we, alarmed.

"We ain't got no ice," said the usually grammatic Paul, lapsing into the vernacular.

"I just called the rink superintendent and the rink didn't jell last night. The fellow said there didn't seem to be any trouble with the valve like in Hibbing and that maybe there will be ice some time before midnight."

Thompson Tells the News.

By this time the lobby was full of eager young men, their superfluous skates hanging from their shoulders. When they had all assembled, Manager Thompson addressed them, telling them the news.

Soon all disappeared and we couldn't tell whether or not they were unhappy about their iceless plight. We did hear, however, that some of them went back to bed, ready to spring forth again, if and when the St. Paul rink jells.

Tomorrow we may be able to report on two practices, for in addition to the provisional catch as catch can workout held late today, a real drill is scheduled for 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and, confused as we are, we'll be on hand when the lads skate out.

To Chicago hockey fans, however, it may be said in the meanwhile there is no occasion for anxiety over the condition of the Hawks. With all the ice trouble, the squad is in great shape physically.

The visit here will include exhibition games next Thursday and Sunday nights with the Saints, American association champions.

Dog Obedience Training Grows in Popularity

BY BOB BECKER.

More Chicagoland owners of dogs now are interested in training their pets in obedience and good manners than at any time in the history of organized dog activities in this portion of the central states.

Just a few years ago the only dog training club in the Chicago area met in a prairie on the far northwest side, and its membership included a handful of German shepherd owners. Now there are eight training clubs here in Chicago.

The all-breed training clubs in the Chicago area are as follows:

West Point Training club, meets 8 p. m. each Wednesday at Waveland hall, 3654 Southport avenue. Secretary: Mrs. R. W. Poore, 1108 East 45th street, Chicago. Ludwig Gessner is the instructor.

North Shore Dog Training club, meets Wednesday evening at the Noyes school, Evanston. Oscar Franzen, 1715 South Sheridan road, Highland Park, is president.

South Side Obedience class, meets 7:30 p. m. every Friday at the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets. Mrs. Arthur E. Schwind, 6628 South Laflin street, secretary.

Pet or Pest club, meets 8 p. m. each Wednesday at the V. and M. Kennels, 445 East Erie street. Mrs. Mary von Moizeck, same address, secretary.

Four of the eight clubs which meet in the Chicagoland area are exclusively for German shepherds. The Companion Shepherd Dog club [for German shepherds only] meets from 10 a. m. until noon every Sunday, and from 7 to 9 p. m. every Wednesday at Grand avenue and La Grange road, Franklin Park.

The German Shepherd Dog Training club of Chicago meets from 10 a. m. until noon every Sunday at 3400 North River road, just north of Belmont avenue. W. F. Stephenson, 5416 Kamerling avenue, is the secretary.

The First Training Club for German Shepherd Dogs meets from 10 until noon every Sunday at Addison street and Cumberland avenue.

The Lincolnwood Training Club, Inc., meets every Sunday morning at Lincoln and Crawford avenues, Lincolnwood, a village at the northwest limits of Chicago.

Faetz's 702 Leads Mates to 3 Victories

Leo Faetz, continuing his sensational bowling streak, rolled games of 213, 257, and 232 for a 702 series last night and boosted his season's average from 218 to 220 in the North End Traveling league. He helped the Chapin & Gore quintet win three games and increase their lead to four games over Birk's Trophy Beers, who lost two to the Koenigs.

Fox De Luxe scored 3,161 for the second best series in the league this season. Scores:

Murphy Lost; Parker Back in Iowa Camp

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 28 [Special].—The Iowa casualty ledger was balanced again today when Bill Parker, sophomore end from Des Moines, turned out for his first practice since he went on the injured list during the South Dakota game more than three weeks ago.

The return of Parker, one of the most promising first year men on the squad, made up in part, at least, for the loss of the Hawkeyes' star plunger—bespectacled Ray Murphy—who suffured a shoulder separation in the Minnesota game Saturday. Murphy will be out for at least three weeks, doctors reported today.

Meanwhile, Coach Eddie Anderson told his players to forget the Gopher defeat—the worst suffered since Anderson came here two years ago—and to think about the homecoming affair here Saturday with Purdue.

The players drilled on a soggy field. They worked on blocking and tackling and went about perfecting their offense and defense for the Boilermaker invasion.

PURDUE INFURIATED.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 28 [Special].—More infuriated than downcast over their loss to Wisconsin in the last six seconds of play, Purdue football players had a determined air as they settled down to drill this afternoon for the game with Iowa at homecoming in Iowa City Saturday.

Altho disappointed, Coach Mal Elward commended the squad as a whole for the workmanlike manner in which it dominated the game with Wisconsin until the final moments. He had particular praise for a number of sophomores, including Marion [Red] Carter and Paul Anderson, half backs, and Fred Smerke, quarter back.

Against the Badgers the Boilermaker running attack was clicking at its best rate of the season, averaging exactly five yards a crack, while defensively the line limited George Paskvan, Badger full back, to only twelve yards in nine attempts at the center of the line.

Connie Mack Telegraphs Compliments to Courtney

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, yesterday complimented State's Attorney Thomas Courtney, Democratic candidate for reëlection, in a telegram. The telegram read: "As one good sports fan to another, I want to wish you every success in the coming election. During your terms as state's attorney you have always batted 1.000 per cent. Baseball and other American sports fans admire a fighter, and your successful battle against organized crime is one of which you may be justly proud. My acquaintance with the people of Chicago leads me confidently to predict an overwhelming victory for you."

Badgers While Away the Day; Illini Are Next

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28 [Special].—Wisconsin players who saw action in last Saturday's thrilling 14 to 13 victory over Purdue were given a rest by Coach Harry Stuhldreher today while the reserves engaged in a light scrimmage in preparation for the Badgers' homecoming game with Illinois Saturday.

Several players have minor injuries, but none is serious and the squad is expected to be at full strength for the Illini. Mark Hoskins, left half back, and Tommy Farris, quarter back, will be kept out of action for several days because of minor leg injuries, but will play Satuhday.

Altho the Badgers made their winning touchdown against Purdue when several reserves were in the game, Stuhldreher indicated he plans no changes in the starting lineup.

Johnny Tennant, who has been playing left half back and quarter back, was named by Stuhldreher as captain for the Illinois game. Tennant, a senior, threw the winning pass against Purdue.

ZUPPKE SEES BRIGHT SIDE.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 28 [Special].—Convinced that they had played to the top limit of their ability against a Notre Dame team which had too much superior speed and power, Bob Zuppke today ordered a full day of rest for the Illini football players. Despite the defeat Zuppke said the line showed improvement over the Michigan game a week before.

Tomorrow the Illini will begin preparations for their engagement Saturday against Wisconsin at Madison. The Illinois freshmen rehearsed Badger formations today. Illinois scouts reported that the Badgers will be more dangerous opponents than ever because they overcame their defeatist complex by beating Purdue.

Dick Good, sophomore who played most of the second half Saturday, probably will get a chance on the first team at left half. John MacArthur, sophomore from Elmhurst, may see action at center. MacArthur showed well in spring practice, but only recently regained eligibility.

BRUISES SLOW UP MARQUETTE IN DUQUESNE DRILL

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 28 [Special].—A squad checkup today disclosed no new serious injuries on the Marquette university football team, following Saturday's defeat by Texas Tech, but so many bumps and bruises were reported that Coach Paddy Driscoll may have to defer scrimmage until Wednesday.

The coaches today studied scouting reports on Duquesne which will be met in Pittsburgh Saturday.

King George's Horse Wins in Nottingham at 8 to 1

LONDON, Oct. 28.—King George's Merry Wanderer, an 8 to 1 shot, won the Bestwood nursery handicap at Nottingham today.

Hoosiers Start Drill for Game with Buckeyes

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 28 [Special].—Indiana's football team, having returned from Northwestern on the long end of the statistics but the short end of the score, settled down to work today for its Big Nine game against Ohio State in Columbus Saturday.

Coach Bo McMillin sent the Hoosiers thru a drill on blocking, general offensive maneuvers and forward pass defense work to combat the tricky Buckeyes. He pointed out defensive weaknesses in the Indiana back field, altho he was encouraged by the running attack which clicked impressively Saturday.

The Hoosiers are in good physical condition.

OHIOANS ARE BRUISED.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28 [Special].—Practically the entire Ohio State varsity football squad was excused from practice today to give the bruised and battered Buckeyes a chance to enjoy an extra day of rest.

Trainer Tucker P. Smith had an even dozen of the Ohio players in his quarters yesterday treating them for bruises received in the game with Cornell, which aggravated bumps suffered in the contest with Minnesota the previous week.

Don Scott and Frank Clair, quarter back and end, respectively, were most seriously injured. Both may be on the sidelines when practice for Indiana is resumed tomorrow.

FRANKLIN WINS TEN ROUND BOUT FROM THOMPSON

Capacity Crowd Sees Card at Marigold.

Lem Franklin, 1937 International Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, defeated Elza Thompson, also a Golden Gloves graduate, in a hard 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. A sellout crowd of 1,665 which paid $1,906.70 attended.

Jimmy Richie, 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, made his professional debut by knocking out Leonard Bostick of Indianapolis in the second round of a secondary feature.

Billy Gillespie, Stone Lake, Wis., heavyweight, pounded out a six round victory over Frank Greene.

The annual amateur athletic show for the benefit of St. Columbkille's church will be held in the church hall, Paulina street and Grand avenue, tonight. Eight boxing matches have been arranged by Johnny Karas, assistant to Thomas O'Connell, Catholic Youth organization fight director. Lou Talaber, former world middleweight wrestling champion, will present two mat contests. Karas is directing the show because O'Connell is in Mercy hospital recovering from a major operation performed last Friday.

Isaiah Wells, C. Y. O. middleweight champion, will meet Harry Stevens, Kenosha sectional Golden Gloves winner, in a three round bout heading the program: Other bouts:

Frank Bausone, 1938 C. Y. O., and Illinois Athletic club featherweight champion, vs. Al Reasoner, 1939 C. Y. O., novice lightweight title holder.

Anthony Bausone, 1939 C. Y. O. bantamweight champion, vs. Bob La Civita, 1938 C. Y. O. novice featherweight winner.

Lou Bobek, Chicago parks welterweight champion, vs. Bob Patterson, north side novice Golden Gloves victor.

Ray Murray vs. Salvador Melendez, 113 pounds.

Tony Amato vs. Bill Burrell, 147.

Promoter Irving Schoenwald yesterday closed three matches of eight rounds to feature next Monday's show in Marigold Gardens. George Morelli, Detroit lightweight, is paired with Johnny Pleasant; Henry Wacker, local heavyweight, with Orlando Trotter, and Tony Motisi, C. Y. O. welterweight, with Leonard Bennett.

"Cold is a Flavor Cheat
It disguises the true character of your beer"
—by RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

50° TASTE and COMPARE with The "50-DEGREES" TEST
So you'll get full enjoyment from the delicious flavor of beer

I SEE a lot of people drinking beer so cold they can't possibly taste its true flavor. They don't seem to know that beer is not like some drinks—the colder they are the better.

If you want to know how a beer really tastes, drink it like experts do—at 50 degrees. That's where true beer flavor shows up—good or bad. A lot of people already know this old brewer's secret of how to taste and compare beer flavor. And these are the people we make our beer to suit.

We could add sugars or syrups to the brew. But we'll never do it. We bottle with only natural draft beer carbonation created in the brew itself so Meister Bräu is naturally lively and sparkling, smooth and mellow.

Ask for Meister Bräu Draft Beer. Bars take special care to serve it at the proper temperature.

Do the "50-Degrees" Test. Then you'll get full enjoyment from beer flavor. And you'll find out why thousands prefer Meister Bräu.

Phone your retailer for Meister Bräu and compare it with any beer—regardless of price. I'll stake my reputation on your verdict.

HOW TO MAKE THE "50-DEGREES" TEST
Which has swung thousands to the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu

Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and one of any other beer at average refrigerator temperature. Let stand until it's the proper temperature. Then open and compare flavor. Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a ten-cent store.

START INFORMAL CONFERENCES ON FREIGHT INQUIRY

3 I. C. C. Members Meet Interested Parties.

A three member division of the Interstate Commerce commission, headed by Clyde B. Aitchison as division chairman, opened a series of informal conferences in the Morrison hotel yesterday with about 300 representatives of carriers, shippers, and others interested in the ICC's general investigation of freight class rates. Walter M. W. Splawn and J. Haden Alldredge are the other two commissioners attending.

Clyde B. Aitchison.

The commission last year ordered, on its own motion and not in connection with any complaint, a broad study of freight rates in all territory east of the Rocky mountains. That study will embrace freight classifications, both for railroads and motor trucks, and also railroad rates on class freight or merchandise of the more valuable type moved in less than carload lots.

Set Hearing Dates Later.

The purpose of the informal conferences is to get the view of interested parties as to the methods of procedure and the scope of the investigation. Dates for formal hearings will be decided later. No evidence is now being presented.

The principal question discussed at the first meeting was whether the commission should conduct a test of railroad and truck traffic. In such a test the carriers would keep track of every shipment they handled on certain days for a specified period and report to the commission. Hundreds of thousands of items would have to be recorded, entailing large expenses, according to some who opposed the plan at the conference.

Railroads Oppose Test.

According to one of the commissioners, railroads on the whole opposed the test, most truck line spokesmen present approved it, and shippers were divided. Western railroads were less pronounced in their opposition than eastern lines, the commissioner said.

In opening the meeting, Commissioner Aitchison said the ICC decided to make the investigation because the classification structure, having had no general overhauling in many years, has become a mass of exceptions and added or revised rules.

STANDARD OIL (CAL.).

I have an old report on the Standard Oil company of California in which it was stated that the company holds oil lands in the Bahrein Islands, Arabia, Java, Sumatra, and Mexico. The Mexican holdings have since been expropriated. Bahrein Island and Arabia are at the mercy of the dictators should Britain fail. Java and Sumatra are possessions of the fallen Netherlands and are in the path of Japan. In view of all this would you still give the stock a "good rating?"—R. A.

Answer: Standard Oil company of California and its subsidiaries hold almost 1,500,000 acres of proved and undeveloped oil lands in the United States, largely in California, and 3,715,000 acres in Canada, Colombia, Venezuela, and Mexico, held by wholly owned subsidiaries. The Mexican properties of 427,000 acres, were expropriated by the Mexican government in 1938.

Associated companies, owned jointly by Standard Oil of California and the Texas corporation, hold under contract more than 160,000,000 acres of oil lands in Saudi Arabia, Bahrein Island in the Persian gulf, Java, Sumatra, and Venezuela.

The distribution of the company's oil producing areas indicates that the bulk of its crude oil reserves are in the American continents. Properties controled jointly with the Texas corporation are not involved directly in the operations of Standard Oil of California and earnings from these and wholly owned foreign subsidiaries are not consolidated in the income account of the company and its domestic subsidiaries. Dividends from the affiliated companies whose earnings are not consolidated are listed as nonoperating income.

Based on domestic operations alone, the company has had a satisfactory earnings record. Per share earnings in the last six years ranged from $1.38 to $3.17.

Should the foreign properties fall into unfriendly hands, the company's oil reserves on the American continents are considered sufficient to maintain domestic operations. Income from these foreign properties is minor compared with domestic earnings. The capital stock, therefore, should be rated at present as fairly good grade but should be appraised constantly in the light of new developments.

HUSBAND EXCLUDED.

I am working as a stenographer and paying social security taxes. My husband has his own business. When I become 65 years old and am eligible for an old age benefit, will my husband, who is 2 years older than I, be able to obtain a supplementary benefit based on my wage credits—J. R.

Answer: No benefit would be paid to the husband.

Sales of Treasury Bills Are Made at Par or More

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 [Special].—The treasury tonight announced acceptance of tenders $100,907,000 of 91 day bills to mature Jan. 29, 1941. The total applied was $383,907,000. The accepted bills were tendered at par and slightly above par, as was the case last week.

SALE OF SECURITIES BY THE WHEELING AND LAKE ERIE RAILWAY COMPANY. NOTICE AND SPECIFICATIONS.

1. Pursuant to the regulations prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its order of October 6, 1919, as amended October 4, 1920, in its Docket Ex Parte No. 54, The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Company [thereinafter referred to as the "Company"], hereby requests bids, and hereby gives notice that it will receive bids, for the purchase of $1,550,000, aggregate principal amount of its Equipment Trust Certificates to be known as "Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Equipment Trust Certificates, Series G," having the following terms, provisions and security and to be issued, guaranteed and sold when, if and as approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission:

[a] The said Equipment Trust Certificates, Series G, now to be sold are to be issued under and secured by an Equipment Trust Agreement to be dated as of November 15, 1940, among Warren E. Hacket and Robert H. Jones, as Vendors, The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh as Trustee and the Company, whereunder the railroad equipment described in paragraph [b] hereof and a Lease thereof from The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh as Trustee to the Company, dated as of November 15, 1940, are to be held by said Trustee in trust for the equal benefit of the holders of said Certificates.

[b] The equipment which is to be procured, and for the acquisition of which the said Equipment Trust Certificates are to be issued, consists of seven [7] 2-8-4 type freight locomotives and five hundred [500] all steel box cars of 50-ton capacity. Said equipment is new, and will cost approximately $2,242,466, plus freight charges, if any, on the cars, not in excess of $18,425, and

[c] Said Equipment Trust Certificates, Series G, will be of the aggregate principal amount of $1,550,000, will be dated November 15, 1940, will mature serially in equal annual installments from November 15, 1941 to November 15, 1950, both inclusive, and will be guaranteed as to principal and dividends by the Company. These Certificates will bear dividend warrants at a rate per annum to be named by the successful bidder payable May 15 and November 15 in each year, and will be non-redeemable.

2. The Company invites bids in the form available upon application at the office of C. E. Bahl, Secretary and Assistant Treasurer of the Company, 1848 Union Commerce Building, Cleveland, Ohio, for the purchase of all of said Equipment Trust Certificates at a specified price plus accrued dividends from November 15, 1940, to the date of delivery, which bids should name a rate of dividend to be borne by all of the Certificates in multiples of one-eighth of one per cent per annum. No bid will be considered with a discount in excess of two per cent [2%] of par. The bids should state the average price in per cent of par offered for all maturities, at the dividend rate specified. Bids must be directed to C. E. Bahl, Secretary and Assistant Treasurer, The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Company, 1848 Union Commerce Building, Cleveland, Ohio, and must be received on or before twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, November 7, 1940.

3. Each bid shall be enclosed in a plain envelope securely sealed bearing no indication of the name of the bidder or the amount of the bid, addressed to C. E. Bahl, Secretary and Assistant Treasurer of the Company, and marked "Bid under proposed Contract Number One for Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Equipment Trust Certificates Series G." Each bid shall state the name and address of the bidder, and if the bidder be a corporation the names and addresses of the officers, directors and general manager thereof and of the purchasing officer or agent in this transaction, and if the bidder be a firm, partnership or association, the bid shall give the names and addresses of each member thereof and of the manager, purchasing officer, or agent in this transaction.

4. All bids are to be submitted subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission of the assumption by the Company of obligation and liability in respect of these Certificates. The Company reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Notice of acceptance of the most favorable bid, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will be mailed to the successful bidder within forty-eight [48] hours after closing of said bids.

5. The delivery of the Certificates and warrants and of the Agreement and Lease securing the same, and of the guaranty of this Company will be passed upon by Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, general counsel of this Company, and a copy of their opinion will be furnished to the successful bidder.

6. Delivery of the Equipment Trust Certificates in temporary or definitive form will be made against payment in full therefor by certified check in Pittsburgh Clearing House Funds to the order of The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Trustee, at its principal office in the City of Pittsburgh and State of Pennsylvania, on such date as the Company may designate on five [5] days' notice to the successful bidder, such date of payment to be as soon as practicable after the Interstate Commerce Commission shall have approved the assumption of obligation and liability by the Company in respect of such Certificates, not later, however, than thirty [30] days after such approval, and not earlier in any event than November 20, 1940. If the Interstate Commerce Commission shall not have given its approval as aforesaid on or before December 10, 1940, then the successful bidder may withdraw the bid by delivering written notice of withdrawal to the Company not later than December 17, 1940.

7. Copies of the proposed form of Lease and Equipment Trust Agreement are available upon application at the office of C. E. Bahl, Secretary and Assistant Treasurer of the Company, 1848 Union Commerce Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

PREDICT LARGE SALES OF AUTOS DESPITE DRAFT

Rely on Policies to Protect Buyers.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Automobile executives in the city to attend Chicago's 41st annual auto show at the International Amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets, said yesterday they expect the draft to have little immediate effect on sales. Finance companies are making arrangements, it is said, to soften the effect on the industry of the transfer of a large number of potential auto buyers into military life.

W. C. Stanlik.

William C. Stanlik, secretary of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, said the industry is making every effort to protect purchasers of both new and used cars who may be inducted into the armed forces.

Rental Basis Evolved.

"The most generally favored plan," he said, "is for the sale of cars to men subject to call on what is virtually a rental basis. Those who are called for service may turn back their cars and obtain an adjustment. The purpose is to remove the necessity for car buyers to make payments after they have entered the military service.

"As a result, we in the industry believe that there will be no buying hesitancy on the part of those who may be in the market for better cars than they now drive."

Attendance at the show, which will continue thru Sunday, suffered the usual falling off on the first Monday afternoon. It is estimated that 112,000 persons have passed thru the gates since the show opened at the International Amphitheater last Saturday afternoon.

Executives of virtually every major company were in the city yesterday or are expected today. They brought news that orders now on their books indicate that there will be no stoppage in production during the rest of the year.

Expect Gain in Business.

M. E. Coyle, general manager, and W. E. Holler, general sales manager, respectively, for Chevrolet told about 1,000 dealers at the Palmer House from all over the middle west that they expect an increase in business of from 10 to 15 per cent over the 1940 model year's volume when more than 950,000 cars and trucks were sold.

H. S. Doss, general sales manager for the Ford Motor company, told dealers at the Drake hotel that the Ford company expects to sell 1,000,000 Fords, 105,000 Mercurys and 35,000 Lincolns during the 1941 model year.

H. H. Curtice, president, and W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager, respectively, for Buick, said at a Palmer House meeting that Buick sales are now the highest in history, with unfilled orders totaling 21,610 cars.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of the General Motors corporation, and Charles E. Wilson, acting president, will be in Chicago today. Sloan will speak at a General Motors lunch at the Palmer House and both are to attend a reception at the Chicago club in the afternoon.

BRITISH TAKING TITLE TO 60 OF CANADA'S ISSUES

New York, Oct. 28 [Special].—Effective immediately, the British treasury is taking title to the holdings of British residents in 60 Canadian securities, London dispatches disclosed today.

The securities will be marketed in an orderly manner on Canadian stock exchanges under the direction of T. J. Carlyle Gifford, who has been in charge of disposing of American securities taken over by the British government. Proceeds of such sales will be used to help finance the war.

GREEK CURRENCY DROPPED FROM EXCHANGE LISTS

One more currency melted from foreign exchange market listings yesterday as Greece was drawn into the European conflict. Greek drachmas, which had been quoted at 68 cents in American funds, were not included in the day's transactions. Involvement of Greece in the war had little effect on other currencies, however. British free sterling advanced a cent to $4.04 and the Canadian dollar rose ⅝ of a cent to 87 cents.

SEC Postpones Middle West Service Hearing

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today postponed from Oct. 20 to Nov. 1 the hearing on the SEC's request that the Middle West Service company and the Middle West corporation cease duplicate payments to officers, directors or employés rendering services to both companies. Middle West Service company requested the postponement to allow counsel sufficient time to prepare evidence. The hearing order was issued Oct. 21.

EMPLOYMENT RISES TO HIGHEST LEVEL SINCE OCTOBER, 1929

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Total employment in the United States rose to 48,404,000 workers in September, highest since October, 1929, when there were 49,033,000 employed, the national industrial conference board said today.

The board added, however, the nation's labor force had increased more than 6,500,000 during the 11 year interval.

Unemployed workers declined to 6,829,000 in September from 7,698,000 in August, an 11 per cent drop, the board said. The sharp contraction brought the jobless to the lowest total since October, 1937, and represented a decline of 1,363,000 since September last year.

An increase of 307,000 persons employed in agriculture was much greater than normal, the board said. Manufacturing added 348,000 more workers and construction 68,000.

NEW INVESTORS SYNDICATE UNITS ARE ORGANIZED

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 28 [Special].—Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis has formed a new subsidiary, Investors Syndicate of America, Inc., a Minnesota corporation with capital of $1,000,000, to comply with the investment act of 1940 and has filed registration notice with the Securities and Exchange commission, Earl E. Crabb, president, said today.

The company also has organized a second affiliate, Investors Syndicate of Canada, incorporated in Manitoba, with capital of $250,000. The new companies will assume some of the parent corporation's operations, but present investors will not be affected by the changes, Crabb said.

Investors Syndicate of America was formed to meet nation-wide uniform standards governing most phases of the Investors Syndicate type of business, established by federal act, which supplement rather than supplant state regulations, Crabb said.

CHECK VOLUME DIPS, BUT HOLDS ABOVE YEAR AGO

Business done by check in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district during the week ended Oct. 23 declined 9.4 per cent from the preceding week, but was 21.5 per cent above the corresponding week last year, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Check volume thruout the country also decreased as compared with the preceding week and was above a year ago.

Debits to deposit accounts, as reported by 158 banks in 41 clearing house cities in the 7th district, totaled $1,365,796,000, against $1,507,368,000 the week before and $1,124,222,000 a year earlier. In the last 13 weeks 7th district debits amounted to $15,428,508,000, or 4.5 per cent above the same period in 1939.

Checks cashed in Chicago during the week totaled $799,374,000, compared with $630,512,000 a year ago.

Poll Indicates Milwaukee Road Plan to Be Appealed

A poll of the protective committee for the preferred stock holders of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad revealed that a majority of the members desired to appeal the reorganization plan for the road approved in federal court last week.

Stock Market Steadies After New War Jolt

New York, Oct, 28 (AP).—The stock market stumbled over foreign news today but steadied in the closing hour. After a downward drift during most of the session, moderate buying reduced or wiped out many early losses running to a point or more.

The early relapse was unaccompanied by any real selling and activity dwindled until the concluding period when there was a slight pick-up.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .2 of a point at 44.8. Transfers amounted to 470,640 shares compared with 518,660 last Friday.

Chilled by Greek War.

Market sentiment was chilled a bit, brokers said, by the extension of the European war to Greece.

Renewed nervousness over possible upsets in the Mediterranean, it was thought, tended to offset mild political cheer in Wall street as well as a continuance of favorable business developments. At the same time, earnings reports again stressed the inroads taxes are making in corporation profits.

An estimated jump in this week's steel mill operations to another new peak since the American Iron and Steel institute began publication of the figure aided steel shares. United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown sheet ended only slightly lower and Jones & Laughlin preferred held in advance of 4 points.

Dividend Action Aids.

Sears Roebuck responded to an extra dividend declaration with a gain of ¾ at 78¾.

Improvement was retained by American Telephone, Goodyear, National Acme, Texas corporation, Phelps Dodge, International Harvester, Woolworth, American Can and Air Reduction.

A stock exchange seat was sold today for $43,000. This was an increase of $3,000 over the last previous transaction, which took place on Sept. 26.

Lower on the curb were Electric Bond and Share, American Gas, Jones & Laughlin, Bell Aircraft and International Petroleum.

BIG YOUNGSTOWN SHEET REFUNDING ISSUE IS OFFERED

A $45,000,000 issue of first mortgage sinking fund 3¼ per cent series D bonds of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company is offered the public today by an 80 firm underwriting group headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Smith, Barney & Co.

The bonds are priced at 103 and are due Nov. 1, 1960. The company recently arranged a private sale to banks of $10,500,000 of one to seven year serial debentures. Funds from both sources will be applied toward redemption of the $55,500,000 of outstanding first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, series C.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. announced the offering of $550,000 of Polk county, Iowa, 2 per cent hospital bonds maturing Nov, 1, 1942-'60, at prices to yield 0.40 to 1.65 per cent. The company was awarded the issue at a competitive sale yesterday.

Yellow Truck Awarded $717,988 Army Contract

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 [Special].—The war department today announced the award of $5,433,702 of contracts, the largest of which was one let to Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company, Pontiac, Mich., for $717,988 of trucks.

BUILDING FOR DEFENSE MAY BRING 10 PER CENT GAIN IN CONSTRUCTION

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—Continued gains in defense building operations are likely to boost construction awards for 1940 to a figure 7 to 10 per cent higher than in 1939, the F. W. Dodge corporation said today.

Barring a rapid rise in building costs, the company also forecast construction activities would hold at a fast pace in 1941.

"In addition to continued defense construction projects in 1941," said Thomas S. Holden, vice president in charge of statistics and research, "increased industrial activity and employment are likely to stimulate increased demand for private building."

In the first nine months of 1940, total construction volume was the largest since 1931 and residential building activity the largest since 1929. The dollar volume of construction contracts awarded in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains amounted to $2,784,352,000, a gain of 5½ per cent over the corresponding period of 1939.

'MODERATE' RISE IN 1941 FOOD COSTS FORECAST

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—Consumers were advised by the department of agriculture today to expect a "moderate" increase in food costs during 1941. Products most likely to increase, it said, are meats, dairy and poultry, some fruits and vegetables. The department said factors operating to boost prices include improved consumer demand as a result of the defence spending program; prospect for increased government purchases of food and clothing for t[illegible] armed forces; and indications tha[illegible]rop production may be smaller [illegible]940.

The military tr[illegible]ogram was seen as price stimulating inasmuch as the per capita consumption of food in the armed forces was said to be about 40 per cent more than in civilian life.

The department predicted that prices of those farm commodities largely dependent on world markets—such as cotton, wheat, tobacco, rice, some fats and oils—probably would not be very different in 1941 from 1940, because the war had closed important European markets.

COUNTY APPEALS STANDARD GAS TAX INJUNCTION

Notice of appeal to the Illinois Supreme court of the tax suit against the Standard Gas and Electric company was filed yesterday on behalf of John Toman, county treasurer and ex officio county collector, by Jacob Shamberg, assistant state's attorney.

Judge John J. Lupe of the Superior court on July 28 ordered a permanent injunction restraining the Cook county treasurer from collection of $618,565 in 1938 personal property taxes on the company's securities. The appeal asks the Supreme court to set aside this injunction.

Judge Lupe based his ruling on a recent Illinois Supreme court decision that the intangibles or securities of nonresident corporations are not taxable in this state provided the corporations have been assessed on any tangible property owned within the state. Standard Gas had paid its taxes in full on its office and store furniture, money, cash, and bank deposits, but protested the tax on its intangibles.

BIG COMPANIES REPORT MIXED PROFIT TRENDS

Commercial Credit Earnings Dip.

Mixed trends in earnings were disclosed yesterday in interim reports issued by several large corporations, including Commercial Credit company, American Airlines, Inc., Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Crosley corporation, and Diamond T Motor Car company.

Commercial Credit, which has its headquarters in Baltimore, Md., announced that third quarter profit, after provision for increased federal income taxes, declined moderately. Net income was $1,973,351, equal after deduction of $129,559 for preferred dividends, to $1 a common share, compared with $1,993,771, equal to $1.01 a common share, in the third quarter of 1939.

Profit for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $5,918,965, or $3 a common share, compared with $5,757,386, or $2.91 a share in the 1939 period.

Will Pay No Excess Profit Tax.

The management said it believed that Commercial Credit's exemptions under the excess profit tax law will be sufficient to relieve the company of all such taxes, and that no reserve for an excess profit levy was set aside.

American Airlines' nine month profit climbed to $1,556,849 after federal income taxes, against $964,283 in the first nine months of 1939, C. R. Smith, president, reported. He said the number of revenue passengers carried increased to 631,700, from 376,506. Net income for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $669,444, or $1.85 a share, compared with $561,186, or $1.87 each on a smaller number of shares outstanding a year earlier.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's earnings and orders have shown a large increase, A. W. Robertson, chairman, announced.

Unfilled Orders Increase.

Profit in the nine months ended with September was $14,583,328, equal to $5.46 a share on the combined 7 per cent preferred and common shares, against $9,069,810, or $3.39 a share, in the 1939 period. Orders booked totaled $261,535,733, against $153,976,777. Unfilled orders were $141,665,857 on Sept. 30, against $58,337,790 a year earlier.

Crosley corporation, maker of radios, refrigerators and small automobiles, reported nine month net loss of $509,910. In the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1939, it had a profit of $158,376, equal to 29 cents a share.

Diamond T Motor Car company, Chicago truck manufacturer, reported a decline in September quarter profit to $35,477, compared with $54,919 in the corresponding 1939 period. The statement said the company has $19,000,000 of unfilled national defense contracts on hand.

American Rolling Mill company reported consolidated net earnings of $1,804,511 for the quarter ended Sept. 30 or 45 cents a common share, Charles R. Hook, president of the company, announced.

Sears Will Pay Extra $1.25; Stewart Warner Votes 25 Cts.

Directors of Sears, Roebuck & Co., meeting at Memphis, Tenn., yesterday, declared an extra dividend of $1.25 a share. At the same time the regular quarterly dividened of 75 cents a share was voted. The payments will bring the dividend disbursements for the year to $4.25 a share, equal to the payments of last year. The company has executive offices in Chicago.

Stewart-Warner corporation, with offices in Chicago, declared an interim dividend of 25 cents a share. The company, manufacturers of radios, automobile accessories, and other products, last paid the same amount on July 1.

Westinghouse Votes $1.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Pittsburgh, Pa., declared dividends of $1 each on common stock and on 7 per cent preferred stock. Similar amounts were paid Aug. 30. This will bring payments on each of the two classes of stock of $3.75 thus far this year, compared with $3.50 for all of 1939.

The Manhattan Shirt company, with offices in New York City, declared an extra dividend of 20 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, making a total for this year of $1.20 a share, against $1.10 last year.

The Cooper-Bessemer corporation, manufacturers of gas and diesel engines, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents on $3 preferred stock, and an additional 75 cents to clear arrears on the issue.

4 CLOSED STATE BANKS IN COUNTY PAY OUT $92,225

Checks totaling $92,225 were mailed yesterday to approximately 11,000 depositors in four closed state banks in Cook county, Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, announced. The largest distribution was by the Des Plaines State bank. A five per cent repayment, amounting to $51,211, was sent to some 5,000 depositors, bringing the total paid to 60 per cent.

The Arlington Heights State bank disbursed $17,463, equal to six per cent, to 2,000 depositors, making the amount paid thus far 35 per cent. The Peoples State Bank of Arlington Heights paid $10,173, or 5 per cent, to 2,000 depositors, raising the total paid to 45 per cent. The State Bank of Palatine paid 10 per cent to 2,000 depositors, amounting to $13,376. This brought the total paid to 47 per cent.

For the four banks, $269,736 was paid general creditors and $146,979 to preferred creditors.

DU PONT ANNOUNCES GENERAL REDUCTION IN ALL NYLON PRICES

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—A general price reduction on all Nylon yarns, the synthetic textile commercially introduced in January, was announced today by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

The price changes were "made in accordance with the desire to reduce prices on products as volume increases and manufacturing improvements are achieved," the company stated.

Reductions on hosiery yarns ranged from 17 to 32 cents a pound, according to weight, and brought the price level to $3-$3.95 a pound.

FEDERAL DEBT TOPS 44 BILLIONS FOR NEW RECORD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The treasury reported today that the government had spent $3,033,876,510 from July 1 to Oct. 25, increasing the federal debt to a new high of $44,099,309,410.

Income for the period totaled $1,768,317,430, leaving a deficit of $1,265,559,080. The deficit in the corresponding period last year was $1,392,763,018.

WARD PETITION ON WAGE-HOUR ORDER REFUSED

High Court Upholds Right to Records.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The Supreme court took action today that was interpreted by the federal wage-hour administrator as requiring all employers to produce pay roll records upon the demand of the federal agency.

Francis Biddle argues against Montgomery Ward claim.

The court refused to review a decision by the Federal Circuit court at Chicago which held that records may be requisitioned even tho there is no reasonable cause to believe that the wage-hour act is being violated.

Commenting on the decision, Col. Philip B. Fleming, the wage-hour administrator, asserted there could now be "no excuse for any employer's refusing access" to such data.

Challenges Right to Records.

Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago mail order house, had challenged the administrator's right to examine records concerning 2,000 employes at its Kansas City, Mo., plant. The company contended the administrator was attempting an unreasonable "search and seizure" prohibited by the constitution.

Attorneys said denial of a review did not necessarily reflect the tribunal's views on the merits of the controversy.

Technically, the Circuit court opinion applies only to the states embraced in the seventh judicial district—Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. It was said, however, that the decision served as a precedent for the other circuits. Should another court deliver a contrary ruling, the Supreme court then might prepare a formal opinion.

Protection Removed.

In seeking a Supreme court review, counsel for Montgomery Ward asserted that, if the Circuit court decision was correct, "the protection of the fourth amendment [prohibiting unreasonable search and seizure] is removed from all records of all individuals and corporations conducting businesses which affect interstate commerce."

"Such a rule," company lawyers as-

WHEAT FUTURES HALT DOWNTURN WITH GOOD RALLY

Liquidation and profit taking in wheat futures apparently ran its course at the opening yesterday. Prices declined about ½ cent, but the market received strong support from commission houses. Buying by shorts then developed a rally of 1¼ cents from the low point. Net gains at the close on the Chicago Board of Trade were ⅜ to ¾ cent a bushel.

Professional traders were inclined to act with extreme caution as the result of the extension of the war into southeastern Europe. It is feared that Greece may be forced to cancel recent purchases of 7,500,000 bushels of wheat from Russia and Australia.

Corn prices declined early, but rallied with wheat and closed unchanged. Oats finished ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher and rye was ¼ to ¾ cent higher. Soy beans were under pressure of hedging and profit taking sales and closed 1⅝ to 1¾ cents lower.

CASH WOOL TOPS SOAR 6 CENTS TO $1.35 PER POUND

Exceed 1939 War Peak; Other Staples Mixed.

Wool tops climbed 6 cents a pound in the cash market yesterday to a level above the peak set in September, 1939, as commodity futures markets moved irregularly under disturbing factors partly induced by the spread of the war to Greece. Wool top futures, domestic sugar and cocoa showed small gains, and copper, rubber, and Santos coffee lost ground. Hides, silk, world sugar, and cottonseed oil were mixed.

The wool tops cash quotation rose from $1.29 to $1.35 a pound, or 4 cents higher than the 1939 peak reached following the outbreak of the war.

Copper Futures Ease.

Copper futures declined 0.03 to 0.09 cent a pound in a slow market. December deliveries finished at 11.05 to 11.15 cents.

Zinc futures were unchanged and there were no sales in lead and tin. Cash metal prices were firm.

Hide futures were 0.1 cent a pound higher to 0.02 cent lower, with December at 12.56 cents. The cash market held at 15 cents. Rubber futures were unchanged to 0.06 cent a pound lower.

LAND ACQUIRED FOR NORTH SIDE HOUSING PROJECT

CHA Buys 3 Cambridge Avenue Lots.

BY AL CHASE.

The Chicago Housing authority yesterday bought and paid for the first parcels of real estate needed for its near north side housing project. In the 18 acre area bounded by Oak street, the alley east of Larrabee street, the alley north of Chicago avenue, and Hudson avenue, 222 separate parcels of real estate are to be acquired. Options have been accepted on 111 parcels. Options on a few more are being closed and condemnation proceedings are under way to obtain the other parcels, about 40 per cent of the total.

Buy Cambridge Lots.

The CHA yesterday bought a vacant lot, 25 by 126 feet, at 910 Cambridge avenue, owned by Anthony Ceriale of 154 East Pearson street, and two lots, 40 by 70, at 831 Cambridge avenue, owned by Miss Della S. Bond of 540 Dickens avenue.

About five weeks will be required to complete the purchase of the needed land, attorneys said. Three deals are scheduled to be closed today and others are expected to be closed at the rate of three to five daily.

Members of D'Ancona, Pflaum & Kohlsaat, law firm representing the CHA, in whose offices yesterday's purchases were concluded, said it will be the policy of the CHA not to disclose prices paid for land needed.

Project Scaled Down.

The CHA north side project will have 600 row houses instead of 920 as originally planned. The original planned cost of $8,577,000 has been scaled down to an authorized expenditure of $3,000,000 for land and buildings.

The project was temporarily abandoned last May when it was found that property owners were asking prices which the CHA considered too high.

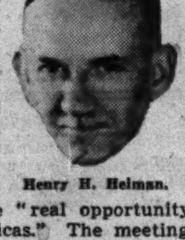
People and Events



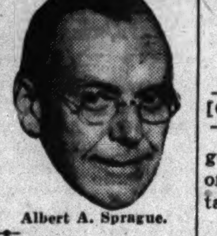
Henry H. Helman.

Henry H. Helman, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, last night told Chicago members of the organization that business men should feel optimistic about this country's future in world trade. Outlining ten principles of foreign trade, he asserted that the "real opportunity lies in the Americas." The meeting was held in the Union League club.

John J. Pelley.

Coöperation of the 13 regional shippers advisory boards with the railroads in speeding America's rearmament program will be discussed at the fourth annual convention of the National Association of Advisory Boards at the Palmer House tomorrow and Thursday. John J. Pelley, Washington, D. C., president of the Association of American Railroads, and Charles H. Buford, vice president, will be the principal speakers at the meeting.

Joseph Z. Burgee, in charge of construction and contracts with the Chicago architectural firm of Holabird & Root, was appointed special advisor to the construction advisory commission of the Council of National Defense. This commission is headed by W. H. Harrison, former vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company.



Albert A. Sprague.

Col. Albert A. Sprague has returned to the board of directors of Sprague, Warner & Co., manufacturer, importer and distributor of foods. Col. Sprague, one of the largest stockholders of the company, served as chairman from 1919 thru 1923.

The annual meeting of the Insurance Brokers Association of Illinois, scheduled for today, has been postponed until Thursday afternoon in respect to the memory of Jay S. Glidden, general manager of the Chicago Board of Underwriters.

Charles A. Tattersall, associated with Niagara Hudson Power corporation and predecessor companies for 32 years, was elected a vice president, Alfred H. Schoellkopf, president, announced. Tattersall will continue as secretary.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS LOANS BY RESERVE SYSTEM BANKS RISES

Reflecting the current quickening of activity in many lines of business, the volume of commercial loans by reserve system member banks was $24,000,000 larger last Wednesday than a week earlier, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

Member banks in 101 cities reported a total of $4,746,000,000 of commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans outstanding, compared with $4,722,000,000 a week earlier. The increase as compared with the corresponding 1939 date was $454,000,000.

Following are the principal assets and liabilities of member banks of the Federal Reserve System in 101 leading cities as at the close of business Wednesday [last six ciphers omitted]:

SENATE GROUP BRANDS '31 RAIL DEAL 'WASTEFUL'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28 (AP).—The senate railroad finance committee asserted today that a 1931 purchase of more than $3,000,000 of Kansas City Southern railway stock by the Chicago Great Western constituted a "wasteful speculation by a railroad already on the brink of bankruptcy."

"Legislation is urgently needed," the committee said in one of a series of reports, "to end such wastes of railroad money in outside stock adventures."

TREND IS LOWER IN BONDS; SOME ISSUES ADVANCE

New York, Oct. 28 (AP).—While the trend was generally lower in today's bond market, losses were mostly small and numerous firm spots were in evidence at the close. Rails offered less resistance to selling than other groups.

There was some shifting of maturities in the government list as dealers prepared for an expected offering from the treasury later this fall. Closing prices were mixed, up 14-32ds of a point to down 5-32ds.

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED IN TRADE OF 19,000 SHARES

Prices were uneven on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, 33 issues closing higher, 34 lower, and 36 unchanged by comparison with Saturday's levels. Turnover approximated 19,000 shares.

Chicago corporation, the volume leader, closed unchanged. Commonwealth Edison was ¼ point lower.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES WARD'S WAGE-HOUR PLEA

Decision to Turn Over Records Must Stand.

gued, "would practically nullify one of the most important safeguards established by the bill of rights."

Solicitor General Francis Biddle replied for the government that the wage-hour law was "plainly intended to permit the administrator to make routine inspections of an employer's wage and hour records, irrespective of prior information as to specific violations."

Montgomery Ward's argument, he said, is that "each employer can determine in advance which of his employés are subject to the act and give the administrator information only as to such employés."

"But if the act is to be effectively enforced" the solicitor general continued, "the administrator must have the power to make his own investigations."

Wage-hour legislation fixes the minimum pay and maximum work week for employés. Litigation intended to test the law's constitutionality is pending before the court and will be argued in a few weeks.

Grant Indianapolis Review.

The city of Indianapolis was granted a Supreme court review of a decision requiring the municipality to assume financial responsibility for the obligations of the old Indianapolis Gas company.

The city appealed from the 7th federal Circuit court, which held that Indianapolis must pay a 6 per cent return on $2,000,000 of capital stock, interest on mortgage bonds, and other expenses. The city estimated the total cost at $45,000,000 for the remaining 77 years of the life of a lease.

The Indianapolis Gas company was succeeded by the Citizens Gas company, organized under an ordinance which provided that the city could take it over at any time. In 1913, the two firms consolidated. Citizens Gas leased the other company's properties for 99 years. Indianapolis in 1929 sought to take over the consolidated utility, but litigation delayed the action six years. The long lease provided that Citizens Gas would guarantee the financial obligations of Indianapolis Gas. Then, when the city took over, it sought to cancel the lease on the ground that Citizens Gas was without power to make such a lease.

The current litigation arose when the Chase National bank of New York, trustee under the mortgage bonds, brought civil suit to compel the city to pay off on the older firm's lease obligations.

Labor Board Loses.

The National Labor Relations board failed in an effort to take to the Supreme court the question of its right to order disestablishment of a union as a collective bargaining agency without first granting the union a hearing. The court refused to review a controversy between the board and the San Francisco federal Circuit court in which this point was involved. This was the situation:

The board ordered disestablishment of a union of employés of Sterling Electric Motors, Inc., Los Angeles.

The Circuit court ruled that the union was entitled to notice and a hearing before the board could dissolve it.

The board appealed this decision to the Supreme court and gave notice that it would defer action on fraud charges against the Sterling company until the high court acted.

Judges William Denman and Clifton Mathews thereupon set aside the Circuit court's decision, leaving nothing for the Supreme court to review.

The board then asked the Supreme court to compel the judges to restore their previous decision—so that the board could appeal and get a ruling on the original union issue. The high court refused.

LOANS—PERSONAL AND BUSINESS.

Personal Property and Salary.

Personal Loans
On Your Own Signature
Here salaried men and women [single or married] can get $25 to $250 or more entirely on earning capacity and personal responsibility. We prefer to make these loans the way most people like—without security—without endorsers.
NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.
Simply do this:
1. Make application. [Can be in person or by phone.]
2. Come in, sign and get the cash.

Pick Your Own Payments.
Take a year or more to repay. You know best how much you can afford each month—you name the payment which best fits your income.

PRIVACY
We keep the entire transaction strictly between us. Your employer, friends, or relatives are not notified.

SIMPLE TO GET.
Our loans are made on the simple basis of your ability to make small regular payments, and if you can, you should not hesitate to see us for a loan at once. Come in or telephone.
